Postmaster General Gives Senate His Reasons for Cancelling Contracts

WASHINGTON, Feb.. 15.—(UP) Col. L. H. Brittin, elderly vice president of the Northwest Airways, entered the District of Columbia jail at noon today to begin serving the 10-day sentence imposed upon him by the senate for contempt of its airmail investigation committee.

Brittin, anxious to get the sentence over and refusing to carry his case to the courts, was taken to the district jail by senate sergeant-at-arms, Chesley Jurney.

The gray-haired aviation official, appearing gaunt but carrying himself erect, stepped out of Jurney's limousine, walked quickly through the iron barred gates of the old red-stone jail and was taken downstairs to the receiving room.

Enroute to the jail Jurney released William P. MacCracken jr., secretary of the American Bar association and aviation lawyer who also was sentenced by the senate to 10 days in jail. MacCracken was released on $5,000 bond and his case immediately was carried to the District of Columbia court of appeals.

Chairman Black of the senate airmail investigating committee inserted in the Congresional Record a detailed letter from Postmaster General Farley explaining why airmail contracts were annulled and the job of flying the mail turned over to the army.

Collusion Charged

Farley charged all the present domestic air mail carriers secured contracts based on conspiracy or collusion, except possibly the National Parks Airways. Farley alleged excess payments totalling $46,-800,000.

Chairman Mead of the house postoffice committee arranged the hearings to permit officials of the affected air lines, and possibly Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, to tell their side of the story. Mead's committee is considering the administration's emergency bill to legalize army operation of the airmail system, and authorizing temporary contracts with independent operators without competitive bidding.

LIEUTENANT FREED ON ATTACK CHARGE

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 15.—(UP)—Life resumed its normal pace at Fort Sam Houston today after a federal court jury acquitted Lieut. John N. Murrel, former West Point football star, of a charge that he criminally attacked Miss Blanche Ralls, Birmingham, Ala., divorcee.

The jury, which could have sent the infantry officer to death on the gallows or to prison for a long term, deliberated only 45 minutes before announcing the verdict.

The verdict was applauded by the crowd, causing Judge R. J. McMillan to threaten some spectators with contempt citations.

SEVEN POWER ARMS CONCLAVE PROPOSED BY GREAT BRITAIN

TRAYLOR DIES DURING NIGHT OF PNEUMONIA

Long Battle Ends for Banker Following His Seventh Relapse

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—(UP)—Melvin A. Traylor, who rose from a backwoods log cabin boyhood to international prominence as president of the First National Bank of Chicago, died last night after a month-long fight against a rare and deadly type of pneumonia.

Traylor succumbed to the seventh relapse in the course of the disease. Physicians said his strong constitution developed in his youth on a farm enabled him to make an almost miraculous fight against the disease which usually kills its victims in two or three days. He was 55 years old.

Besides the three physicians who sought to aid the banker's gallant fight, his wife, Dorothy, who gave blood for transfusion, a son, Melvin jr., and a daughter, Nancy, were present at the bedside.

The death ended a career that carried Traylor to mention as a Democratic candidate for the presidency in 1932. A strong movement for his nomination was stopped by his public statements declining his friends' support.

Bank Organizer

In 1929, he was one of two American bankers who met with European financiers to organize the Bank of International Settlements. Traylor was credited with producing the formula through which the United States Federal Reserve bank was able to participate in the international institution.

Traylor was born in a Kentucky hillside log cabin, the oldest of the seven children of James and Kitty Harvey Traylor of Breeding, Kentucky. His grandparents came to Kentucky from Virginia, following the pioneer Daniel Boone.

Six years in a country public school made up his elementary education. He clerked in a village store, attended a county seat high school and taught school.

Bryan Supporter

During the presidential campaign of 1896, he campaigned for William Jennings Bryan. His ability as an orator and debator took him into the field of law. He moved to Hillsboro, Tex., on his 21st birthday where he read law in an attorney's office and served as a night clerk in a hotel.

His first elective office was that of city clerk in Hillsboro. He was admitted to the bar in 1901. Then he turned to banking.

After two months with the Citizens National bank of Hillsboro, he was sent to Malone, Tex., to reorganize a failing bank. In two years the bank was a paying concern. He was made president of the First National Bank of Ballinger, Tex., at the age of 30.

Appointments to the vice presidency of the Stockyards National Bank of East St. Louis, Ill., came in 1911. Three years later he came to Chicago as vice president of the Livestock National Bank at the Chicago stockyards. In 1919 he became a director of the First National bank and its president in 1925. He was president of the American Bankers Association in 1927 and president of the United States Golf association in 1928. He was a director in 12 corporations at the time of his death.

PARIS, Feb. 15.—(UP) — Premier Gaston Doumergue's national union cabinet drafted a ministerial declaration today appealing to parliament for a political truce to allow France to solve her internal and external problems.

The declaration, which constitutes the first announcement of the government's policy, refers to the [illegible]age of the budget as the "most urgent domestic problem" and as necessary to "safeguard the solidity of our money."

VANDEGRIFT IN PROPOSAL FOR LESS COUNTIES

Suggests Fifteen Districts in State as Move for Aiding Taxpayers

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 15.—(UP)—An estimated annual saving of $25,000,000 to $50,-000,000 for California taxpayers would be accomplished through eliminating present county boundaries and establishing 15 larger governmental districts, Finance Director Rolland Vandegrift claimed today as he revealed further details of his latest proposal for solving the state's pressing tax problem.

Under the plan, which he intends calling to the attention of the next legislature, Vandegrift said membership of the state senate would be reduced from 40 to 30 and the assembly from 80 to 60, in addition to the wholesale elimination of present county officials.

The districts outlined in the plan would be as follows:

San Diego area—San Diego, Imperial, part of Riverside and possibly part of Orange county.

Los Angeles area—Metropolitan Los Angeles and tributary back country and possibly part of Orange county.

San Bernardino area—Contiguous country, largely in San Bernardino and parts of Inyo and Riverside counties.

South Coastal area—Center at San Luis Obispo or Santa Barbara and including those two and Ventura counties.

Central coastal area—Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Benito counties, centering in Salinas or Monterey.

South San Joaquin valley area—Bakersfield as a probable center; would include part of Los Angeles county north of the crest of the Tehachapi, Kern and possibly

SMELTING FIRM IS SAID TO BE TRUST

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(UP)—The federal trade commission today issued a formal complaint charging the American Smelting and Refining Co., New York, one of the world's largest non-ferrous smelting enterprises with violation of the Clayton Act, which forbids acquisition of capital stock in a competing concern.

The commission charges that the company acquired the capital stock of Federated Metals Corp., New York, said to be a competing concern through a reorganization agreement Sept. 30, 1932, between the two companies. Under the agreement, according to the commission, a new company bearing the name of Federated Metals corporation, of Delaware, was formed.

PRELIMINARY HEARING FOR CATALDI OPENS

Prosecution in San Jose Lynchings Started as Witnesses Heard

SAN JOSE, Cal., Feb. 15.—(UP)—The preliminary hearing of Anthony Cataldi, 18, charged with participation in the lynchings of Jack Holmes and Thomas Thurmond last November, started today with testimony that members of the mob were armed with dynamite when the Santa Clara county jail was stormed.

The witness was Deputy Sheriff Howard Buffington, who served as jailer to the two accused kidnapers and slayers of Brooke Hart, wealthy young San Jose business man. Authorities at the hearing said Buffington's disclosure was the first mention of dynamite in the hands of the mob.

"I saw one man in the crowd that reached the second floor of the jail, who had two sticks of dynamite in his hand," said Buffington. "The fuses were about two feet long."

Previously the deputy had given a graphic description of the forming of the mob, the growing anger of members and the final storming of the jail—with huge pipes used as battering rams to shatter a huge iron door.

Cataldi, a slight, dark-complexioned farm youth, was present, dressed in a blue suit. He sat quietly by his attorney R. V. Bressan as the hearing was called to order by Justice of the Peace Chester Moore.

The case had been postponed several times since a complaint charged Cataldi with participation in the dual-hanging in St. James park. Meanwhile, the grand jury met and did not indict Cataldi.

Deputy District Attorney Gerbert Bridges presented the state evidence against the youth.

LOVE CULT TEMPLE ORDERED DISBANDED

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—(UP)—A "love cult temple" which lured a San Francisco woman away from her husband and united her in a "spiritual wedding" to another man, was ordered disbanded today in the wake of a police investigation.

The "temple" in which Mrs. Muriel Wallace found sanctuary for her strange mystic beliefs, was found to have been operating under a city permit as the Helping Hand Rescue mission. The permit listed the operators as a charity group. Authorities ordered the permit revoked.

Meanwhile, William M. Wallace, civil engineer, prepared to return to San Francisco with his four children who accompanied his wife here last month when she was attracted by an evangelist to embrace the cult's teachings of "spiritual love."

DEMOBILIZATION OF CWA STARTED TODAY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(UP)—Demobilization of the huge army of persons employed under the civil works program was started today with the dismissal of approximately 150,000 workers.

Enough money has been voted by congress to continue the CWA to May 1. Federal Civil Works Administrator Hopkins worked on details of a demobilization plan designed to completely disband the organization by that time.

Workers ordered dismissed immediately are those who have been employed on civil works projects undertaken by federal agencies such as the war, navy, interior, agriculture, and commerce departments. An order by Hopkins directs that 50 per cent of such workers, numbering 291,408, be discharged as of February 15.

Only Europe To Be Asked To Take Part

United States and Nations Outside Europe Will Be Asked to Approve

(Copyright, 1934, by United Press)

LONDON, Feb. 15.—(UP)—A seven power arms conference to rescue Europe from the impasse into which disarmament negotiations have fallen was projected by Great Britain today.

Anthony Eden, lord privy seal, will leave on an important mission to Paris, Berlin and Rome tomorrow, reportedly carrying in his pocket the scheme for a seven-power conference on a European armanent convention which the United States and other non-European nations will be asked to approve.

This development coincided with the stirring events in Austria, which were regarded as making even more imperative some forms of arms agreement.

The cabinet's disarmament committee met today and was understood to have discussed a project for Eden to sound out Premier Gaston Doumergue, Premier Benito Mussolini and Chancellor Adolf Hitler on the proposal to hold a conference of Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Belgium.

The Franco-German discussion of arms accord, which has become deadlocked, shows no signs of real compromise on either side.

Britain therefore intends to attempt a European accord before the April 10 meeting of the steering committee of the world arms conference in Geneva. The steering committee then could convoke a general session of the conference, with the European agreement as a basis on which to work.

It was believed the United States had informally assured Britain of its readiness to co-operate if a European arms convention is completetd.

FIND GUARD KILLED BY PRISON INMATE

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Feb. 15.—(UP)—Overcrowded conditions at Washington state penitentiary here were held responsible today for the attempted wholesale jailbreak in which nine men lost their lives.

Warden J. M. McCauley said that the crowded condition of the prison court and chapel prevented proper segregation of the prisoners.

The warden believed that 12 convicts were ringleaders of the escape attempt and that between 30 and 36 others were implicated.

An autopsy performed on the body of H. L. Briggs, only guard killed in the disturbance, proved that he was slashed to death by convicts and not fatally wounded by gunfire as had been reported. Murder charges may be brought against several convicts as the result of the autopsy findings, it was intimated.

YOUTH LOSES LIFE ON YACHT IN STORM

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(UP)—Hubert Kuecsenmeister, a member of the exploration party aboard the disabled yacht Uvira, was washed overboard and lost when the vessel was caught in a storm off the Delaware breakwater. His home was in Chicago.

The distressed yacht, with a group of amateur explorers bound to Central America on an adventure trip, was towed into Hampton Roads today after its rescue from heavy seas.

Among the 36 passengers aboard the ill-fated vessel was Howard Kresge, son of the Detroit chain store owner, Norman Morse of Evanston, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Jackson K. Dering of Chicago, owners of the vessel and sponsors of the six-month voyage of exploration into southern seas.

NOTICE SERVED RAILROAD MEN OF WAGE CUTS

Fifteen Percent Reduction to Become Effective on First of July

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—(UP)—The principal railroads of the nation today served notice on their employes that they will put into effect a 15 per cent wage cut effective July 1, 1934.

The wage cut would be in effect for one year "and thereafter subject to the provisions of the railway labor act." It was stipulated that the reduction would supersede the present deduction of 10 per cent which has been in effect for more than a year and which expires on June 30 of this year.

The notice to railway labor executives was dispatched by the conference committee of managers which previously represented the railways in wage negotiations. Today's notice was in accordance with a paragraph of the previous agreement which stipulated that neither the railroad managements nor the labor unions would seek to modify the 10 per cent cut until Feb. 15, 1934.

It appeared that negotiations would precede any final action in the matter, as the conference committee of managers declared that it would open an initial negotiations conference in Chicago on March 1.

The text of the notice read:

"The memorandum of agreement dated June 21, 1933, between the conference committee of managers and the railway labor executives provided in part as follows:

". . . No party prior to February 15, 1934, will serve notice of a desire to change or extend this extended agreement, or of an intended change in basic rates of pay, such change or extension to become effective on or after July 1, 1934; it being further agreed that in event that such a notice should be served by any party hereto between February 15, 1934 and July 1, 1934, the proceedings thereunder shall be conducted pursuant to the provisions of the railway labor act, and such proceedings shall be conducted nationally in order that the matter may be handled to a conclusion as expeditiously as reasonably possible.'

"Pursuant to said memorandum of agreement and in accordance with the provisions of the railway labor act and the existing agreement with the employes represented by your organization, we hereby give notice of our intention to reduce on and after July 1, 1934,

ROCKEFELLER OFF FOR FLORIDA HOME

Rockefeller recently had been ill and had not been able to make his annual trip south as scheduled.

The 94-year-old oil magnate, accompanied by his son, John D., jr., boarded a special train at Phillipse Manor station of the New York Central railroad at North Tarrytown. He was in good spirits as he said farewell at the station.

The train pulled out of the station at 11:15 a. m. with the younger Rockefeller still aboard. It was not announced whether he would accompany his father south.

4000 PEA PICKERS GO OUT ON STRIKE

CALIPATRIA, Cal., Feb. 15.—(UP)—Nearly 4000 pea pickers were on strike in this district today following refusal of growers to grant the men a 50 per cent increase in wages.

The workers had demanded their wages be raised from one cent a pound to 1 1/2 cents. Their walkout brought harvesting of more than 4000 acres of peas to a virtual standstill.

Although there had been do disorders, E. Ray Cato, chief of the state highway patrol, sent 12 motorcycle officers into the area to keep the roads open. The men were sent from Los Angeles, San Diego and Orange counties.

Revenue Chiefs Say Ole Hanson Not Tax Evader

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—(UP)—Internal revenue officials explained here today that the government's claim for additional income taxes against Ole Hanson, former mayor of Seattle and founder of the town of San Clemente, involved no thought of criminal intent or evasion.

Liens claiming $58,000 in taxes against Hanson and $26,620 against the Ole Hanson Building company are on file in federal court. The liens, Collector of Internal Revenue John P. Carter said, are actions during the years 1924, 1925 and 1931.

In an account of the controversy several days ago, it was mistakenly stated that Hanson was charged with attempted evasion of payment of the taxes.

HEAVIEST RAIN OF SEASON IN STATE FALLING

Showers Predicted to Fall in Southland Tonight; Clearing Friday

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—(UP)—A state-wide rainstorm rated by the government weather bureau as the heaviest of the winter season, deluged California today from the Oregon border to Point Arguello, off Santa Barbara.

Southern California was reported cloudy, with showers predicted in the west portion. In all other sections of the state, however, a highly valuable precipitation was welcomed by agriculturists.

Today's rain was the second general fall of the winter months, the other coming on February 5, according to the weather bureau here. The earlier rain, however, was not as heavy as that of today.

Figures received by the weather bureau at an early reading included: San Francisco, .21; Red Bluff, .01; Hanford, .05; Newman, .15.

The weather bureau said the rains would continue through the day in most California localities, with a general clearing on Friday. Weather was mild all over the state.

The states of Oregon and Washington were rainless today, with clouds brewing and regional rain expected tonight or Friday.

STUNT FLIER LOSES LIFE DURING CRASH

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15.—(UP)—At the opening of the Pan-American air races at New Orleans' new four million dollar Shushan airport last night, Captain W. Merle Nelson, 36, Los Angeles stunt flier, burned to death when a comet plane which he was flying fell to earth and was destroyed by fire.

Nelson's plane dropped from an altitude of about 600 feet and burst into flames as it struck the earth. Captain Nelson was hanging from the cockpit when the plane landed. He was enveloped in flames.

Leo Rice, in charge of motor transportation at the airport, was the first person to reach the burning plane. He was burned on the hands when he tried to raise the tail end of the ship in the hope of overturning it and releasing Nelson.

HONEYMOON MINUS BRIDE DESCRIBED

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Feb. 15.—(UP)—A honeymoon trip without the bride was described in a divorce complaint today of Mrs. Edith Perkins Cunningham Bragiotti, socially prominent local matron and daughter of the late Charles E. Perkins, president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad.

Mrs. Bragiotti accused her husband, Isidore Bragiotti, prominent Florentine, of deserting her at the time of their wedding in Los Angeles last August to return to his villa in Florence, Italy. He characterized their marriage a "mistake," she said.

Mrs. Bragiotti is the widow of Edward Cunningham of Boston.

REBELS ARE CRUSHED BY GOVERNMENT

1500 ARE KNOWN DEAD

One Time Empire Stands on Threshold of Fascist Rule; Nazis Bide Time

VIENNA, Feb. 15.—(UP)—Socialism in Austria was crushed today and the unhappy post-war republic which represents the remains of what once was an empire stood at the threshold of Fascist rule.

Tens of thousands of socialists, defeated in the four-day civil war which cost perhaps 1,500 lives, including women and children, surrendered to the forces of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss throughout the city.

Thousands of other fled, leaving their arms behind. The defeat was generally acknowledged.

Members of the government announced the fighting was definitely over.

The man in the street regarded it as "almost over."

The triumphant Fascists said it was "all over except for the hangings."

How long the new era will last seemed problematical. The Nazis were lying quiet, here and in Germany, figuratively licking their chops and waiting for the opportune moment to move in and replace the Dollfuss-Heimwehr-Starhemberg Fascist regime on Italian lines with Hitlerism.

The result possibly would be a real union of Germany and Austria in a Nazi empire, unless the European powers intervene. The political future of Europe seemed to hinge on the result.

One of the Nazi hopes was that the socialists, their heads bloody but their spirits still defiant, would link themselves to the Nazi cause for protection and assurance of future security.

That was all problematical and in the future, however. For the present, after his efficient blasting of one of the biggest bulwarks of democracy in his path the Dollfuss steamroller was forging ahead towards complete fascist rule at high speed.

He had broken the back of a movement almost unparalleled in the country's history, leaving Marxian socialism writhing in blood and mortally stricken.

The municipal apartment houses, citadels of socialist defense, which had been revealed as the fortresses of revolutionaries as well as homes for workers, were largely a mass of shell-battered ruins.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 15.—(UP)—Alfred Harrison, Negro, under sentence to be hanged tomorrow at San Quentin prison, probably will be granted a reprieve, it was indicated at the governor's office here today.

Executive action in the case was forecast following receipts of a telegram from Governor Rolph at Los Angeles ordering Warden Holohan not to proceed with the execution.

Alfred Harrison was sentenced to death following conviction for the slaying of Clarence E. Harrison during an oil station holdup in Los Angeles September 26, 1931.

LOVE CULT TEMPLE ORDERED DISBANDED

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—(UP)—A "love cult temple" which lured a San Francisco woman away from her husband and united her in a "spiritual wedding" to another man, was ordered disbanded today in the wake of a police investigation.

The "temple" in which Mrs. Muriel Wallace found sanctuary for her strange mystic beliefs, was found to have been operating under a city permit as the Helping Hand Rescue mission. The permit listed the operators as a charity group. Authorities ordered the permit revoked.

Meanwhile, William M. Wallace, civil engineer, prepared to return to San Francisco with his four children who accompanied his wife here last month when she was attracted by an evangelist to embrace the cult's teachings of "spiritual love."

DEMOBILIZATION OF CWA STARTED TODAY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(UP)—Demobilization of the huge army of persons employed under the civil works program was started today with the dismissal of approximately 150,000 workers.

Enough money has been voted by congress to continue the CWA to May 1. Federal Civil Works Administrator Hopkins worked on details of a demobilization plan designed to completely disband the organization by that time.

Workers ordered dismissed immediately are those who have been employed on civil works projects undertaken by federal agencies such as the war, navy, interior, agriculture, and commerce departments. An order by Hopkins directs that 50 per cent of such workers, numbering 291,408, be discharged as of February 15.

Only Europe To Be Asked To Take Part

United States and Nations Outside Europe Will Be Asked to Approve

(Copyright, 1934, by United Press)

LONDON, Feb. 15.—(UP)—A seven power arms conference to rescue Europe from the impasse into which disarmament negotiations have fallen was projected by Great Britain today.

Anthony Eden, lord privy seal, will leave on an important mission to Paris, Berlin and Rome tomorrow, reportedly carrying in his pocket the scheme for a seven-power conference on a European armanent convention which the United States and other non-European nations will be asked to approve.

This development coincided with the stirring events in Austria, which were regarded as making even more imperative some forms of arms agreement.

The cabinet's disarmament committee met today and was understood to have discussed a project for Eden to sound out Premier Gaston Doumergue, Premier Benito Mussolini and Chancellor Adolf Hitler on the proposal to hold a conference of Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Belgium.

The Franco-German discussion of arms accord, which has become deadlocked, shows no signs of real compromise on either side.

Britain therefore intends to attempt a European accord before the April 10 meeting of the steering committee of the world arms conference in Geneva. The steering committee then could convoke a general session of the conference, with the European agreement as a basis on which to work.

It was believed the United States had informally assured Britain of its readiness to co-operate if a European arms convention is completetd.

FIND GUARD KILLED BY PRISON INMATE

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Feb. 15.—(UP)—Overcrowded conditions at Washington state penitentiary here were held responsible today for the attempted wholesale jailbreak in which nine men lost their lives.

Warden J. M. McCauley said that the crowded condition of the prison court and chapel prevented proper segregation of the prisoners.

The warden believed that 12 convicts were ringleaders of the escape attempt and that between 30 and 36 others were implicated.

An autopsy performed on the body of H. L. Briggs, only guard killed in the disturbance, proved that he was slashed to death by convicts and not fatally wounded by gunfire as had been reported. Murder charges may be brought against several convicts as the result of the autopsy findings, it was intimated.

YOUTH LOSES LIFE ON YACHT IN STORM

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(UP)—Hubert Kuecsenmeister, a member of the exploration party aboard the disabled yacht Uvira, was washed overboard and lost when the vessel was caught in a storm off the Delaware breakwater. His home was in Chicago.

The distressed yacht, with a group of amateur explorers bound to Central America on an adventure trip, was towed into Hampton Roads today after its rescue from heavy seas.

Among the 36 passengers aboard the ill-fated vessel was Howard Kresge, son of the Detroit chain store owner, Norman Morse of Evanston, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Jackson K. Dering of Chicago, owners of the vessel and sponsors of the six-month voyage of exploration into southern seas.

NOTICE SERVED RAILROAD MEN OF WAGE CUTS

Fifteen Percent Reduction to Become Effective on First of July

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—(UP)—The principal railroads of the nation today served notice on their employes that they will put into effect a 15 per cent wage cut effective July 1, 1934.

The wage cut would be in effect for one year "and thereafter subject to the provisions of the railway labor act." It was stipulated that the reduction would supersede the present deduction of 10 per cent which has been in effect for more than a year and which expires on June 30 of this year.

The notice to railway labor executives was dispatched by the conference committee of managers which previously represented the railways in wage negotiations. Today's notice was in accordance with a paragraph of the previous agreement which stipulated that neither the railroad managements nor the labor unions would seek to modify the 10 per cent cut until Feb. 15, 1934.

It appeared that negotiations would precede any final action in the matter, as the conference committee of managers declared that it would open an initial negotiations conference in Chicago on March 1.

The text of the notice read:

"The memorandum of agreement dated June 21, 1933, between the conference committee of managers and the railway labor executives provided in part as follows:

". . . No party prior to February 15, 1934, will serve notice of a desire to change or extend this extended agreement, or of an intended change in basic rates of pay, such change or extension to become effective on or after July 1, 1934; it being further agreed that in event that such a notice should be served by any party hereto between February 15, 1934 and July 1, 1934, the proceedings thereunder shall be conducted pursuant to the provisions of the railway labor act, and such proceedings shall be conducted nationally in order that the matter may be handled to a conclusion as expeditiously as reasonably possible.'

"Pursuant to said memorandum of agreement and in accordance with the provisions of the railway labor act and the existing agreement with the employes represented by your organization, we hereby give notice of our intention to reduce on and after July 1, 1934,

ROCKEFELLER OFF FOR FLORIDA HOME

Rockefeller recently had been ill and had not been able to make his annual trip south as scheduled.

The 94-year-old oil magnate, accompanied by his son, John D., jr., boarded a special train at Phillipse Manor station of the New York Central railroad at North Tarrytown. He was in good spirits as he said farewell at the station.

The train pulled out of the station at 11:15 a. m. with the younger Rockefeller still aboard. It was not announced whether he would accompany his father south.

4000 PEA PICKERS GO OUT ON STRIKE

CALIPATRIA, Cal., Feb. 15.—(UP)—Nearly 4000 pea pickers were on strike in this district today following refusal of growers to grant the men a 50 per cent increase in wages.

The workers had demanded their wages be raised from one cent a pound to 1 1/2 cents. Their walkout brought harvesting of more than 4000 acres of peas to a virtual standstill.

Although there had been do disorders, E. Ray Cato, chief of the state highway patrol, sent 12 motorcycle officers into the area to keep the roads open. The men were sent from Los Angeles, San Diego and Orange counties.

Revenue Chiefs Say Ole Hanson Not Tax Evader

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—(UP)—Internal revenue officials explained here today that the government's claim for additional income taxes against Ole Hanson, former mayor of Seattle and founder of the town of San Clemente, involved no thought of criminal intent or evasion.

Liens claiming $58,000 in taxes against Hanson and $26,620 against the Ole Hanson Building company are on file in federal court. The liens, Collector of Internal Revenue John P. Carter said, are actions during the years 1924, 1925 and 1931.

In an account of the controversy several days ago, it was mistakenly stated that Hanson was charged with attempted evasion of payment of the taxes.

HEAVIEST RAIN OF SEASON IN STATE FALLING

Showers Predicted to Fall in Southland Tonight; Clearing Friday

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—(UP)—A state-wide rainstorm rated by the government weather bureau as the heaviest of the winter season, deluged California today from the Oregon border to Point Arguello, off Santa Barbara.

Southern California was reported cloudy, with showers predicted in the west portion. In all other sections of the state, however, a highly valuable precipitation was welcomed by agriculturists.

Today's rain was the second general fall of the winter months, the other coming on February 5, according to the weather bureau here. The earlier rain, however, was not as heavy as that of today.

Figures received by the weather bureau at an early reading included: San Francisco, .21; Red Bluff, .01; Hanford, .05; Newman, .15.

The weather bureau said the rains would continue through the day in most California localities, with a general clearing on Friday. Weather was mild all over the state.

The states of Oregon and Washington were rainless today, with clouds brewing and regional rain expected tonight or Friday.

STUNT FLIER LOSES LIFE DURING CRASH

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15.—(UP)—At the opening of the Pan-American air races at New Orleans' new four million dollar Shushan airport last night, Captain W. Merle Nelson, 36, Los Angeles stunt flier, burned to death when a comet plane which he was flying fell to earth and was destroyed by fire.

Nelson's plane dropped from an altitude of about 600 feet and burst into flames as it struck the earth. Captain Nelson was hanging from the cockpit when the plane landed. He was enveloped in flames.

Leo Rice, in charge of motor transportation at the airport, was the first person to reach the burning plane. He was burned on the hands when he tried to raise the tail end of the ship in the hope of overturning it and releasing Nelson.

HONEYMOON MINUS BRIDE DESCRIBED

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Feb. 15.—(UP)—A honeymoon trip without the bride was described in a divorce complaint today of Mrs. Edith Perkins Cunningham Bragiotti, socially prominent local matron and daughter of the late Charles E. Perkins, president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad.

Mrs. Bragiotti accused her husband, Isidore Bragiotti, prominent Florentine, of deserting her at the time of their wedding in Los Angeles last August to return to his villa in Florence, Italy. He characterized their marriage a "mistake," she said.

Mrs. Bragiotti is the widow of Edward Cunningham of Boston.

One Time Empire Stands on Threshold of Fascist Rule; Nazis Bide Time

VIENNA, Feb. 15.—(UP)—Socialism in Austria was crushed today and the unhappy post-war republic which represents the remains of what once was an empire stood at the threshold of Fascist rule.

Tens of thousands of socialists, defeated in the four-day civil war which cost perhaps 1,500 lives, including women and children, surrendered to the forces of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss throughout the city.

Thousands of other fled, leaving their arms behind. The defeat was generally acknowledged.

Members of the government announced the fighting was definitely over.

The man in the street regarded it as "almost over."

The triumphant Fascists said it was "all over except for the hangings."

How long the new era will last seemed problematical. The Nazis were lying quiet, here and in Germany, figuratively licking their chops and waiting for the opportune moment to move in and replace the Dollfuss-Heimwehr-Starhemberg Fascist regime on Italian lines with Hitlerism.

The result possibly would be a real union of Germany and Austria in a Nazi empire, unless the European powers intervene. The political future of Europe seemed to hinge on the result.

One of the Nazi hopes was that the socialists, their heads bloody but their spirits still defiant, would link themselves to the Nazi cause for protection and assurance of future security.

That was all problematical and in the future, however. For the present, after his efficient blasting of one of the biggest bulwarks of democracy in his path the Dollfuss steamroller was forging ahead towards complete fascist rule at high speed.

He had broken the back of a movement almost unparalleled in the country's history, leaving Marxian socialism writhing in blood and mortally stricken.

The municipal apartment houses, citadels of socialist defense, which had been revealed as the fortresses of revolutionaries as well as homes for workers, were largely a mass of shell-battered ruins.

Alfred Harrison was sentenced to death following conviction for the slaying of Clarence E. Harrison during an oil station holdup in Los Angeles September 26, 1931.

BRITTIN BEGINS SERVING TERM FOR CONTEMPT

a court fight over the annulments. Solicitor Karl A. Crowley of the postoffice department hoped to obtain dismissal of a suit filed by the Transcontinental and Western Air against the annullments. They planned to argue when he case comes up in New York federal court tomorrow that the court lacks jurisdiction.

Collateral developments included decisions by President Roosevelt to order reexamination of the income tax returns of navy plane contractors, and to re-organize the ocean mail system. Under the latter project, direct subsidies would supplant mail contracts. The department of commerce undertook a study of the matter.

No Restoration

Denials from the White House and Farley that there would be any restoration of the cancelled irmail contracts were coupled with every indication at the war department that the army air corps would carry through the administration's intention to take over the air mail service at midnight next Monday.

Farley's letter in defense of the government's course said the contracts were annulled "only after a most thorough investigation covering a period of several months.

"I do not believe congress intended that the air mail appropriations should be expended for the benefit of a few favored corporations, which could use the funds as the basis of wild stock promotions resulting in profits of tens of millions of dollars to promoters who invested little or no capital," the letter said. "Nor was it intended to be used by great corporations as a club to force competitors out of business and into bankruptcy."

Farley charged "illegal" six-month extensions of contracts expiring in 1929 were made by second assistant Postmaster General W. Irving Glover, and that subsequently Postmaster General Brown extended the contracts ten years. He charged Brown also extended routes, in such a manner that contract for short distances were stretched into contracts for much greater distances.

The great airlines of the country were built up in this manner, Farley said.

Meetings Held

He also charged that before award of the contracts, "those interested held meetings for the purpost of dividing territory and contracts among themselves.

"Some of the meetings were held in the postoffice department and were attended by Postmaster General Brown and Second Assistant W. Irving Glover."

The meetings Farley said were held in 1930 and were presided over by William P. MacCracken, former assistant secretary of commerce who was sentenced to jail for contempt by the senate last night. Farley added that MacCracken's minutes showed the following firms represented:

United Airlines, Transcontinental Air Transport, Eastern Air Express, National Parks Airways, Varney Airlines, Aviation Corporation, S. A. F. E. Express, Eastern Air Transport, Thompson Aeronautical, United States Airways, Pittsburgh Aviation Industries, Clifford Ball, Inc., Curtis Flying Service, and Delta Air Service.

"These meetings," Farley said, "resulted in a division of all air mail contracts of the United States and the practical elimination of competitive bidding."

The United Press sought the comment of several of the persons named by Farley as having attended the meetings, but for the most party they reserved their comment. On behalf of United Airlines, Paul Henderson said, "United Airlines had four air mail contracts, all acquired by competitive bidding on or before 1927."

Duty to Annul

Winding up with the assertion that in view of the facts it was "clearly my duty to annul all of these contracts," Farley said:

"There has been paid to air mail carriers for the fiscal years 1930, 1931, 1932, and up to December 31, 1933, more than $78,000,000. The airmail carriers collectively have been given contracts upon the basis of more than twice as much space as was actually needed or used. In Sundry instances this was done by a change in the terms actually advertised.

"If payment had been made for the service actually rendered, the cost would have been about forty per cent of the above amount. The excess payments, during this period, aggregate, therefore, the sum of about $46,800,000.

"My investigation, based on the records, books, papers, contracts and documents in the department, or introduced before your committee, or taken from the files of Mr. Mac Cracken, shows that every corporation whose contracts I annulled, or its predecessor or its subsidiary corporation, had representatives in the conferences hereinbefore mentioned, which, I am convinced was contrary to law.

"It is incontrovertible that the 1930 meeting was held, that it was confined to those who subsequently obtained the contracts, that the provision of law calling for competition in bidding was not carried out, and that all the present domestic air mail carriers secured contracts based on conspiracy or collusion, with the possible exception of the National Parks Airways which will be given further consideration."

RECOVER TOOLS LOST IN S. A. WATER WELLS

After two weeks of "fishing," city water engineers have finally succeeded in capturing five pumping "bowls" and a large strainer which broke off and dropped 1000 feet down in the casing of water well No. 11, located on Flower street near the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl.

When the pumping equipment dropped 140 feet down the well, employes were at a loss how to reach it. When it took another drop and lodged firmly in the casing 1000 feet deep, consternation ruled in the well house. After consultations with "fishing" experts from Huntington Beach oil companies, the workers rigged up various contrivances to make a connection with the half-ton of equipment but all in vain.

As a last resort two tons of piping were lowered into the well and sand blown off the top of the "bowls" by pneumatic pressure. A lead mold was then pressed on the "bowls" so that a grappling tool could be molded in the same pattern. When this tool was dropped in the casing, it was only a matter of minutes until the tools connected and the elusive equipment drawn from the well with a strain of 20,000 pounds on the cable.

McBride said that if the "fishing" had been unsuccessful, the value of the well would have been materially decreased, although the upper gravel strata could have been used. As it is now, the entire pumping tool can be salvaged with the exception of the broken shaft on top.

And the engineers can gain back some of the sleep they lost while trying to figure out new ways to fish.

Representatives appointed recently at a meeting of the Bean department of the Orange County Farm Bureau, flew today to attend a conference on the proposed national bean code. They are Albert Schneider, Greenville, chairman; Ralph Mitchell, Irvine; Lawrence Wakeham, Tustin, and Robert Jeffrey, Irvine. They made the trip north in Mitchell's airplane.

The meeting in the northern city was called by Alex Johnson, state secretary of the California Farm Bureau Federation and is for the purpose of consolidating and protecting growers' interests and to secure sufficient support for excluding such beans from agreement as the growers may desire to market separately.

WILL ROGERS says:

SANTA MONICA, Feb. 15.—(To the Editor of The Register:)—Austria? Say, isn't that down there about in shooting distance of where the other war broke out? England has told Germany to "lay off". Now, what if Germany don't "choose" to lay off? The boys are looking around now, kinder choosing up sides again. Russia would like to look down that way, but she can't take her eyes off Japan long enough; Mussolini is waiting for the best offer, France has got every propellor a-spinning; now is one of the best times in the world for us to fight among ourselves. It will at least keep us out of some bigger devilment.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

FIRST CASH ON PRODUCTION LOAN IS PAID

First cash payment made to an applicant for a loan from the Orange County Production Credit association was made last night at 6:30 o'clock, it was announced today by R. D. Flaherty, secretary.

"It was a great sensation to pass out the first check on crop loans in Orange county," John W. Crill, president of the association, said today. "We had been struggling for six weeks to get our local association organized, applications completed quickly, and their acceptance by the Intermediate Credit bank at Berkeley.

"It was therefore, very pleasing to us when we were able last night to make our first payment to one of our early applicants. From now on payments will be made month by month to this applicant, according to the budget which was originally agreed upon. Two other payments will be made today."

President Crill pointed out that 45 loans have been approved by the local association, and of these, 34 have been acted upon by the Intermediate Credit bank at Berkeley. Thirty-three of the 34 have been accepted.

"At this time the Intermediate Credit bank is only about a week behind our association in accepting the applications," President Crill said, "and it appears that from now on loans should be completed in from two to three weeks from the time they are submitted to the local loan committee."

"This is new money coming into Orange county and the loans already approved equal about $100,000 in addition. This new money coming into the county should stimulate business and enable many farmers to pay to merchants bills that are long past due."

The girl claimed that she was under 18 years of age at the time of her marriage and did not have parental consent as required by Arizona laws.

SOCIALISTS IN AUSTRIA LOSE OUT IN REVOLT

The situation in the country outside Vienna also seemed in hand, although communications were faulty. Prince Starhemberg, the chief ally of Dollfuss, had disposed of the revolt in the industrial city of Steyr and arrived at Linz, another city where th revolt took a heavy toll, at the head of his heimwehr battalions.

At noon he delivered a funeral oration at Linz over the graves of his fallen fascist comrades, and then left for Vienna.

The end of the revolt was emphasized when sightseers, including Americans, swarmed forth afoot and in taxicabs to see the ruins of battle. Police and fire departments permitted them to search for souvenirs, such as empty cartridges and pieces of shrapnel.

Spurts of firing were heard in the early afternoon in a few sectors of the city, where isolated Socialists still defied the government's proclamation of amnesty, but a tour of the city and its environs by United Press correspondents failed to produce a sight or sound of firing late in the day.

Large "mopping up" patrols, with rifles pointing over the sides of their automobiles and trucks, drove through the streets in areas where the Socialists had hung out white flags but which the authorities had not searched for arms.

Wherever the trucks halted, dozens of hands were raised in surrender as Heimwehr troops and police dismounted and approached with their hands on the triggers of their rifles.

President Wilhelm Miklas, who has been kept in close touch with every development of the situation day and night, visited the wounded government fighters in the hospitals this afternoon.

MYSTERY FIRE HELD CAUSE OF MACGEE DEATH

A fire in his home starting in an unknown manner was cited by a coroner's jury yesterday as the cause of death for Enrique Macgee, 76, native of California and pioneer settler in Orange county, who was burned to death in his home in Yorba Monday night.

Miss Josephine White, Ruben Ceyla, and Mrs. Lucille Ceyla, neighbors of the elderly Mexican, testified at the inquest in the Seale funeral home in Fullerton yesterday, that they thought muffled reports came from Macgee's home during the fire. It was thought by officers that he was starting a fire with kerosene and caused an explosion.

Deputy Sheriff L. H. Nicholson testified to the condition of the home after the fire. Macgee's body was charred and only the torso remained. The body was not recovered until the flames had been extinguished by Placentia firemen.

It is understood that Macgee has eight children, including Mrs. Henrietta Laughlin of Los Angeles and Mrs. Dulcina Morris of Stockton. A half brother, William Macgee, is understood to be living near San Juan Capistrano.

(THE TERRAPLANE "6" SEDAN)

(THE HUDSON "8" COUPE)

You have taken to the new Terraplane "6" and Hudson "8" just as we thought you would!

One brief week ago we announced that we would start selling the new Hudson and Terraplanes.

Sell was the right word! They've been going like a Terraplane swishing up Pike's Peak!

It seems that all you have to do is demonstrate these cars and they do their own talking — in their own quiet, convincing way.

But no wonder! Terraplane will outperform any other car but one — its big brother, Hudson.

And Hudson will out-perform any other eight regardless of price.

Reason? Unit-engineering — the exclusive Hudson principle that in a single year brought to the Hudson banner 72 A. A. A. records for hill-climbing, speed and ruggedness.

What's more, these new Terraplanes and Hudsons offer you advanced streamlining—Axleflex Independent Springing, patented Splayed Springs, four big Road Levelers — year-'round draftless ventilation—built-in Luggage Vestibules in the rear—and a hundred and one other advanced motoring features.

Won't you drop in and try out the 1934 Terraplanes and Hudson?

If your present car needs service of any kind you'll do well to get acquainted with our new Service & Parts department.

a court fight over the annulments. Solicitor Karl A. Crowley of the postoffice department hoped to obtain dismissal of a suit filed by the Transcontinental and Western Air against the annullments. They planned to argue when he case comes up in New York federal court tomorrow that the court lacks jurisdiction.

Collateral developments included decisions by President Roosevelt to order reexamination of the income tax returns of navy plane contractors, and to re-organize the ocean mail system. Under the latter project, direct subsidies would supplant mail contracts. The department of commerce undertook a study of the matter.

No Restoration

Denials from the White House and Farley that there would be any restoration of the cancelled air mail contracts were coupled with every indication at the war department that the army air corps would carry through the administration's intention to take over the air mail service at midnight next Monday.

Farley's letter in defense of the government's course said the contracts were annulled "only after a most thorough investigation covering a period of several months.

"I do not believe congress intended that the air mail appropriations should be expended for the benefit of a few favored corporations, which could use the funds as the basis of wild stock promotions resulting in profits of tens of millions of dollars to promoters who invested little or no capital," the letter said. "Nor was it intended to be used by great corporations as a club to force competitors out of business and into bankruptcy."

Farley charged "illegal" six-month extensions of contracts expiring in 1929 were made by second assistant Postmaster General W. Irving Glover, and that subsequently Postmaster General Brown extended the contracts ten years. He charged Brown also extended routes, in such a manner that contract for short distances were stretched into contracts for much greater distances.

The great airlines of the country were built up in this manner, Farley said.

Meetings Held

He also charged that before award of the contracts, "those interested held meetings for the purpost of dividing territory and contracts among themselves.

"Some of the meetings were held in the postoffice department and were attended by Postmaster General Brown and Second Assistant W. Irving Glover."

The meetings Farley said were held in 1930 and were presided over by William P. MacCracken, former assistant secretary of commerce who was sentenced to jail for contempt by the senate last night. Farley added that MacCracken's minutes showed the following firms represented:

United Airlines, Transcontinental Air Transport, Eastern Air Express, National Parks Airways, Varney Airlines, Aviation Corporation, S. A. F. E. Express, Eastern Air Transport, Thompson Aeronautical, United States Airways, Pittsburgh Aviation Industries, Clifford Ball, Inc., Curtis Flying Service, and Delta Air Service.

"These meetings," Farley said, "resulted in a division of all air mail contracts of the United States and the practical elimination of competitive bidding."

The United Press sought the comment of several of the persons named by Farley as having attended the meetings, but for the most party they reserved their comment. On behalf of United Airlines, Paul Henderson said, "United Airlines had four air mail contracts, all acquired by competitive bidding on or before 1927."

Duty to Annul

Winding up with the assertion that in view of the facts it was "clearly my duty to annul all of these contracts," Farley said:

"There has been paid to air mail carriers for the fiscal years 1930, 1931, 1932, and up to December 31, 1933, more than $78,000,000. The airmail carriers collectively have been given contracts upon the basis of more than twice as much space as was actually needed or used. In Sundry instances this was done by a change in the terms actually advertised.

"If payment had been made for the service actually rendered, the cost would have been about forty per cent of the above amount. The excess payments, during this period, aggregate, therefore, the sum of about $46,800,000.

"My investigation, based on the records, books, papers, contracts and documents in the department, or introduced before your committee, or taken from the files of Mr. MacCracken, shows that every corporation whose contracts I annulled, or its predecessor or its subsidiary corporation, had representatives in the conferences hereinbefore mentioned, which, I am convinced was contrary to law.

"It is incontrovertible that the 1930 meeting was held, that it was confined to those who subsequently obtained the contracts, that the provision of law calling for competition in bidding was not carried out, and that all the present domestic air mail carriers secured contracts based on conspiracy or collusion, with the possible exception of the National Parks Airways, which will be given further consideration."

RECOVER TOOLS LOST IN S. A. WATER WELLS

After two weeks of "fishing," city water engineers have finally succeeded in capturing five pumping "bowls" and a large strainer which broke off and dropped 1000 feet down in the casing of water well No. 11, located on Flower street near the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl.

When the pumping equipment dropped 140 feet down the well, employes were at a loss how to reach it. When it took another drop and lodged firmly in the casing 1000 feet deep, consternation ruled in the well house. After consultations with "fishing" experts from Huntington Beach oil companies, the workers rigged up various contrivances to make a connection with the half-ton of equipment but all in vain.

As a last resort two tons of piping were lowered into the well and sand blown off the top of the "bowls" by pneumatic pressure. A lead mold was then pressed on the "bowls" so that a grappling tool could be molded in the same pattern. When this tool was dropped in the casing, it was only a matter of minutes until the tools connected and the elusive equipment drawn from the well with a strain of 20,000 pounds on the cable.

McBride said that if the "fishing" had been unsuccessful, the value of the well would have been materially decreased, although the upper gravel strata could have been used. As it is now, the entire pumping tool can be salvaged with the exception of the broken shaft on top.

And the engineers can gain back some of the sleep they lost while trying to figure out new ways to fish.

BEAN GROWERS FLY TO STATE PARLEY

Representatives appointed recently at a meeting of the Bean department of the Orange County Farm Bureau, flew today to attend a conference on the proposed national bean code. They are Albert Schneider, Greenville, chairman; Ralph Mitchell, Irvine; Lawrence Wakeham, Tustin, and Robert Jeffrey, Irvine. They made the trip north in Mitchell's airplane.

The meeting in the northern city was called by Alex Johnson, state secretary of the California Farm Bureau Federation and is for the purpose of consolidating and protecting growers' interests and to secure sufficient support for excluding such beans from agreement as the growers may desire to market separately.

WILL ROGERS says:

SANTA MONICA, Feb. 15. —(To the Editor of The Register:)—Austria? Say, isn't that down there about in shooting distance of where the other war broke out? England has told Germany to "lay off". Now, what if Germany don't "choose" to lay off? The boys are looking around now, kinder choosing up sides again. Russia would like to look down that way, but she can't take her eyes off Japan long enough; Mussolini is waiting for the best offer, France has got every propellor a-spinning; now is one of the best times in the world for us to fight among ourselves. It will at least keep us out of some bigger devilment.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

BREAKFASTERS PLAN PROGRAM FOR CCC BOYS

Definite plans for staging an elaborate program of entertainment for members of the CCC at Camp Trabuco next Tuesday night were made at the regular meeting of the Orange County Breakfast club this morning in James' cafe.

Speakers at the CCC session will include District Attorney S. B. Kaufman, Superior Judge James L. Allen, Coroner Earl R. Abbey, Chief of Police Floyd W. Howard and other officials.

Members of the Breakfast club and their guests will meet at 4 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon and go in a motor caravan to the CCC camp, where they will have dinner. An elaborate program of entertainment will be presented,

The committee in charge of the event is comprised of President Hubert Bown, Jess Elliott, Jerry Hall and Gene Kahen, it was announced.

Harold Haskill was introduced as the newest member of the Breakfast club. Ivie Stein introduced a guest, Homer P. Larkin. A life-size likeness of Mae West was presented to members of the club as a valentine gift from Stein.

Entertainment for the meeting arranged by Gene Kahen, featured several dialect readings given by Edward W. Cohems, who also explained the differences in the way various races enunciate. Joe Kozina, noted banjoist, entertained with several selections, accompanied at the piano by Art Cannon. Floyd Stewart was seen in a jig dance.

FIRST CASH ON PRODUCTION LOAN IS PAID

First cash payment made to an applicant for a loan from the Orange County Production Credit association was made last night at 6:30 o'clock, it was announced today by R. D. Flaherty, secretary.

"It was a great sensation to pass out the first check on crop loans in Orange county," John W. Crill, president of the association, said today. "We had been struggling for six weeks to get our local association organized, applications completed quickly, and their acceptance by the Intermediate Credit bank at Berkeley.

"It was therefore, very pleasing to us when we were able last night to make our first payment to one of our early applicants. From now on payments will be made month by month to this applicant, according to the budget which was originally agreed upon. Two other payments will be made today."

President Crill pointed out that 45 loans have been approved by the local association, and of these, 34 have been acted upon by the Intermediate Credit bank at Berkeley. Thirty-three of the 34 have been accepted.

"At this time the Intermediate Credit bank is only about a week behind our association in accepting the applications," President Crill said, "and it appears that from now on loans should be completed in from two to three weeks from the time they are submitted to the local loan committee."

"This is new money coming into Orange county and the loans already approved equal about $100,000 in addition. This new money coming into the county should stimulate business and enable many farmers to pay to merchants bills that are long past due."

FILE MARTIN WILL PROBATE REQUEST

Petition to probate the will of John L. Martin, 76, Pioneer Santa Ana grocer, who died here February 11, was filed this morning by E. P. Stafford, named as administrator under the will. Martin's estate was valued in excess of $10,000, and consists of cash, stocks, bonds and other personal property.

Under provisions of the will Martin left a $200 legacy to his sister, Mrs. Susie Overton, of Indianapolis, and $50 each to Mr. and Mrs. Morris Yarnell with whom he made his home. The residue of the estate is equally divided between Morris' three sisters and one brother. Those sharing in the estate are: Mrs. Overton, Mrs. Carrie Karnes, Indianapolis, Mrs. Lulu Hiestand, Pekin, Indiana, sisters, and C. C. Martin, a brother living in Martinsburg, Ind.

ASKS ANNULMENT

Beatrice Marie Gengler, 17, through her guardian ad litum, Attorney L. Morris Cain, filed suit in court yesterday to annul her marriage on October 9, 1933, to Andrew G. Gengler in Yuma, Ariz. The girl claimed that she was under 18 years of age at the time of her marriage and did not have parental consent as required by Arizona laws.

SOCIALISTS IN AUSTRIA LOSE OUT IN REVOLT

The situation in the country outside Vienna also seemed in hand, although communications were faulty. Prince Starhemberg, the chief ally of Dollfuss, had disposed of the revolt in the industrial city of Steyr and arrived at Linz, another city where th revolt took a heavy toll, at the head of his heimwehr battalions.

At noon he delivered a funeral oration at Linz over the graves of his fallen fascist comrades, and then left for Vienna.

The end of the revolt was emphasized when sightseers, including Americans, swarmed forth afoot and in taxicabs to see the ruins of battle. Police and fire departments permitted them to search for souvenirs, such as empty cartridges and pieces of shrapnel.

Spurts of firing were heard in the early afternoon in a few sectors of the city, where isolated Socialists still defied the government's proclamation of amnesty, but a tour of the city and its environs by United Press correspondents failed to produce a sight or sound of firing late in the day.

Large "mopping up" patrols, with rifles pointing over the sides of their automobiles and trucks, drove through the streets in areas where the Socialists had hung out white flags but which the authorities had not searched for arms.

Wherever the trucks halted, dozens of hands were raised in surrender as Heimwehr troops and police dismounted and approached with their hands on the triggers of their rifles.

President Wilhelm Miklas, who has been kept in close touch with every development of the situation day and night, visited the wounded government fighters in the hospitals this afternoon.

MYSTERY FIRE HELD CAUSE OF MACGEE DEATH

A fire in his home starting in an unknown manner was cited by a coroner's jury yesterday as the cause of death for Enrique Macgee, 76, native of California and pioneer settler in Orange county, who was burned to death in his home in Yorba Monday night.

Miss Josephine White, Ruben Ceyla, and Mrs. Lucille Ceyla, neighbors of the elderly Mexican, testified at the inquest in the Seale funeral home in Fullerton yesterday, that they thought muffled reports came from Macgee's home during the fire. It was thought by officers that he was starting a fire with kerosene and caused an explosion.

Deputy Sheriff L. H. Nicholson testified to the condition of the home after the fire. Macgee's body was charred and only the torso remained. The body was not recovered until the flames had been extinguished by Placentia firemen.

It is understood that Macgee has eight children, including Mrs. Henrietta Laughlin of Los Angeles and Mrs. Dulcina Morris of Stockton. A half brother, William Macgee, is understood to be living near San Juan Capistrano.

GROSE REPORTS REFUND TODAY OF $275,338

Cash receipts for the past season of the Santiago Orange Growers association of Orange, unit of the California Fruit Growers Exchange, aggregated $1,158,174.65, according to a report submitted to the board of directors and members of the association today by R. E. Gross, secretary-manager, at the annual meeting.

Reducing all fruit sold to carloads of 462 packed boxes, a total of 66 cars of navels and miscellaneous oranges and 1400 cars of valencias, a total of 1466 cars, was sold through the association during the season. Actual packed shipments amounted to 629,724 boxes.

Revolving fund repayments were itemized in the report, and the yearly refund to grower-members made today amounted to $275,338.65.

There was little change in the valencia market during the spring or summer, the variation in price from week to week being only a few cents a box, the report stated, and this was due to the regulated supply from shippers party to the valencia agreement.

Control Helped

Valencias were of good eating quality, but the outside appearance was the poorest ever seen in the packing house, fruit being terribly scarred and wind whipped, according to the report, and it was difficult to make a good looking grade.

Considerable difficulty was experienced in keeping ahead of granulation, but constant watching and inspection on fruit on the tree and picking fruit while in good condition, made it possible to put out under regular brands fruit that would pass Sunkist requirements and give consumer satisfaction, the report said.

Repeal Has Effect

Repeal of prohibition has had some effect on orange consumption, the manager declared in his report, while competitive fruits were in light supply during most of the season, a fortunate circumstance for the orange industry.

Total withdrawals from the association during the year consisted of one grower with five acres.

The association is in excellent financial condition, having no debt on any property, the report stated. The amount raised to cover expenses was 60 cents per packed box.

"Results in the orange industry compare favorably with those of other agricultural producers," it was stated, "while many industries have lost money and but few folks have received satisfactory returns on investments of any kind. The buying power of the country was at a very low point, and returns would naturally be low."

Returns during the last year were less than the previous year, when returns were $1,449,912.65.

GOVERNOR PAYS INSTALLMENT ON MAN'S FINE

Gov. James Rolph visited the La Habra city hall yesterday afternoon when he called to intercede for Bertram D. Hogan, of Los Angeles, who had been arrested by the La Habra police more than a year ago, and fined $200 by the city judge, on a charge of possession of intoxicating liquor. Suspension of $75 of the fine had been made and the defendant was to pay the balance out in monthly payments of $10. This he had failed to do and was ordered to come to La Habra and serve a jail sentence, working out his fine for the city.

A letter sent to the defendant by City Judge H. A. Robinson was received by Mrs. Hogan who appealed to the governor.

Governor Rolph after hearing the story of the charges and sentence, commended the city judge and informed Hogan, who with his wife had come to La Habra to join the governor, that he would not interfere with the law in the city. He said he had come there because he was under the impression the defendant was about to be sent to the state's prison. However, Gov. Rolph advised the man to pay the fine and promised to pay the first $10 installment for him, and to send another $10 installment next month to help the defendant out, but that it would be up to Hogan to get a job and make his payments after that.

Gov. Rolph then left the city with his bodyguards and his motorcycle escort of six patrolmen, after greeting and talking with officials of the city and visitors at the city hall.

GROSE REPORTS REFUND TODAY OF $275.338

Cash receipts for the past season of the Santiago Orange Growers association of Orange, unit of the California Fruit Growers Exchange, aggregated $1,158,174.65, according to a report submitted to the board of directors and members of the association today by R. E. Gross, secretary-manager, at the annual meeting.

Reducing all fruit sold to carloads of 462 packed boxes, a total of 66 cars of navels and miscellaneous oranges and 1400 cars of valencias, a total of 1466 cars, was sold through the association during the season. Actual packed shipments amounted to 629,724 boxes.

Revolving fund repayments were itemized in the report, and the yearly refund to grower-members made today amounted to $275,338.65.

There was little change in the valencia market during the spring or summer, the variation in price from week to week being only a few cents a box, the report stated, and this was due to the regulated supply from shippers party to the valencia agreement.

Control Helped

Valencias were of good eating quality, but the outside appearance was the poorest ever seen in the packing house, fruit being terribly scarred and wind whipped, according to the report, and it was difficult to make a good looking grade.

Considerable difficulty was experienced in keeping ahead of granulation, but constant watching and inspection on fruit on the tree and picking fruit while in good condition, made it possible to put out under regular brands fruit that would pass Sunkist requirements and give consumer satisfaction, the report said.

Repeal Has Effect

Repeal of prohibition has had some effect on orange consumption, the manager declared in his report, while competitive fruits were in light supply during most of the season, a fortunate circumstance for the orange industry.

Total withdrawals from the association during the year consisted of one grower with five acres.

The association is in excellent financial condition, having no debt on any property, the report stated. The amount raised to cover expenses was 60 cents per packed box.

"Results in the orange industry compare favorably with those of other agricultural producers," it was stated, "while many industries have lost money and but few folks have received satisfactory returns on investments of any kind. The buying power of the country was at a very low point, and returns would naturally be low."

Returns during the last year were less than the previous year, when returns were $1,449,912.65.

GRAND JURY OPPOSES COUNTY JOBS FOR MARRIED WOMEN, TEACHER TENURE, QUAKE CODE

Recommending discontinuance of the practice of employing married women in county jobs whose husbands are employed; abolition of the teacher tenure law, and modification of the emergency legislation following the earthquake in which provisions for rehabilitating damaged schools were set, the 1933-34 Grand Jury submitted its report late yesterday to Judge H. G. Ames.

The report, signed by W. H. Spurgeon, foreman, and Mrs. R. G. Tuthill, secretary, as submitted is completely free of criticism of any county department or municipality and is the most complimentary report returned by any grand jury in recent years. It acknowledged the efficient administration of every county official.

Referring to the employment of married women in county offices the report stated: "In view of the unusual unemployment that exists today and in the face of efforts being made by the federal government to provide more jobs we feel that the practice of hiring, particularly for clerical work, of more than one member of a family or the wife of a man otherwise employed in county offices is contrary to the best interests of the people at large or Orange county."

Teacher Tenure

In connection with its investigation of schools of the county the grand jury reported: "We believe that the abolition of the tenure law would increase the efficiency of our schools and enhance the value of the educational system of the State of California.

"We believe that the emergency legislation passed following the earthquake should be modified because it is so stringent that an intolerable burden has been imposed on many schools throughout the state, causing abandonment of many, even though they were not damaged, and;

"Because this stringency of the law invites exploitation in building material and insurance."

Considerable attention was paid to safety precautions in the various schools of the county and letters were addressed to the boards of trustees of the various school districts calling their attention to conditions that should be corrected.

Most of these conditions, according to the report, have to do with the safety of the children, as well as school property, and include such items as lack of proper fire extinguishers, existence of fire hazards and the apparent lack of understanding regarding the importance of fire drills.

As recommended by a previous grand jury this group again recommended that all schools having a large percentage of Mexican attendance provide bathing facilities. Also, that all doors leading to lavatories be marked "Boys" and "Girls."

Rotted Fire Hose

Because several rotted fire hoses were discovered and in quite a number of instances the lack of fire extinguishers cause, in the opinion of the investigating committee, too great a fire hazard, it was recommended that all school boards advise with the head of the nearest fire department for instructions.

It was also urged, in the report that economy be observed in compilation of school budgets at all times, but not at the expense of sacrificing the safety of school children.

Other school recommendations made by the grand jury were:

"We believe that regardless of the age of the school building there is no excuse for unsanitary lavatories and unclean toilets. Regular inspection of the premises should be made by those in charge of schools and janitors should be fully instructed.

"Explosive or inflammable materials should be stored separately and care should be used in avoiding unnecessary fire hazard.

"We recommend that the county building inspector be requested to notify those in charge of schools of the danger of stringing loose wires on stages and the danger of attempting to combat an electric fire with water.

Funds on Deposit

"We recommend that no student of school funds be kept on deposit in any one bank beyond the amount that can be legally guaranteed.

"We recommend that all school nurses take up ailments of children with teachers or parents rather than the child.

"Our survey revealed the fact that several schools damaged by the earthquake were carrying on in temporary rooms or buildings. These schools are being conducted efficiently even though in the face of unusual difficulties.

"The school committee was asked to examine into the sale of a mountain cabin by the Fullerton Union High school. The cabin cost approximately $1450 and was sold without bids for $175, plus $75 for furnishings. The committee was advised that the property was offered for several months before a buyer could be obtained.

"At the recommendation of last year's grand jury, a committee was appointed by the county superintendent of schools in conjunction with the presiding judge of the superior court, for the purpose of making an investigation of school expenses. This committee reported that they were unable to properly compare school costs from the existing records.

"We agree with the former grand jury that this matter should be done and, therefore, recommend that each major school district consider the advisability of having available cost information on the same accounting principals."

Outside Practice

While complimenting the handling of his office by District Attorney S. B. Kaufman the grand jury recommended that as soon as conditions permit the salaries of the prosecutor and his staff be increased. This report was in connection with the practice of deputies taking private practice.

On this matter the report stated: "With respect to complaints regarding certain members of the staff in taking private practice, we believe that under existing economic conditions and the low salaries paid to members of the district attorney's office that the practice is justified to a certain extent, if the privilege is not abused and does not interfere with their official duties. The grand jury recommends however, that as soon as conditions will permit the salaries of the district attorney and his staff be raised to a level commensurate with the importance of the office and the privat practice be discontinued.

"We recommend that the district attorney occasionally investigate in different townships as to conduct and efficiency of his deputies and it might be advisable to transfer them periodically to different sections of the county."

Probation Department

In connection with the Probation department the report said in part:

"All juveniles are committed according to court order, some in private homes at the rate of $22.50 per month; some in the detention home; and some in other institutions.

"Our recommendations are that the probation department is being operated efficiently, fairly and economically."

Detention Home

"During the year 1933, the number of juveniles in said home ranged from 25 to 53 per month.

"The home is being conducted economically. The salaries are nominal, the warden receiving $100 per month for full time duty with one day a week off. Meals are served at cost from six to eight cents each.

"The home is neat and clean, and from all appearances it seems that the juveniles are being given proper care and guidance."

County Library

"We recommend that additional shelving and cabinet space be provided in the main office. This, we feel, is badly needed for the betterment of routine work, as well as for the protection of books. Inquiry at branch and school libraries showed that the county library is being operated efficiently."

Water, Cemetery and Sanitary Districts

"The above mentioned districts were considered to be operating in a satisfactory manner."

Justice Courts and Constables

"We were informed that the several constables throughout the county are now furnishing proper itemized expense lists to the county auditor. The previous grand jury recommended that the several justice courts be furnished with standard, consecutively numbered, triplicate receipt forms and that these forms be used for all items in cash received by the justice courts.

"In view of the number of small clerical errors located by the auditors, it would seem advisable that this again be recommended."

Cities

"The cities throughout Orange county seem to be operating efficiently and economically.

"Due to the fluctuating condition of the bond market, city treasurers should use particular care in maintaining sufficient collateral for the protection of all cities' funds in deposit in banks. Care should be taken in seeing that city property is adequately covered by insurance.

"A condition existing in the city of Brea wherein insufficient collateral was on deposit for the protection of city funds, and it was also discovered that interest was not being paid on some of the city's funds deposited in the bank. Since then, however, this matter has been corrected.

"We do not believe that the city of Anaheim and the city of Newport Beach have sufficient collateral on deposit with the treasurer to protect the funds now on deposit in closed banks."

County Assessor

"We have found the records in this office are being carefully handled and all recorded collections on accounts of unsecured personal property taxes have been properly accounted for. Cooperation between three offices: assessor, tax collector and auditor, has improved during the past year and further cooperation should be expected in the future."

Tax Collector

"We found that the tax collector's office is handled in a very efficient manner."

County Auditor

"It is our belief that this office is operating very efficiently and economically."

Coroner and Public Administrator

"In our opinion the office is being handled very efficiently."

Recorder

"In our opinion this office is being operated in an economical manner and records are accessible and capably kept."

County Clerk

"This office has to do largely with financial matters and the condition of the same is reflected in the report of the auditors for the grand jury."

Treasurer

"In our opinion the office of the treasurer is being operated efficiently and proper precautions are taken to safeguard not only the funds on hand but the cash on deposit with various banks throughout the county.

"During the past two years nine banks in which the county had deposits have closed. Six of these up to December 31, 1933, have made settlement with the county treasurer in which the treasurer received the full amount of the deposit together with full interest earned."

Board of Supervisors

"Our examination of the various departments of the county government directly responsible to the board of supervisors would indicate that this body is composed of men of unquestioned integrity. Their duties are discharged as efficiently as the intricacies of modern politics will permit."

County Highways

"This department does work for outside parties for which a deposit is required to cover estimated costs and the examination of the records shows that the county is being reimbursed for such work.

"Inspection by the committee has disclosed nothing of any consequence to criticise in this department."

County Parks

The report mentioned Irvine park, Westminster park, a park in Garden Grove, that is practically unimproved and Aliso park on the beach at the mouth of Aliso creek. The last named park, the report pointed out offers a beach frontage available to the general public.

The report said: "We recommend that a classified gross business record be kept by the concessionnaire of Irvine park for the benefit of the board of supervisors in determining the proper rental charge.

County Surveyor

"We find the county surveyor's office in capable hands."

Purchasing Agent

"This office appears to be capably and economically managed."

Farm Adviser

"The salary of the farm adviser is not paid by the county of Orange but is taken care of by the state, cooperating with the state university. The expense budget is not large. Valuable information is made available to the farmers and would appear to justify the office."

County Agricultural Commissioner

"The work of this department is most important as Orange county is primarily agricultural."

Court House and Grounds

"We question the legal right of the board of supervisors to pay rent for the Farm Bureau and recommend that the bureau provide its own quarters.

"We also recommend that the county anticipate the use of the ground upon which is located the building owned by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce (this lease expires February, 1935) and suggest that space be provided for the purpose in the city hall."

Sheriff's Office and Jail

"The sheriff's office was found to be handled in a very efficient manner and we feel that Orange county is fortunate in having a man of the character and ability of Logan Jackson in charge of the department.

"We recommend that an appropriation be made to furnish regulation jail uniforms, and that these be furnished each prisoner when entering the jail, and his or her clothing be placed in safe keeping during the time of his or her incarceration.

"As additional work has been placed upon the stenographer in the identification bureau since the installation of the teletype system, we recommend that another girl be employed temporarily at least.

"The identification bureau is handled in a most efficient manner and too much credit cannot be given to Mr. Zabel for the success of this department.

"We believe that employes of the jail, consisting of the jailer and his assistants, are entitled to one day a week off and that some provision should be made to accomplish this.

"It appears that a critical condition might present itself some time at night when there is only one jailer on duty."

County Hospital

"As stated by the previous grand jury, Orange county should be proud of its hospital, which appears to be managed in an efficient and businesslike manner.

"As some complaints have come to the grand jury committee by physicians in the county relative to appointment to the hospital staff it might be advisable to devise a new plan whereby an additional number of doctors might serve on the staff. It appears that many of the doctors now serving have been doing so for a number of years, and although the valuable services are appreciated, it might be suggested that these experienced doctors remain in the advisory capacity and others be privileged to work on the staff. This should be accomplished, however, without in any way lowering the standards which have been maintained during the past.

"We recommend the discontinuance of purchasing from chain stores not operated by Orange county residents."

Health Department

"This department is being handled quite satisfactorily and there is little doubt that it has done a great deal to create and stimulate a healthy condition throughout the county."

"It might be advisable to have all school nurses come under direction of the health department, either directly or indirectly."

Welfare Department

The committee commended Director B. V. Curry for his administration of the Welfare Department and said:

"Although the demands made of this department have been heavy, the needs of the people of the county have been met to the extent that there has been no starvation, and no one eligible to legally receive aid has been refused up to the limit of funds and supplies available.'"

Personnel

The grand jury was sworn November 16, last by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel who appointed Spurgeon as chairman. At the organization meeting W. J. Tway was named secretary but later replaced at his request by Mrs. Tuthill.

The grand jury this year set aside Wednesday of each week as the time when people with complaints, or other business could appear before the inquisitorial body.

Following organization of the group into committees the matter of selecting an auditor to make a financial audit of the various county offices was taken up and the Santa Ana firm of Crenshaw, Diehl and Wright was employed at a contract price of $2250. This audit has been compared, accepted and filed with the county clerk.

Many individual committee reports, according to the report, together with supplemental data also will be filed with the county clerk for the information and assistance of succeeding grand juries.

"We also recommend that the county anticipate the use of the ground upon which is located the building owned by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce (this lease expires February, 1935) and suggest that space be provided for the purpose in the city hall."

Sheriff's Office and Jail

"The sheriff's office was found to be handled in a very efficient manner and we feel that Orange county is fortunate in having a man of the character and ability of Logan Jackson in charge of the department.

"We recommend that an appropriation be made to furnish regulation jail uniforms, and that these be furnished each prisoner when entering the jail, and his or her clothing be placed in safe keeping during the time of his or her incarceration.

"As additional work has been placed upon the stenographer in the identification bureau since the installation of the teletype system, we recommend that another girl be employed temporarily at least.

"The identification bureau is handled in a most efficient manner and too much credit cannot be given to Mr. Zabel for the success of this department.

"We believe that employes of the jail, consisting of the jailer and his assistants, are entitled to one day a week off and that some provision should be made to accomplish this.

"It appears that a critical condition might present itself some time at night when there is only one jailer on duty."

County Hospital

"As stated by the previous grand jury, Orange county should be proud of its hospital, which appears to be managed in an efficient and businesslike manner.

"As some complaints have come to the grand jury committee by physicians in the county relative to appointment to the hospital staff it might be advisable to devise a new plan whereby an additional number of doctors might serve on the staff. It appears that many of the doctors now serving have been doing so for a number of years, and although the valuable services are appreciated, it might be suggested that these experienced doctors remain in the advisory capacity and others be privileged to work on the staff. This should be accomplished, however, without in any way lowering the standards which have been maintained during the past.

"We recommend the discontinuance of purchasing from chain stores not operated by Orange county residents."

Health Department

"This department is being handled quite satisfactorily and there is little doubt that it has done a great deal to create and stimulate a healthy condition throughout the county."

"It might be advisable to have all school nurses come under direction of the health department, either directly or indirectly."

Welfare Department

The committee commended Director B. V. Curry for his administration of the Welfare Department and said:

"Although the demands made of this department have been heavy, the needs of the people of the county have been met to the extent that there has been no starvation, and no one eligible to legally receive aid has been refused up to the limit of funds and supplies available.'"

Personnel

The grand jury was sworn November 16, last by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel who appointed Spurgeon as chairman. At the organization meeting W. J. Tway was named secretary but later replaced at his request by Mrs. Tuthill.

The grand jury this year set aside Wednesday of each week as the time when people with complaints, or other business could appear before the inquisitorial body.

Following organization of the group into committees the matter of selecting an auditor to make a financial audit of the various county offices was taken up and the Santa Ana firm of Crenshaw, Diehl and Wright was employed at a contract price of $2250. This audit has been compared, accepted and filed with the county clerk.

Many individual committee reports, according to the report, together with supplemental data also will be filed with the county clerk for the information and assistance of succeeding grand juries.

POLITICS TO BE TOPIC FOR WALTER MILLS

"Are Political Parties a Necessary Evil?" will be the subject of a lecture by Dr. Walter Thomas Millis, popular author, lecturer, technocrat and crusader at the People's Forum Third and Bush streets, at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Dr. Millis' long experience with all phases of political party activity during 50 years in various parts of the United States, in England and in Australia make him particularly well qualified to analyze the question of the desirability and necessity of partisan politics, according to Harry S. Gerhart, director of the People's Forum, who has presented the crusader many times in Santa Ana.

Dr. Millis has been an active campaigner in every progressive movement within and without the political parties for 50 years. He has joined with the progressive forces of every party when the principle involved measured up to political philosophy of this close student of history and government and economics. He has also worked in many non-partisan movements when these seemed to be the more effective method toward certain goals," said Gerhart.

"He was an active participator in the Non-Partisan League in North Dakota and he has promised to tell of the activities of the six states in the Northwestern part of the United States which now have a non-partisan system of self-government and to compare their success or lack of it with the party governed states."

An open forum session will follow the regular lecture and the public is invited.

MAKE ARRESTS IN SKYLIGHT BURGLARY CASE

Arrested in Lynwood while burglarizing a drugstore, three Belevedere Gardens youths have admitted entering the Givens-Cannon drug store, Fourth and Ross streets, and are believed by police to have been the same men who burglarized the Washington Market, both of which were entered early Saturday morning.

The men in custody are Glenn F. Nelson, 22, Jack L. Nelson, 21 and Elmer E. Van Wyck, 23, Lynwood police saw them on a roof opening a skylight and captured them after a short chase. They were carrying four guns but offered no resistance. They were implicated in seven burglaries and will be tried in Los Angeles. It is doubtful if they will be returned here for prosecution.

Although the men confessed to entering the drug store, stealing about $70 in cash and ransacking the store before they were scared away, they have denied any part in the Washington Market burglary. Detective Sergeant C. W. Wolford has convincing proof, however, that both jobs were perpetrated by the same men.

Same Procedure

The skylights in both stores were opened in exactly the same manner and two expensive brands of cigarettes were ignored in each store while all other brands were taken. Fifteen cartons were stolen from the market, in addition to $65 in cash taken from the meat department.

The suspects cleared up the mystery of why they left all their loot in an alley at the rear of the drug store. They said that after entering through the skylight and packing candy, tobacco and a radio, valued at more than $100, in empty cartons, they walked out of the store to get their parked automobile and load up. By a coincidence, Officers W. E. B. Sherwood and F. L. Grouard drove up to the corner at 1 a. m. to make their customary telephone call to the police station. Seeing the officers phone, the men thought they were under suspicion and speeded away, leaving their tools and loot in the store.

Discovered Later

The burglary was not discovered until 3:45 a. m., when Officers W. H. Heard and R. S. Elliott stopped their police car to remove a garbage can which had blown into the street. They saw the cartons in the alley and found the rear door standing open. A few minutes before, Sherwood had walked past the front of the store but did not notice the burglary.

Wolford found several fingerprints in the drug store after the burglary, one of which was made by Van Wyck. Considerable loot was recovered in Lynwood, including two radios, drug merchandise and about $100 in cash. The men had sold the cigarettes. It is thought they had burglarized several drug stores in Southern California from the expert manner in which they gained entrance to the Santa Ana stores.

Although the burglars said they came to California from the east only a short time ago, police are checking the theory that they might be responsible for several other burglaries in recent months.

Mayor Witmer Gets Promotion

SELECT MUSIC FOR ANNUAL MILITARY BALL

One of the most important details in connection with the Sixth Annual Military Ball to be given February 22 at the Valencia Ballroom was completed with the selection of Everett Hoagland's Rendezvous orchestra, according to Harry S. Pickard, commander of Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, sponsors of this annual social affair for the purpose of creating funds to care for disabled veterans and their families throughout Orange county.

J. Riley Huber, chairman of the music committee, announced the acquisition of this noted 12-piece orchestra, under the leadership of Everett Hoagland to present a program of late dance favorites. This musical organization was greeted with a vociferous reception at last year's ball and an excellent dance floor at the Valencia Ballroom will assure a fine evening's dance program for the hundreds of patrons who will be in attendance, Huber said.

This band features Craig Leitch, formerly with Paul Whiteman's celebrated musical organization. In addition, Jackie Pierce, a juvenile with a pleasing personality, will add to the evening's entertainment. Assisting Huber on this assignment were W. B. Williams, T. E. Stephenson and Judge Frank C. Drumm.

The ballroom will present a patriotic appearance that evening, decorations being under the direction of Mrs. Fannie E. Reeves, known as "Mother Reeves" to all veterans in the county, who has been responsible for an appropriate atmosphere at all previous military balls.

Unprecedented crowds are expected on Washington's Birthday as the fine floor at the Valencia was highly praised after last year's function and the amplifiers convey the music to even the remotest corners of the hall which adds greatly to the patrons' pleasure, Pickard said. Excellent reports are being received daily from all parts of the county on ticket sales and a very successful evening, financially as well as socially, is anticipated by the Citizens committee cooperating with officers of Jack Fisher chapter, D. A. V.

Radio Program For Foreign War Vets

A large delegation from Ernest L. Kellogg post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Auxiliary, will attend ceremonies to be held in Los Angeles by V. F. W. posts tonight in connection with the third annual "Hello America" radio broadcast to be presented tonight when candidates all over the nation will be initiated.

The radio program will be broadcast from 9:15 p. m. to 10 p. m., Glenn Hendrickson announced, and will be a dramatic and impressive affair.

MAY GET U. S. FUNDS FOR USE OF STUDENTS

Students who are unable to go to Santa Ana Junior college unless they receive financial aid will be able to get it from the school if an application made to the government by President D. K. Hammond today is granted.

Colleges are being given $950 per month until June for school work to be done by needy students, each worker receiving from $10 to $20 per month for work specified by local school authorities, it is reported.

Work will be divived proportionately between men and women, according to the number of each in the school, it is planned.

"If any of this money is being given to junior colleges we feel sure of receiving our share," Hammond said.

No answer is anticipated to the request for about three weeks, Hammond said.

ENFORCEMENT OF STATE DOG LAW TO BEGIN

Enforcement of state laws requiring all dogs over three months of age in the unincorporated areas of the county to be licensed will be started Friday as a precautionary measure to protect stock and safeguard health.

County Poundmaster Harold Pickering, 1046 Myrtle street, announced today that license tags would go on sale Friday in the office of the county clerk, health department or from himself. Fees will be 50 cents per year for a dog, with the entire proceeds going to the upkeep of the county pound on North Bristol street, use in humane work, and paying for the expenses of catching the dogs.

Pickering pointed out that especially in the thickly populated Mexican districts, large numbers of dogs are allowed to stray over the country and menace children and citizens. He said there was little or no complaint from ranchers owning dogs but that the licenses would be charged to enable steps to be taken in eliminating the health danger.

The state law provides that licenses must be secured but was never enforced in this county. A group of ranchers banded together in asking for enforcement.

If a dog is picked up by the dog catcher and has been licensed, the owner will be notified and the dog released without charge on the first offense. If a dog is untagged, it will be kept for three days and then destroyed or sold, unless claimed and the license fee paid.

Pickering said that under the state law, any dog found on any school ground shall be impounded, whether licensed or not.

TUSTIN WOMAN FACING MORALS CHARGE TODAY

The case of Mrs. Selma O'Tero, Tustin matron accused of contributing to the delinquency of her three children is being tried before a jury in department one, superior court today with Deputy District Attorney Preston Turner completing his arguments just before the noon recess.

Mrs. O'Tero is charged by the district attorney with contributing to the delinquency of her three children through the possession and sale of liquor in her home and through serving liquor to persons in the home. Her daughter, Beatrice, recently was acquitted on a charge of obstructing and resisting officers in the discharge of their duty and Mrs. O'Tero's father, Teofilo Manriquez, was found guilty on the same charge as a result of a raid conducted several months ago by Chief of Police John Stanton of Tustin and deputy sheriffs. Manriquez plans to appeal from the verdict returned in superior court.

Yesterday afternoon considerable levity was created in court when Defense Attorney N. D. Meyers objected to the testimony of one prosecuting witness. The witness testified that Mrs. O'Tero had told him that wine she was serving contained between 10 and 11 per cent alcohol. Meyers objected to the testimony on the grounds that "what Mrs. O'Tero told the witness was only sales talk."

Colleges are being given $950 per month until June for school work to be done by needy students, each worker receiving from $10 to $20 per month for work specified by local school authorities, it is reported.

Work will be divived proportionately between men and women, according to the number of each in the school, it is planned.

"If any of this money is being given to junior colleges we feel sure of receiving our share," Hammond said.

No answer is anticipated to the request for about three weeks, Hammond said.

ENFORCEMENT OF STATE DOG LAW TO BEGIN

Enforcement of state laws requiring all dogs over three months of age in the unincorporated areas of the county to be licensed will be started Friday as a precautionary measure to protect stock and safeguard health.

County Poundmaster Harold Pickering, 1046 Myrtle street, announced today that license tags would go on sale Friday in the office of the county clerk, health department or from himself. Fees will be 50 cents per year for a dog, with the entire proceeds going to the upkeep of the county pound on North Bristol street, use in humane work, and paying for the expenses of catching the dogs.

Pickering pointed out that especially in the thickly populated Mexican districts, large numbers of dogs are allowed to stray over the country and menace children and citizens. He said there was little or no complaint from ranchers owning dogs but that the licenses would be charged to enable steps to be taken in eliminating the health danger.

The state law provides that licenses must be secured but was never enforced in this county. A group of ranchers banded together in asking for enforcement.

If a dog is picked up by the dog catcher and has been licensed, the owner will be notified and the dog released without charge on the first offense. If a dog is untagged, it will be kept for three days and then destroyed or sold, unless claimed and the license fee paid.

Pickering said that under the state law, any dog found on any school ground shall be impounded, whether licensed or not.

TUSTIN WOMAN FACING MORALS CHARGE TODAY

The case of Mrs. Selma O'Tero, Tustin matron accused of contributing to the delinquency of her three children is being tried before a jury in department one, superior court today with Deputy District Attorney Preston Turner completing his arguments just before the noon recess.

Mrs. O'Tero is charged by the district attorney with contributing to the delinquency of her three children through the possession and sale of liquor in her home and through serving liquor to persons in the home. Her daughter, Beatrice, recently was acquitted on a charge of obstructing and resisting officers in the discharge of their duty and Mrs. O'Tero's father, Teofilo Manriquez, was found guilty on the same charge as a result of a raid conducted several months ago by Chief of Police John Stanton of Tustin and deputy sheriffs. Manriquez plans to appeal from the verdict returned in superior court.

Yesterday afternoon considerable levity was created in court when Defense Attorney N. D. Meyers objected to the testimony of one prosecuting witness. The witness testified that Mrs. O'Tero had told him that wine she was serving contained between 10 and 11 per cent alcohol. Meyers objected to the testimony on the grounds that "what Mrs. O'Tero told the witness was only sales talk."

A Quicker Way To Ease Headaches

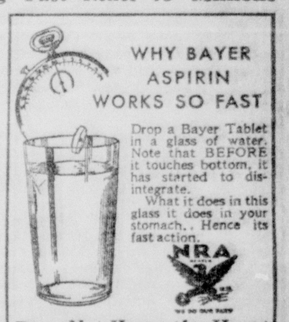

A Discovery that's Bringing Fast Relief to Millions

Now comes amazingly quick relief from headaches, rheumatism, neuritis, neuralgia . . . the fastest safe relief, it is said, yet discovered.

Those results are due to a scientific discovery by which a Bayer Aspirin Tablet begins to dissolve, or disintegrate, in the amazing space of two seconds after touching moisture. And hence to start "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.

The illustration of the glass, here, tells the story. A Bayer Tablet starts to disintegrate almost instantly you swallow it. And thus is ready to go to work almost instantly.

When you buy, though, see that you get the Genuine BAYER Aspirin. For Bayer Aspirin's quick relief always say "BAYER Aspirin."

-- News Behind The News --

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon

FALLING OUT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—There was a rather serious row in the inner circle about the export-import bank matter.

It may lead to the retirement of George Peek as presidential adviser on foreign trade.

Apparently Mr. Peek sold Mr. Roosevelt the scheme for making the bank a great credit pool, lending money to foreign nations to buy our goods. The Hull-Roper faction objected strenuously. They want to promote foreign trade through tariff bargaining.

Because of their objections, Mr. Roosevelt recalled his executive order creating the bank and radically limited its field of operations. He gave it only eleven million dollars instead of a hundred million and decreed that it should extend credits only to Russia.

CONSEQUENCES

The Hull crowd is whispering the word around that Mr. Roosevelt will keep the bank confined to Russia. They assert the president is definitely against the general policy of lending more money abroad for any purpose. He regards the Russian situation as exceptional.

That undoubtedly means State Secretary Hull and Commerce Secretary Roper will run the foreign trade policy, which leaves Mr. Peek out in the cold.

Incidentally, Mr. Peek never established his office in the state department building. He is still down at his agricultural office. The state department people have a fixed policy ignoring him. They have more or less resented his intrusion in what they consider to be their own business and insist they do not even know Mr. Peek has been working on foreign trade.

* * *

BOYS

Jesse Jones has a peculiar technique for handling the business giants with whom he does business through the RFC.

Recently he called a conference of the heads of all companies in one of the largest industries. One of the companies wanted a loan from the RFC to save it from bankruptcy. Jones did not want to make the loan, but he wanted to save the company.

When he got the industrialists around a table, Jones started off the conference by saying:

"When I was a little boy, the dog of one of my playmates died. The boy felt awfully bad about it and we wanted to do something for him. Another kid came forward and said: 'I feel sorry 25 cents worth' and put down a quarter. Another kid did the same thing, and soon we had enough to buy a new dog."

Jones looked around the table, raised his eyebrows and awaited the response. Soon one big shot mumbled: "All right, I feel sorry $100,000 worth." The others chipped in similarly.

* * *

WITS

On another occasion, Jones was having trouble getting his associates to see an issue his way. Again he began:

"When I was a little boy, there was a family living near ours that had as many children as we had. One day we all went to visit them. Each of us had to play with the kid nearest his own age. The kid nearest my age was a half-wit.

"A couple of weeks later this family returned the visit and again I had to play with the half-wit.

"'Good heavens,' I thought, 'will I always have to be with half-wits?'"

* * *

FINANCING

Treasury Secretary Morgenthau is handling his financing in a shrewd way. Instead of waiting until he needs the money, he is feeding out his new securities on a time schedule. It calls for issuance of about a billion dollars a month until the end of the fiscal year.

Under that system Morgenthau is always ahead of the game and no one knows exactly what his need for money is. His interest rate probably will be boosted slightly on the next issue.

* * *

FOAM

The statement of Assistant War Secretary Woodring which drew the wrath of the White House down upon his head was:

"We do not desire to make soldiers out of the CCC boys against their will, but we do desire to help direct and develop this great experiment in long range social economics and in physical training. If the army were so directed, it could organize the veterans of the World War, the CCC men and through them the emergency relief into a system of economic storm troops that could support the government's efforts to smash the depression.

That sort of talk has been going around on the inside for some time. It is quite possible that something along that line might be attempted if the need for it should develop. Certainly there is no need for it now and there may never be.

* * *

RELIEF

Legislators are talking about ultimate reorganization of the CWA, CCC and other relief agencies on permanent lines to care for the one to two million men who are normally out of work even in good times.

They are assuming that Mr. Roosevelt will not hand the relief problem back to those community agencies which handled it before the existing emergency.

Mr. Roosevelt has made no decision about that.

NOTES

The NRA is filled with army men from General Johnson on down, including Colonel Lee, Major Mitchell, Johnson's son, Lieut. Early and many others. It takes all kinds of people to make a new deal.

FRANCE

There's plenty of T. N. T. left in the French situation.

Insiders will tell you that Doumergue's personal popularity cannot carry him far. His coalition cabinet will be a source of weakness instead of strength. There are too many mutually jealous prima donnas in his supporting cast for harmonious action unless they are ruled with an iron rod—and Doumergue isn't built that way.

Also the French are thoroughly fed up with politicians. The recent riots were rooted in that disgust. Doumergue's cabinet presents an inviting target for the discontented and they'll be heard from again.

A second basis for the Parisian stampede was a deep fear of Germany and contempt for the weak governments which have let Hitler get away with so much. Doumergue's inability to do anything about this will also tend to shorten his reign.

* * *

THREE

Watch General Weygand. Marshal Foch's former Chief of Staff will be an increasingly important figure from now on. He has no Napoleonic ambitions of his own but he can come pretty close to telling any government what to do and easing it out the window if it shows a disposition to argue.

Informed insiders would not be surprised to see French destinies handed over soon to a triumvirate similar to those of Roman history and the early French Revolution. The French Parliament might confer emergency powers upon them and then virtually abdicate its own authority. The hint is that powerful army circles favor this solution.

Weygand would certainly be one of the three. Tardieu might be the second. Caillaux—despite the sinister pattern in his background—might also figure in the picture as a financial expert.

Could national unity be achieved by such an arrangement? New Yorkers who know France well believe a little judicious bloody-shirt waving in Hitler's direction would accomplish miracles.

* * *

FRANC

Ironically the French crisis has probably postponed devaluation of the franc. The French peasant—who is a tough hombre when roused—remembers what devaluation did to his hoarded savings last time and is set to take it out of the hide of anyone who tries it again. Only a government with strong military support and beyond political retribution could get away with it now.

Financial experts point out that France could maintain the fiction of remaining on the gold standard even with an embargo in force. She would only have to do what Germany has already done and would be in a stronger position to do it.

* * *

ENTENTE

Poor France is having her troubles with her smaller European allies too. First Poland gets thicker than honey with Germany and now the Little Entente is showing signs of breaking away from French domination.

Czecho-Slovakia has taken the initiative in fostering a commercial agreement among the Entente countries to raise the volume of their trade with one another by 50 per cent. Behind this trade bond is a more important drive for political unity of the Entente countries and gradual independence of their patron.

* * *

WAR

Here is the inside analysis of the European war scare as given by local experts:

1. The eastern situation is working against any immediate explosion in Europe. Britain, France and Germany collectively hope to benefit from a Russo-Japanese squabble.

2. All European governments today fear the growing strength of Revolutionary anti-war movements and the overthrow of their regimes if workers and peasants were mobilized and armed. A high Nazi official recently admitted confidentially that the Brown Shirts would be just as likely to shoot down the present government as the "national enemy."

Mussolini is reported as doubting the wisdom of arming his peasants and laborers. France has had continual anti-war demonstrations in the past eighteen months. In Britain anti-war committees have sprung up like mushrooms with plenty of political support from the Left.

SHIPS

Shipping circles report a revolutionary development in the British "Arcform" ships just completed with great secrecy and launched to carry coal to South America. They burn twenty per cent less coal than any other vessel afloat and promise hot competition for oil burners. Also they carry two hundred and forty tons more cargo than other ships of the same dead weight. Coal burners hope this invention means a revival of their fallen fortunes.

* * *

VERBOTEN

The German government's official Gazette carries a weekly list of articles of all kinds approved or disapproved by the Nazi authorities. Some dolls in storm-trooper uniforms were put in the "verboten" column "because they do not show a true military bearing."

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?

Do you know why external remedies do not give quick and permanent relief?

Why cutting does not remove the cause?

Do you know the cause of Piles is internal?

That there is congestion of blood in the lower bowel—the veins flabby, the parts almost dead?

Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy for itching, bleeding or protruding piles discovered by Dr. Leonhardt and known as HEM-ROID that is guaranteed?

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the cause. It stimulates the circulation in the lower bowel—drives out the thick impure blood, heals and restores the affected parts.

Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID has an almost unbelievable record of success. So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when McCoy's and Walgreen drug stores invite every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if it does not end their Piles, no matter how stubborn the case?—Adv.

Miss Opal Estes, leader of the group, and Miss Ethel Munford, secretary of the Y. W. C. A. for northern Orange county, assisted them in learning some new camp songs. The meeting next Monday night will be devoted to making book ends from coffee cans.

The girls attending the party were Mary Edna McCabe, Marian Bush, Audrey Muzzall, Thelma Todd, Phyllis Manis, Helen Crowe, Doris Reed, Adele Hood, Juanita Danielely, Frances Wallace and Virginia Burke.

CAST PREPARES 'DESERT SONG' PRESENTATION

FULLERTON, Feb. 15.—Work on the romantic operetta, "The Desert Song," to be presented by students of Fullerton District Junior college and Union High school March 1-3, is progressing rapidly under the joint direction of Mrs. Esther Culp Litchfield, drama; Benjamin Edwards, vocal; Miss Ruth Tilton, music, and Harold Walberg, orchestra.

At the raising of the curtain in the first act, the Riff chorus of 29 men, picturesque in highly colorful costumes, will be seen lounging around a campfire at the desert hideout of the "Red Shadow." At his entrance the Riff band, led by Hassi (Ted Scott) and Sid El Kar (Orville Burns) sings the stirring "Riff Song."

As the highlight of the first act, the "Red Shadow" (played alternately by John Shea and James Baker) joins with Margot (Georgia Carroll) in a rendition of "The Desert Song."

Benny (Elmer Wagner), a comical society correspondent of the Paris Daily, and his infatuated secretary, Susan (Vivian Reeves) with their "It" song and chorus of dancing girls create comedy throughout the performance.

Capt. Paul Fontaine (Vic Sutherlen) and his French legionaires; the harem of Ali Ben Ali which has 30 Spanish girls under the leadership of Clementina (Margaret Ruenitz); a chorus led by Azuri, native dancing girl; and a military tap ensemble led by Margot furnish outstanding scenes.

The entire harem led by Ali Ben Ali, Sid El Kar, and the "Red Shadow" close the second act by singing "Eastern and Western Love." In defiant reply the "Red Shadow" sings of his love for Margot in "One Alone." "The Desert Song" is the finale number sung by the whole ensemble.

Special singing and dancing girls who do outstanding work are Betty Fackiner, Mary Margaret Yonge, Charlotte Greenwalt, Phyllis Corcoran, Virginia Moffitt, Philura Felton, Irene Stanley, Ardis Eicher, Sarah Albee and Mary Ruth Moll.

NORWALK MAN HURT IN FALL OFF TANK

FULLERTON, Feb. 15.—Floyd Fulton, 27, of Norwalk, was seriously injured this morning when he fell from the top of a tank that was being moved on a truck. Fulton, an employe of the McMillan house moving firm, was assisting with the moving of the tank and near the school on Richfield road, near Atwood, he fell to the pavement and fractured his skull and sustained other injuries. The Seale ambulance of Fullerton moved him to the Whittier Memorial hospital for treatment.

The ambulance was again called to the high school campus where the CWA construction work is being carried on, to pick up J. E. Litchner, cement contractor, who was injured about the head when a heavy timber fell on him. His condition is not serious.

Whose Fault?

When a Child Won't Study

"Kept after school!" And it isn't the child's fault, or the teacher's. His mother is to blame. How can a boy get his lessons when his senses are dulled day after day by dosing with sickening purgatives? When a child's bowels are stagnant they need help, of course. But not some drastic drug to upset the stomach, perhaps weaken the entire system; or form the laxative habit. On the right, parents will find a happy solution of this problem: Here's a boy who gets good marks, has time and energy for play. He is never ill, hardly ever has so much as a cold. When he does show any symptoms of being sluggish, his mother knows just what to do. She gives him a little California Syrup of Figs—and that is all. It's a natural, fruity laxative that is agreeable to take, and its gentle laxative action comes from senna. Parents are urged to use just pure California Syrup of Figs. Be sure bottle says 'California'.

WASHINGTON

FALLING OUT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—There was a rather serious row in the inner circle about the export-import bank matter.

It may lead to the retirement of George Peek as presidential adviser on foreign trade.

Apparently Mr. Peek sold Mr. Roosevelt the scheme for making the bank a great credit pool, lending money to foreign nations to buy our goods. The Hull-Roper faction objected strenuously. They want to promote foreign trade through tariff bargaining.

Because of their objections, Mr. Roosevelt recalled his executive order creating the bank and radically limited its field of operations. He gave it only eleven million dollars instead of a hundred million and decreed that it should extend credits only to Russia.

CONSEQUENCES

The Hull crowd is whispering the word around that Mr. Roosevelt will keep the bank confined to Russia. They assert the president is definitely against the general policy of lending more money abroad for any purpose. He regards the Russian situation as exceptional.

That undoubtedly means State Secretary Hull and Commerce Secretary Roper will run the foreign trade policy, which leaves Mr. Peek out in the cold.

Incidentally, Mr. Peek never established his office in the state department building. He is still down at his agricultural office. The state department people have a fixed policy ignoring him. They have more or less resented his intrusion in what they consider to be their own business and insist they do not even know Mr. Peek has been working on foreign trade.

* * *

BOYS

Jesse Jones has a peculiar technique for handling the business giants with whom he does business through the RFC.

Recently he called a conference of the heads of all companies in one of the largest industries. One of the companies wanted a loan from the RFC to save it from bankruptcy. Jones did not want to make the loan, but he wanted to save the company.

When he got the industrialists around a table, Jones started off the conference by saying:

"When I was a little boy, the dog of one of my playmates died. The boy felt awfully bad about it and we wanted to do something for him. Another kid came forward and said: 'I feel sorry 25 cents worth' and put down a quarter. Another kid did the same thing, and soon we had enough to buy a new dog."

Jones looked around the table, raised his eyebrows and awaited the response. Soon one big shot mumbled: "All right, I feel sorry $100,000 worth." The others chipped in similarly.

* * *

WITS

On another occasion, Jones was having trouble getting his associates to see an issue his way. Again he began:

"When I was a little boy, there was a family living near ours that had as many children as we had. One day we all went to visit them. Each of us had to play with the kid nearest his own age. The kid nearest my age was a half-wit.

"A couple of weeks later this family returned the visit and again I had to play with the half-wit.

"'Good heavens,' I thought, 'will I always have to be with half-wits?'"

* * *

FINANCING

Treasury Secretary Morgenthau is handling his financing in a shrewd way. Instead of waiting until he needs the money, he is feeding out his new securities on a time schedule. It calls for issuance of about a billion dollars a month until the end of the fiscal year.

Under that system Morgenthau is always ahead of the game and no one knows exactly what his need for money is. His interest rate probably will be boosted slightly on the next issue.

* * *

FOAM

The statement of Assistant War Secretary Woodring which drew the wrath of the White House down upon his head was:

"We do not desire to make soldiers out of the CCC boys against their will, but we do desire to help direct and develop this great experiment in long range social economics and in physical training. If the army were so directed, it could organize the veterans of the World War, the CCC men and through them the emergency relief into a system of economic storm troops that could support the government's efforts to smash the depression.

That sort of talk has been going around on the inside for some time. It is quite possible that something along that line might be attempted if the need for it should develop. Certainly there is no need for it now and there may never be.

* * *

RELIEF

Legislators are talking about ultimate reorganization of the CWA, CCC and other relief agencies on permanent lines to care for the one to two million men who are normally out of work even in good times.

They are assuming that Mr. Roosevelt will not hand the relief problem back to those community agencies which handled it before the existing emergency.

Mr. Roosevelt has made no decision about that.

FRANCE

There's plenty of T. N. T. left in the French situation.

Insiders will tell you that Doumergue's personal popularity cannot carry him far. His coalition cabinet will be a source of weakness instead of strength. There are too many mutually jealous prima donnas in his supporting cast for harmonious action unless they are ruled with an iron rod—and Doumergue isn't built that way.

Also the French are thoroughly fed up with politicians. The recent riots were rooted in that disgust. Doumergue's cabinet presents an inviting target for the discontented and they'll be heard from again.

A second basis for the Parisian stampede was a deep fear of Germany and contempt for the weak governments which have let Hitler get away with so much. Doumergue's inability to do anything about this will also tend to shorten his reign.

* * *

THREE

Watch General Weygand. Marshal Foch's former Chief of Staff will be an increasingly important figure from now on. He has no Napoleonic ambitions of his own but he can come pretty close to telling any government what to do and easing it out the window if it shows a disposition to argue.

Informed insiders would not be surprised to see French destinies handed over soon to a triumvirate similar to those of Roman history and the early French Revolution. The French Parliament might confer emergency powers upon them and then virtually abdicate its own authority. The hint is that powerful army circles favor this solution.

Weygand would certainly be one of the three. Tardieu might be the second. Caillaux—despite the sinister pattern in his background—might also figure in the picture as a financial expert.

Could national unity be achieved by such an arrangement? New Yorkers who know France well believe a little judicious bloody-shirt waving in Hitler's direction would accomplish miracles.

* * *

FRANC

Ironically the French crisis has probably postponed devaluation of the franc. The French peasant—who is a tough hombre when roused—remembers what devaluation did to his hoarded savings last time and is set to take it out of the hide of anyone who tries it again. Only a government with strong military support and beyond political retribution could get away with it now.

Financial experts point out that France could maintain the fiction of remaining on the gold standard even with an embargo in force. She would only have to do what Germany has already done and would be in a stronger position to do it.

* * *

ENTENTE

Poor France is having her troubles with her smaller European allies too. First Poland gets thicker than honey with Germany and now the Little Entente is showing signs of breaking away from French domination.

Czecho-Slovakia has taken the initiative in fostering a commercial agreement among the Entente countries to raise the volume of their trade with one another by 50 per cent. Behind this trade bond is a more important drive for political unity of the Entente countries and gradual independence of their patron.

* * *

WAR

Here is the inside analysis of the European war scare as given by local experts:

1. The eastern situation is working against any immediate explosion in Europe. Britain, France and Germany collectively hope to benefit from a Russo-Japanese squabble.

2. All European governments today fear the growing strength of Revolutionary anti-war movements and the overthrow of their regimes if workers and peasants were mobilized and armed. A high Nazi official recently admitted confidentially that the Brown Shirts would be just as likely to shoot down the present government as the "national enemy."

Mussolini is reported as doubting the wisdom of arming his peasants and laborers. France has had continual anti-war demonstrations in the past eighteen months. In Britain anti-war committees have sprung up like mushrooms with plenty of political support from the Left.

SHIPS

Shipping circles report a revolutionary development in the British "Arcform" ships just completed with great secrecy and launched to carry coal to South America. They burn twenty per cent less coal than any other vessel afloat and promise hot competition for oil burners. Also they carry two hundred and forty tons more cargo than other ships of the same dead weight. Coal burners hope this invention means a revival of their fallen fortunes.

* * *

VERBOTEN

The German government's official Gazette carries a weekly list of articles of all kinds approved or disapproved by the Nazi authorities. Some dolls in storm-trooper uniforms were put in the "verboten" column "because they do not show a true military bearing."

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?

Do you know why external remedies do not give quick and permanent relief?

Why cutting does not remove the cause?

Do you know the cause of Piles is internal?

That there is congestion of blood in the lower bowel—the veins flabby, the parts almost dead?

Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy for itching, bleeding or protruding piles discovered by Dr. Leonhardt and known as HEM-ROID that is guaranteed?

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the cause. It stimulates the circulation in the lower bowel—drives out the thick impure blood, heals and restores the affected parts.

Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID has an almost unbelievable record of success. So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when McCoy's and Walgreen drug stores invite every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if it does not end their Piles, no matter how stubborn the case?—Adv.

CAST PREPARES 'DESERT SONG' PRESENTATION

FULLERTON, Feb. 15.—Work on the romantic operetta, "The Desert Song," to be presented by students of Fullerton District Junior college and Union High school March 1-3, is progressing rapidly under the joint direction of Mrs. Esther Culp Litchfield, drama; Benjamin Edwards, vocal; Miss Ruth Tilton, music, and Harold Walberg, orchestra.

At the raising of the curtain in the first act, the Riff chorus of 29 men, picturesque in highly colorful costumes, will be seen lounging around a campfire at the desert hideout of the "Red Shadow." At his entrance the Riff band, led by Hassi (Ted Scott) and Sid El Kar (Orville Burns) sings the stirring "Riff Song."

As the highlight of the first act, the "Red Shadow" (played alternately by John Shea and James Baker) joins with Margot (Georgia Carroll) in a rendition of "The Desert Song."

Benny (Elmer Wagner), a comical society correspondent of the Paris Daily, and his infatuated secretary, Susan (Vivian Reeves) with their "It" song and chorus of dancing girls create comedy throughout the performance.

Capt. Paul Fontaine (Vic Sutherlen) and his French legionaires; the harem of Ali Ben Ali which has 30 Spanish girls under the leadership of Clementina (Margaret Ruenitz); a chorus led by Azuri, native dancing girl; and a military tap ensemble led by Margot furnish outstanding scenes.

The entire harem led by Ali Ben Ali, Sid El Kar, and the "Red Shadow" close the second act by singing "Eastern and Western Love." In defiant reply the "Red Shadow" sings of his love for Margot in "One Alone." "The Desert Song" is the finale number sung by the whole ensemble.

Special singing and dancing girls who do outstanding work are Betty Fackiner, Mary Margaret Yonge, Charlotte Greenwalt, Phyllis Corcoran, Virginia Moffitt, Philura Felton, Irene Stanley, Ardis Eicher, Sarah Albee and Mary Ruth Moll.

Members of the military tap ensemble are Margie Rodger, Wilma Collman, Virginia Wilson, Ruth Marie Launer, Virginia Larson, Virginia Van Loon, Nora Planting, Mae Lyman, Clarice O'Flyng, Elileen Edwardson, Genevieve Port and Merife Miller.

Members of the Spanish dance group are Rosamund Prindle, Agnes La Force, Adeline Stemple, Louise Holdsworth, Betty Clay, Montene Hypolite, Katherine Prizer and Barbara Prizer.

Spanish girls are Betty Jean Bray, Violet Bielefeldt, Ella Mae Blackburn, Peggy Barth, Phylliss Boots, Marjorie Bradley, Katherine Dull, Ethel English, Ida May Hartmann, Marjorie Knight, Mozelle Lemons, Barbara Luff, Nadine McKinley, Evelyn McKinley, Lois McElheny, Rosamund Prindle, Maxine Parman, Gudrun Pettersen, Mary Quigley, Virginia Sanders, Elizabeth Steelman, Catherine Simmons, Margaret Sillivan, Dorothea Stewart, Ann Stanford, Lucille Tanner, Charlotte Waer, Dorothy Watson and Beverly Wilson.

NORWALK MAN HURT IN FALL OFF TANK

FULLERTON, Feb. 15.—Floyd Fulton, 27, of Norwalk, was seriously injured this morning when he fell from the top of a tank that was being moved on a truck. The Seale ambulance of Fullerton moved him to the Whittier Memorial hospital for treatment.

The ambulance was again called to the high school campus where the CWA construction work is being carried on, to pick up J. E. Litchner, cement contractor, who was injured about the head when a heavy timber fell on him. His condition is not serious.

Whose Fault?

When a Child Won't Study

"Kept after school!" And it isn't the child's fault, or the teacher's. His mother is to blame. How can a boy get his lessons when his senses are dulled day after day by dosing with sickening purgatives? When a child's bowels are stagnant they need help, of course. But not some drastic drug to upset the stomach, perhaps weaken the entire system; or form the laxative habit. On the right, parents will find a happy solution of this problem: Here's a boy who gets good marks, has time and energy for play. He is never ill, hardly ever has so much as a cold. When he does show any symptoms of being sluggish, his mother knows just what to do. She gives him a little California Syrup of Figs—and that is all. It's a natural, fruity laxative that is agreeable to take, and its gentle laxative action comes from senna. Parents are urged to use just pure California Syrup of Figs. Be sure bottle says 'California'.

COURT ORDER OPENS WAY FOR CITRUS CHECK

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—Just as California was slower to feel the depression, we are now somewhat behind the East in the feeling of confidence that conditions are looking up, in the opinion of C. C. Teague, who reported to the directors of the California Fruit Growers Exchange on his return from Washington and New York yesterday. Teague is president of the Exchange and chairman of the National Citrus Stabilization committee.

He explained that the position of leaders of the Florida citrus fruit industry with regard to national stabilization is a difficult one until their legal problems are settled. The federal circuit court of appeals has now issued an order staying until March 21 the injunction granted by the Florida district court against the prorating of shipments. This opens the way for resumption of regulation of orange and grapefruit shipments from Florida should the control committee then see their way clear to do so, according to Teague. It is understood that they are meeting later this week to consider such action.

"I was in New York when the market was demoralized by too heavy supplies of Florida citrus fruit," said Teague, "and it was a lesson that should teach any group the value of surplus control."

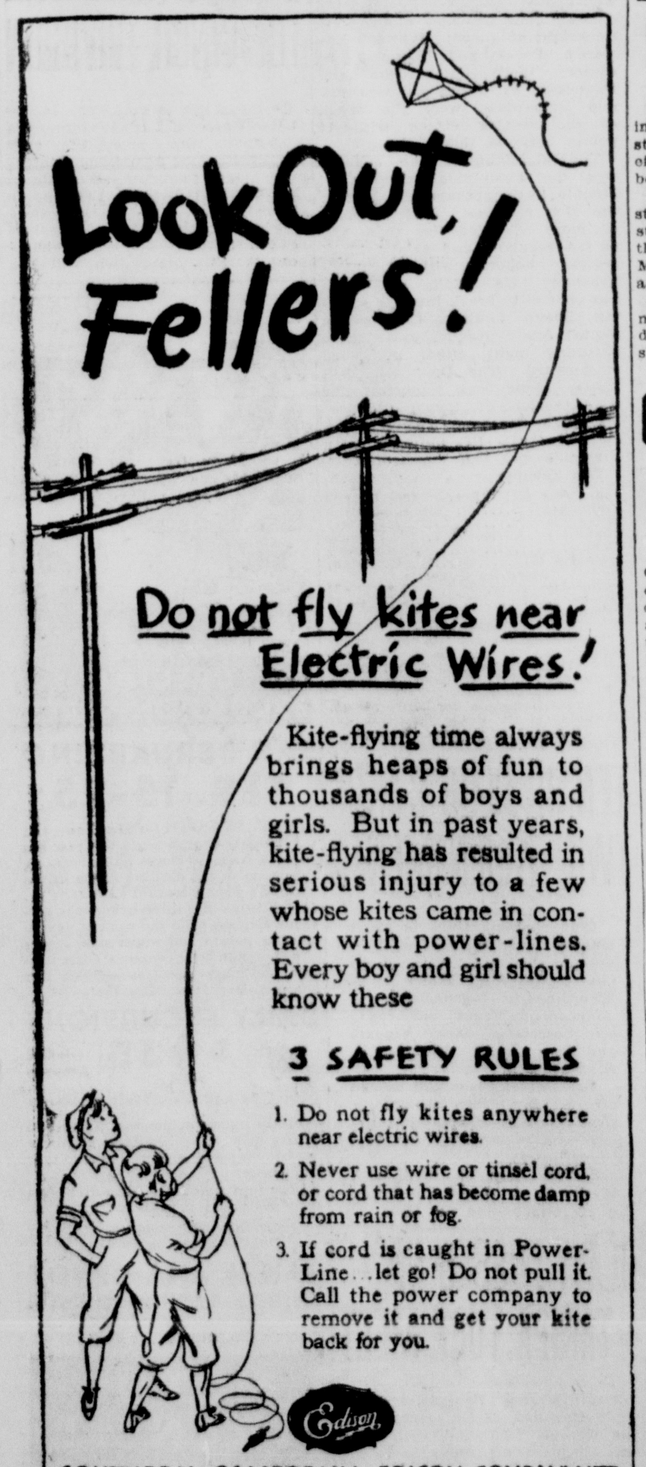

Speaking of relief legislation in general, Teague said, "I believe that if we succeed in substantially starting conditions on the upgrade by these devices of government, the price we are paying is not too high."

DECLARES REMEDY NEEDED IN NATION TODAY IS REMOVAL OF SOCIAL, ECONOMIC INJUSTICE

The only possible way out of this serious state of affairs which society is facing is the redistribution of wealth and power, the removal of economic and social injustice, as well as the freeing of courts of the nation from political manipulations and discrimination.

These statements were made by Mrs. Jennie Tessman of the Santa Ana Junior college faculty, principle address at the church night service in the First Methodist church last night. The dinner was sponsored by the Berean class. Following a dinner, A. J. Rutter led hymn singing with Esther Vogt at the piano.

Mrs. Tessman spoke on the subject, "Crime and Injustice" in her series of lectures on "Facing a New Era." She pointed out that most of the crimes committed now, or rather those which are growing most numerous, are crimes of necessity, such as stealing for food and clothing and atrocious crimes committed when cornered in these acts in order to save themselves from the desperation of starving or seeing their family starve.

Following the talk, the meeting was adjourned to classes, where the following talks were made: Mr. Gleason spoke on the subject, "How Many Parents of Young People Help They to Lay Solid Religious Foundations?"; Mrs. Morehouse on "The Effect of Liquor on the Body;" the Rev. Russel C. Stroup conducted the young people in a discussion on "Non-Resistance, Christ's Technique for Peace."

The Rev. George A. Warmer gave an excellent talk to a packed room on "How to Discover the Right." Mrs. Helen McArthur discussed "The Meaning and Purpose of Worship."

HELD FOR TRIAL ON BURGLARY CHARGE

Anthony O'Tero, charged with burglary in connection with the taking of two pairs of clippers from the barber shop of C. L. Gilham, 410 1-2 North Main street, was found guilty in justice court today and bound over to the superior court by Judge Kenneth Morrison.

Gilham, Virgil Evans, Mildred Murillo and Detective Sergeant C. W. Wolford, who arrested O'Tero, testified for the prosecution, after which Defense Attorney Arthur Koepsel had a motion for dismissal denied. He then introduced Robert Nelson and Ralph Ayou and again asked for dismissal, which was not granted.

O'Tero was accused of stealing the clippers on January 27 after he had sent the janitor of the building on an errand and then entered the unlocked barber shop. When arrested several days later, he had one of the clippers in his possession, officers said.

OIL CONCERN BUSINESS HERE MUCH BETTER

Santa Ana is one of the best centers for business in Southern California today, judging from records just issued by the local plant of the Gilmore Oil company, through its manager, M. W. Thome.

January volume of business in the Santa Ana Gilmore branch exceeded January, 1933, by 14 per cent, says Thome, and thus far in February a gain of 53 per cent has been registered over the corresponding period of last month.

"We are much encouraged over conditions in this territory," declared Thome today, "and we find that the growth here has been consistent for the past two years. This is indicated by the fact that the first six months of 1933 exceeded the last six months of 1932 by 11 per cent, and then the last six months of 1933 exceeded the first six months of 1933 by 12 per cent. With a further gain in gasoline gallonage so far in 1934, we are much gratified."

Thome was among the high men on the Gilmore Oil company's entire sales staff of the Pacific coast, in January, in the sale of lubrication oil. He went 84 per cent over the quota set for this district.

"We are looking forward with great interest to a visit that will be made to this territory, this coming Saturday," Thome said, "by Jack Clifford, who takes the part of 'The Sheriff' in the Gilmore radio circus, and our celebrated African lion, known as Gilmore jr.

"We are also much interested in the forthcoming stage appearance of the entire Gilmore Circus troupe, at the Long Beach automobile show, Friday night, February 23, at which time they will produce their regular Pacific coast broadcast direct from the stage of the Long Beach auditorium. Many of our dealers and customers here will be in attendance.

"Santa Ana will also send a big delegation to Los Angeles Sunday, February 18, to attend the Gilmore Gold Cup road race. This is for stock cars exclusively. It will be run on a new two-mile course at Mines field."

BACKFIRING MOTOR STARTLES SLEEPERS

Gang warfare did not break out in Santa Ana last night, although startled sleepers throughout the city were positive that shots were being fired.

Police were called at midnight to stop gun shooting on South Main street. An investigation revealed that Charles A. Jackson, 804 South Main street, was backfiring his automobile to resemble gunfire.

Jackson got a court citation for making too much noise and the disturbed citizenry went back to sleep.

CIANFONI RESIGNS AS BAND CONDUCTOR

D. C. Cianfoni, conductor of the Orange County Civic band, tendered his resignation as musical director of hte recently incorporated organization at a meeting of the directors held last night at rehearsal headquarters. The directors voted to accept the resignation with regrets.

Increasing demands upon his time in other teaching activities was given by Cianfoni as the reason for his resignation. Several proposals for a successor to Cianfoni are under consideration. Directors of the band are: L. M. Witty, Oswald Stock, Lyle Roberts, S. W. Holt, Hugh McMillan, Irven Couse and T. M. Flippen.

STOP THAT COLD THE FIRST DAY!

A cold once rooted is a cold in danger! Trust to no makeshift methods. A cold, being an internal infection, calls for internal treatment. A cold also calls for a COLD remedy and not a preparation good for a number of other things as well.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is what a cold requires. It is expressely a cold remedy. It is internal and direct—and it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels, combats the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grippy feeling and tones and fortifies the entire system. Anything less than that is inviting trouble. Get Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine at any druggist, 30 and 50c. Ask for it by the full name and accept no substitute on any pretext.—Adv.

Why run the risk of gangrene and such dangers from a small and innocent little rupture, the kind that has thrown thousands on the operating table? A host of men and women are daily running such risk just because their ruptures do not hurt or prevent them from getting around. DECLARES REMEDY NEEDED IN NATION TODAY IS REMOVAL OF SOCIAL, ECONOMIC INJUSTICE

The only possible way out of this serious state of affairs which society is facing is the redistribution of wealth and power, the removal of economic and social injustice, as well as the freeing of courts of the nation from political manipulations and discrimination.

These statements were made by Mrs. Jennie Tessman of the Santa Ana Junior college faculty, principle address at the church night service in the First Methodist church last night. The dinner was sponsored by the Berean class. Following a dinner, A. J. Rutter led hymn singing with Esther Vogt at the piano.

Mrs. Tessman spoke on the subject, "Crime and Injustice" in her series of lectures on "Facing a New Era." She pointed out that most of the crimes committed now, or rather those which are growing most numerous, are crimes of necessity, such as stealing for food and clothing and atrocious crimes committed when cornered in these acts in order to save themselves from the desperation of starving or seeing their family starve.

Following the talk, the meeting was adjourned to classes, where the following talks were made: Mr. Gleason spoke on the subject, "How Many Parents of Young People Help They to Lay Solid Religious Foundations?"; Mrs. Morehouse on "The Effect of Liquor on the Body;" the Rev. Russel C. Stroup conducted the young people in a discussion on "Non-Resistance, Christ's Technique for Peace."

The Rev. George A. Warmer gave an excellent talk to a packed room on "How to Discover the Right." Mrs. Helen McArthur discussed "The Meaning and Purpose of Worship."

HELD FOR TRIAL ON BURGLARY CHARGE

Anthony O'Tero, charged with burglary in connection with the taking of two pairs of clippers from the barber shop of C. L. Gilham, 410 1-2 North Main street, was found guilty in justice court today and bound over to the superior court by Judge Kenneth Morrison.

Gilham, Virgil Evans, Mildred Murillo and Detective Sergeant C. W. Wolford, who arrested O'Tero, testified for the prosecution, after which Defense Attorney Arthur Koepsel had a motion for dismissal denied. He then introduced Robert Nelson and Ralph Ayou and again asked for dismissal, which was not granted.

O'Tero was accused of stealing the clippers on January 27 after he had sent the janitor of the building on an errand and then entered the unlocked barber shop. When arrested several days later, he had one of the clippers in his possession, officers said.

OIL CONCERN BUSINESS HERE MUCH BETTER

Santa Ana is one of the best centers for business in Southern California today, judging from records just issued by the local plant of the Gilmore Oil company, through its manager, M. W. Thome.

January volume of business in the Santa Ana Gilmore branch exceeded January, 1933, by 14 per cent, says Thome, and thus far in February a gain of 53 per cent has been registered over the corresponding period of last month.

"We are much encouraged over conditions in this territory," declared Thome today, "and we find that the growth here has been consistent for the past two years. This is indicated by the fact that the first six months of 1933 exceeded the last six months of 1932 by 11 per cent, and then the last six months of 1933 exceeded the first six months of 1933 by 12 per cent. With a further gain in gasoline gallonage so far in 1934, we are much gratified."

Thome was among the high men on the Gilmore Oil company's entire sales staff of the Pacific coast, in January, in the sale of lubrication oil. He went 84 per cent over the quota set for this district.

"We are looking forward with great interest to a visit that will be made to this territory, this coming Saturday," Thome said, "by Jack Clifford, who takes the part of 'The Sheriff' in the Gilmore radio circus, and our celebrated African lion, known as Gilmore jr.

"We are also much interested in the forthcoming stage appearance of the entire Gilmore Circus troupe, at the Long Beach automobile show, Friday night, February 23, at which time they will produce their regular Pacific coast broadcast direct from the stage of the Long Beach auditorium. Many of our dealers and customers here will be in attendance.

"Santa Ana will also send a big delegation to Los Angeles Sunday, February 18, to attend the Gilmore Gold Cup road race. This is for stock cars exclusively. It will be run on a new two-mile course at Mines field."

BACKFIRING MOTOR STARTLES SLEEPERS

Gang warfare did not break out in Santa Ana last night, although startled sleepers throughout the city were positive that shots were being fired.

Police were called at midnight to stop gun shooting on South Main street. An investigation revealed that Charles A. Jackson, 804 South Main street, was backfiring his automobile to resemble gunfire.

Jackson got a court citation for making too much noise and the disturbed citizenry went back to sleep.

Increasing demands upon his time in other teaching activities was given by Cianfoni as the reason for his resignation. Several proposals for a successor to Cianfoni are under consideration. Directors of the band are: L. M. Witty, Oswald Stock, Lyle Roberts, S. W. Holt, Hugh McMillan, Irven Couse and T. M. Flippen.

STOP THAT COLD THE FIRST DAY!

A cold once looked as a cold no danger! Trust to no makeshift methods. A cold, being an internal infection, calls for internal treatment. A cold also calls for a COLD remedy and not a preparation good for a number of other things as well.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is what a cold requires. It is expressely a cold remedy. It is internal and direct—and it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels, combats the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grippy feeling and tones and fortifies the entire system. Anything less than that is inviting trouble. Get Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine at any druggist, 30 and 50c. Ask for it by the full name and accept no substitute on any pretext.—Adv.

WHAT IS THIS PUGILISM?

Shades of William Muldoon, armed with a baseball bat, chasing shades of John L. Sullivan along a roadway still wet with morning dew! What kind of a fight is it Primo Carnera and Tommy Loughran are training for, anyway? And, how about this Maximilian Baer, is he a fighter or a fan dancer?

Which is to say that the pictures in the mail the last several mornings, showing the world's heavyweight champion and other alleged pugs in various dance hall and banquet poses, do not seem very pugilistic at all. And we have seen enough of Loughran, armed with a golf club, sitting on the beach or wearing a full dress suit faultlessly!

* * *

"PUT HER THERE, PRINCE!"

When John L. Sullivan visited England, they tried to make him put on a pair of white kid gloves for the occasion when he was presented to the Prince of Wales. Do you think he would?

The Prince of Pounders walked up to His Highness, stuck out a bare hand and spake, "How are you, Prince?" Was the flower of British aristocracy dumbfounded!

Now we have training pictures showing Baer and Carnera, each with a cute little beetle tucked under his wing, mincing his way around a waxed floor, clad in that abomination of abominations hanging out of ruffled cuffs!

Judging from the prints, a fighter trains for a championship battle by (1) lying in a hammock; (2) lying on the beach; (3) swimming; (4) banqueting; (5) dancing; (6) sitting; (7) reclining; (8) resting; (9) lolling; (10) relaxing.

* * *

THE DEMPSEY LEGEND

Not since Dempsey and Tunney have there been fighters who took training camp seriously as a place to train. Tex Rickard sent Benny Leonard to Dempsey's camp to keep him in boxing trim. Once he gave the Mauler Harry Greb, one of the toughest bombers in the business, to train on. It was Tex's idea to keep his champion in trim even if Dempsey did look bad once or twice against Greb and Leonard.

Tex surrounded Dempsey with men in whom fighting was a high and holy ritual. As a result, Dempsey, a few days before a fight, when he was near the peak of his physical perfection, became a sullen and savage animal, potentially a killer.

ATAVISM PAYS

Training played a great part not only in Dempsey's physical upbuilding, but created a legend in the annals of the sport. Deliberately his social and intellectual sides were played down. He was painted for the public as an abyssmal brute, a throwback to the Neanderthal ape-man. That was one of the ideas that made Tex Rickard a great promoter and helped to spin the turnstiles with the silver of the sustaining saps.

Carnera in a dance hall wearing a full dress suit, his huge hand wrapped around a fluffy bit of femininity? Tex would have the guy out in a leopard skin suit chasing rattlesnakes for breakfast.

And the house at Miami would be packed!

HONK! HONK!

Verily the time has come when the light of pitiless publicity must be turned upon Congress. With such trivial and simple problems to handle as gold, unemployment, etc., our representatives in Washington have postponed such a momentous matter as the conservation of wild ducks and geese. It looks like foul play.

A bill to provide a $1 stamp tax on all duck-hunting licenses has been seriously delayed. The $1,000,000 raised by such a measure would provide picnic grounds (rice fields and such) where the wild birds could eat, drink and multiply while migrating. Is there no consideration for the family life of geese?

TREASON!

With the necessity for something to be done at once for the hungry hordes of canvas-backs, Congress has been quibbling. The other day, for instance, Representative Gifford of Massachusetts undammed a flood of oratory on the subject. Thinking you might like to read some of the Honorable Gifford's remarks, we are passing them on:

"Some of you may be familiar with these slaughter pens where trained geese are set up to betray the wild ones (such chicanery) by encouraging them to come down to their own destruction. Such sportsmen are disappointed if one live goose escapes."

Honorable Gifford went on to say that his own people were not such wholesale assassins. They killed a couple of geese now and then for sustenance. His own people were called, and with scorn, "pot-hunters."

"In former years I have fought the wind and the tide," said he, "in pursuit of wild fowl, but in those days we felt exceedingly happy if we could get three or four birds. But I do not get the enjoyment out of killing wild life that I once did. Last year I paid for my license and never used it."

Certainly Honorable Gifford is for conservation. So am I. And when the representative sees something foreboding to his beloved constituency in the goose bill, am I one to blame him for sounding off? Nay!

Can you blame Honorable Gifford if his voice quavered just a little as he pictured to his colleagues a horde of professional sportsmen invading his neighborhood at the proper season and killing off all the wild geese? Well, I dont' either!

WHAT TO SHOOT?

And all the while his own constituents, who doted on shooting geese, one or two at a time, all season, would have no more geese to shoot.

Another thing you just can't forget about this whole situation, whether you are one who fought the wind and the tide to hunt wild fowl or not. Honorable Gifford personally bought a license, AND NEVER USED IT. Just try to laugh that off!

SCHMELING TO REMAIN ACTIVE IN FIGHT GAME

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(UP)—Ever since the day back at the turn of the century that Jim Corbett was knocked stiff by Jim Jeffries, heavyweight champions have unsuccessfully tried to disprove the theory that "they never come back."

Corbett, Fitzsimmons, Willard, Dempsey, Sharkey—all tried to regain their crowns. So it was with a muffled yawn that the boxing world today heard Max Schmeling proclaim that he will get back the title he lost to Jack Sharkey almost two years ago.

Preparing to sail Saturday for a bout with Paulino Uzcudun, at Barcelona April 8, the black-haired German voiced the opinion that his defeat the other night by Steve Hamas has served to make him more determined to get back the title.

Max, unlike many other former champions, is not returning to the ring wars because of financial reasons.

"I would have beaten Hamas if that fight had gone 15 rounds," Schmeling pointed out today. "I almost had him out in the twelfth and in three more I could have stopped him.

"It takes me about eight or nine rounds to get started. Max Baer caught me before I had gotten warmed up; Hamas was lucky our fight wasn't longer."

Sitting in his hotel room with his manager, Joe Jacobs, Schmeling used his only successful title defense, against the late William L. Stribling, as an example.

"I didn't get to Stribling until the closing rounds. But what happened when I got going? I battered him so much they had to halt the fight in the final session. That shows I need time to get going."

Schmeling's bout with Paulino, whom he has beaten before, is 15 rounds. Hence, he emphasized, he does not feel rash in predicting victory—a victory he hopes will again bring him back into a contender's position, and perhaps another shot at Hamas.

Lucas Sees Series Slice

That grin on the face of Red Lucas, displayed as he signed a Pittsburgh contract for 1934 at his home in Nashville, Tenn., is provoked by the thought of a world series share this year Red, who has labored in vain for the Cincinnati Reds in the past, is heralded as just what the Pirates need to win the National League pennant.

SPORT RENAISSANCE ON WAY

Garden Completely Sold Out For Mere Track Meet

CUNNINGHAM, BONTHRON RACE

BY HENRY M'LEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The New York customers, it seems, will pack Madison Square Garden for anything, just so it isn't boxing. They sell standing room for dog shows, electrical expositions, bicycle races, and hockey games. So it isn't unusual that on Saturday night the arena that "Tex" Rickard threw up as a shrine for la boxe, will be jammed to the rafters by a mob of track fans.

Hoping to see a mile race that will be a throwback to the days when Joie Ray and Paavo Nurmi were battling for supremacy, some 16,500 addicts have already signified that intention of attending the annual New York Athletic club games by snatching up all the available pasteboards.

The general admission section—usually not offered for sale until the day of the meet—was put on the market Tuesday and today tickets are as scarce as house flies in Little America.

Three of the greatest milers this country has ever seen at one time—Glenn Cunningham of Kansas U., Gene Venzke of Penn and Bill Bonthron of Princeton—are the reason why track meets will be added to the other sports that have smashed attendance marks in the place that is becoming known as the fightless-fight-club.

The race is a natural, and would jam an arena twice, yes, three times the size of the Garden. Venzke holds the indoor record of 4:10 set exactly two years ago in these same games. Cunningham came out of the west last year and ran Gene ragged in most of their races. Bonthorn is the lad who paced Jack Lovelock at Princeton in the latter's 4:07.6 mile outdoors, and who, incidentally, ran the second fastest mile in history as he trailed the New Zealander in 4:08.7.

As the experts who know about such things figure it, Saturday's race will develop into a two-man duel between Cunningham and Bonthron, neither of whom have faced the other indoors. Venzke, trimmed by almost 20 yards by Cunningham two weeks ago in the Millrose Games, is rated to act as nothing more than another entry, a pacesetter.

Between Cunningham and Bonthron there is little to choose. The Kansan has run under 4:14 consistently, without much competition. Bonthron has the ability to do better outdoors. Indoors, at the mile, he has yet to show his stuff.

With such a pair matching strides, predictions are being made freely that Venzke's record will be shattered. Lawson Robertson, the Pennsylvanian's coach, has other ideas.

"Cunningham and Bonthron expect Venzke to set the early pace," he says, "but Gene isn't going to run that kind of a race. Consequently, they'll be running against each other, not against time."

LAFFOON JOINS COUNTRY CLUB PRO ASPIRANTS

Ky Laffoon, brilliant Denver shot-maker, is among a group of 21 seeking the vacated golf professional's position at the Santa Ana Country club, it was learned today.

Laffoon is regarded as one of the country's outstanding young players. He finished eleventh in money winnings during the winter "golf gold trail," his earnings in coast competition aggregating $980. Laffoon finished fourth in the Agua Caliente Open, and was well up in practically all the other tournaments.

Directors of the country club met last night without taking any action toward replacing Dallas Jeffers, who is now affiliated with a Long Beach municipal course. President G. C. Ross was authorized to appoint a committee to investigate numerous applications on file.

While the final appointee is problematical, the "favorites" for the post are said to be Laffoon, Stanley Kertes of Pico fairways, Los Angeles; Hutt Martin, Los Angeles; Dick Linares, Long Beach; Harold Hiser, pro at the Santa Ana Willowick course; Oliver Sleppy, former Long Beach amateur; Joe Hunter, South Pasadena, and Burnette Lane, Santa Ana club caddymaster.

Other applicants are Warner Hoy, Griffith Park; Conley Foster, Long Beach; Chet Beer, Bakersfield; Lew Owens, Los Angeles; Floyd Finch, Los Angeles; Vic Owens, Westward Ho; Sam Gayer, Los Angeles; Willie Welsh, Long Beach; Archie Ritchie, West Hollywood; Charles Johnson, Los Angeles; Aaron Vice, Alhambra; William Brown, Los Angeles, and Ernie Booth, Lake Arrowhead.

JEFFERS PAYS $10 FINE FOR SPEEDING

For allegedly traveling 35 miles an hour through a 15-mile zone on South Main street, Dallas Jeffers, former Santa Ana Country club golf pro, today had paid $10 into the city's coffers. City Recorder J. G. Mitchell assessed Jeffers that amount when the golfer came in with a speeders' ticket signed by Ed Lentz, city motor officer. Jeffers gave his address as 2007 South Van Ness avenue.

M'Neely Out To Build Up Sac Strength

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—(UP)—Earl McNeely, the player who delivered the winning blow in the 1924 world series, owned a baseball club today.

McNeeley

McNeely acquired the stock control of the Sacramento team of the Pacific Coast league after a bank here had foreclosed on Lou Moreing, former owner. It is understood the former major leaguer paid one-fourth of the purchase price of $135,000 and would seek financial assistance to pay the balance within three years.

The new club owner broke into Coast league ball as an outfielder with Sacramento in 1922. In 1924 he was sold to the Washington Senators and in the world series that year drove in the winning run of the final game against the New York Giants. Later he played with the St. Louis Browns Milwaukee and Sacramento, becoming manager of the Coast league club in 1932.

The owner-president-field manager immediately announced that "Frenchy" Bordogary, his star outfielder, was on the market for the best offer obtainable. McNeely plans to acquire a catcher, a first baseman, an outfielder and two pitchers to strengthen the present personnel.

'Y' Volleyball Team Wins At Fullerton, 5-0

Santa Ana's Y. M. C. A. volleyball record stood at 14 victories out of 15 games today, following the match with Fullerton yesterday in which the Saints scored five successive wins, 15-4, 15-11, 15-12, 15-9 and 15-9.

The Santa Ana lineup consisted of Raitt, Peterson, McPhee, Ashmore, Gaebe and Hickey.

WILLOWICK PLANS HANDICAP TOURNEY

Preparatory to sponsoring its annual spring championship tournament, the Willowick Golf club today notified men players to file at the office their scorecards for the next few weeks in order that handicaps may be established.

Mrs. Pearl Adams had low scores in women's medal play yesterday. She took a 95. Mrs. Dorothy Moore of Anaheim had low net, 108-29-87.

Reveal Sloan's Estate May Reach $10,000

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—(UP)—To Sloan, once the world's premier jockey, who was thought to have been penniless when he died here last December, left an estate which may reach $10,000, it was disclosed today with the filing of his will for probate.

The petition stated that the estate consisted of a mining claim in Sierra county, Cal., and a copyrighted book "The Life of J. Tod Sloan," which has been offered for publication.

The estate was willed to a daughter, Ann Martha Sloan, 10, with the proviso that should it exceed $10,000, 25 per cent of the excess should go to "My beloved friend, Mrs. Jack P. Cudahy." Mrs. Cudahy, member of the wealthy packing family, supported Sloan during his last illness.

At the peak of his career, Sloan enjoyed a large income and was a friend of royalty and society.

DONS GO TWO EXTRA PERIODS TO BEAT STARS

Eight minutes of over-time play were necessary before Santa Ana junior college could gain a basketball victory over the Orange All-Stars in Andrews gymnasium last night, 27 to 25.

There were three climaxes to the interesting exhibition:

(1) Junior Hurley, freshman forward, caged a field goal near the foul line in the last three seconds to earn a 24-24 deadlock for Bill Cook's Dons after four 10-minute quarters;

(2) In an extra five-minute period to determine the winner, Harold Welty sank a foul shot, and the Orangemen led 25-24 until the final 20 seconds, when Hurley again came to the rescue with a free throw to tie the count at 25-25;

(3) The teams agreed on a three instead of a five-minute second period, and the major part of the session was over before Ed Bragg, Santa Ana's leading scorer in the Eastern conference, slipped in the deciding field goal from short range, 27-25. An avalanche of shots followed, but none pierced the ring.

Orange presented a team of well-known county athletes, including Toby Groenow and Everett Conkright at guard; "Whitey" Edwards, Pease and Blanchar at center; Welty, Richardson and Danielson at forward. Groenow and Richardson were the spark of the visiting attack with 14 points between them.

The highlight of the evening was the exceptional playing of Jimmie Lash, perhaps the best of the Don reserves. Lash displayed more offensive fire than any of the regulars, and shared high-scoring honors with Orange's Groenow. He stands an excellent chance to break into the starting lineup against Chaffey in Santa Ana's league game here Saturday night, either at guard or forward. The Dons will drill lightly today and tomorrow for the invasion of Coach "Muggs" Mitchell's Panthers, who still remain in the titular race with Riverside and San Bernardino.

The lineups:

Santa Ana (27)	Pos.	(25) Orange
Preininger	F.	(6) Richardson
Bragg (4)	F.	(3) Welty
Youel (5)	C.	(3) Pease
Clark	G.	(8) Groenow
Schwarm (5)	G.	Conkright

Score By Quarters

Santa Ana	2	8	7	7	*1	*2	—27
Orange	8	4	6	6	1	0	—25

*Extra periods.

Entries may be filed with Wetherell at 412 Bush street, or by telephoning No. 2444.

HEAVY LOSSES END TAMPA TURF MEET

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 15.—(UP)—The scheduled 33-day meeting of the Tampa Turf and Field club was declared off today after six days of operations with such a heavy financial loss that the association was unable to continue.

'EENY' WILCOX RESIGNS: CLUB REPORTS SOON

"Big Bill" Cole, the most colorful figure in the National Night league, will manage Santa Ana's Stars through the 1934 baseball season.

Cole succeeds Elwayne ("Eeny") Wilcox, veteran catcher, who submitted his resignation at a meeting of the city baseball commission last night. Wilcox will remain with the club as a player. He said the uncertainties of other duties makes it impossible for him to continue as manager, a task which demands considerable time.

Although he was attached to the Olive club last year, first as coach and later as manager, Cole will be eligible to return here through a "gentleman's agreement" with Ben Gelker, Olive club president. Gelker indicated he would not stand in Cole's way if "Big Bill" chose to take up where he left off with Santa Ana two years ago. One of the pioneers of night baseball here, Cole was with the Stars from the team's organization in 1926. He played first base regularly for many seasons, managed the club for a brief spell one summer, and later acted as coach.

A towering giant of 240 pounds, red-faced and possessing a foghorn voice that has ruffled more than one opposing pitcher, Cole long has been a commanding personality in the nocturnal sport. In that respect he often has been called the Babe Ruth of the game.

Cole said he has made no particular plans for the coming season but indicated he would call for the club's first workout late next month or early in April, depending largely on the date set by league officials for the opening of the pennant race.

"All I can say now is that every man who reports will get an equal chance to make the ball club," Cole stated. "Past records won't mean as much as future performances. I do not anticipate a shakeup. I believe the club can win about as it stands. What action is necessary will be determined toward the end of our series of exhibition games."

The commission, composed of President Otto Jacobs, Horace Snow and John Wilcox, announced that Cole will be in complete control of the club on the field. He will be empowered to sign or release players at his own volition. This is a slight deviation of principle, as in past years the commission has maintained supervision of this detail.

HOPPE DEFEATED IN 3-CUSHION TOURNEY

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(UP)—J. N. Bozeman jr., continued to hold undisputed possession of first place in the National three-cushion billiard championship tournament today.

Bozeman, with five victories and no defeats, was on top because Willie Hoppe of New York suffered his first defeat of the tournament last night, 50 to 44 in 60 innings. Otto Reiselt, of Philadelphia, was the victor.

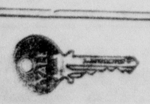

The defeat dropped Hoppe back into a three-way tie for second place with Welker Cochran of San Francisco, the defending champion, and Johnny Layton of Sedalia, Mo. Each has won four games and lost one.

BARNEY ROSS DENIES L. A. MATCH OFFERS

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—(UP)—Barney Ross has no intentions of risking his lightweight crown in Los Angeles in the near future.

Denying an announcement preceding his arrival that he had been offered a match with Young Peter Jackson, Negro aspirant, Ross said he had received no such offer, or any local offers whatever.

After winding up their Los Angeles visit, Ross and his party will go to San Francisco where the titleholder fights Frankie Klick March 5.

MRS. GREEN BEATEN IN BIG GOLF UPSET

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—(UP)—Mrs. Mark Steele faced an acid test in her quest for the women's mid-winter invitation golf championship today when she met Elizabeth Abbott in the semi-finals.

Mrs. Steele, who won medalist honors, moved up from the quarter-final rounds by eliminating Mrs. Willie Hunter of Los Angeles, 2 and 1. Miss Abbott played a sparkling game to defeat Miss Marion McDougall of Portland, Oregon woman's champion, by the same score.

Outstanding upset of the tournament to date was scored by Miss Margaret Bushard of Los Angeles in vanquishing Mrs. Mildred Green of the California Country club, 3 and 2. Mrs. Green had been established in pre-tourney reckoning as the player Miss Abbott would have to defeat to win the title.

L. A. HOLDOUT LIST IS REDUCED TO TWO

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—(UP)—Only two members of the Los Angeles baseball club roster remained on the advance holdout list today with the receipt of a signed contract from Shortstop Carl Dittmar. Pitchers Roy Henshaw, recently obtained from the Chicago Cubs, and Emile Meola, acquired from Jersey City, have yet to be heard from.

Baer To Get In Shape For Two Possible Bouts

— SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—(UP)—Ancil Hoffman, manager of Max Baer, outstanding heavyweight, announced plans today for getting the Livermore "butcher boy" into condition immediately for a fight with either Steve Hamas or Primo Carnera, the champion. Hoffman admitted that no new offers for Baer's services had been received.

BAER'S MANAGERIAL SUIT DELAYED AGAIN

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 15.—(UP)—Efforts to straighten out the tangled managerial and financial affairs of Max Baer, heavyweight boxer, were delayed again today following decision of Superior Judge Malcom Glenn postponing until March 20 the hearing of several court actions on file here.

Judge Glenn granted the continuance when attorneys for the litigants agreed the additional time was needed in order to prepare affidavits which would reduce the length of testimony to be presented. The suits involved are one by Baer seeking release from claims of J. Ham Lorimer, his former manager; another by Lorimer against Baer for allegedly breaking a contract, and a third action by Lorimer against Ancil Hoffman, Baer's present manager, for assertedly failing to pay the full price agreed on for the fighter's contract.

St. Peter's Lutheran	0	4	.000

Predictions were freely made today that the First Methodists, champions of the first and second rounds, will be forced to enter a playoff for the 1934 championship of the Community Church Basketball league, following an evening of upsets at the Y. M. C. A. last night in which the Methodists received their second setback of the third and final round.

The defeat of the champions was administered by the powerful Mormons, 49-25, who climbed into undisputed first place with four victories, although the First Christians remained undefeated after three games. Costa Mesa Federated scored a surprise victory over the Methodists last week.

The inability of Asa Herren, high-scoring forward, to make a single point against the Mormons proved the downfall of the Methodist team. Fletcher Johnson, new center from Washington, earned 17 points for the losers, but received little aid from his teammates. Lanky Ted Cook of the Mormons garnered 21 points, with al the winners registering at least a field goal. Wetzel was second high with 19.

Weakened by the absence of Eric Twist, all-time scoring champion of the "Y" league with 44 points in a single game, the Orange Avenue Christians had a difficult time defeating St. Peter's Lutheran team, 22-21. An early lead was all that saved the winners, who were hopelessly outclassed by their cellar opponent in the final half.

DRIVER DIES AFTER RACE TRACK CRASH

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—(UP) A threatened pilot's strike and the death of one driver inserted a jarring note today in the qualifying trials of a 250-mile stock-car road race at Los Angeles Municipal airport Sunday.

Kenny Wellens, 27-year-old Glendale pilot, was fatally injured when his car spun in the dirt track and overturned on a curve. He died an hour later in a hospital. Wellens was making his first bid for major racing honors.

The threatened strike raged over the right of drivers to use a truck tie rod to offset the roughness of the track. Art Pillsbury, official Coast A. A. A. representative, said a truck rod would be permitted only if Detroit manufacturers made it optional equipment on standard passenger cars.

Unless the controversy was peaceably settled, Al Gordon, coast champion; Fred Frame, National stock-car champion, and several others were expected to withdraw from the race.

In view of the dispute, only three drivers were clocked officially yesterday. Rex Mays, young Riverside pilot, reeled off the best test run, averaging 72 miles an hour on one lap of two miles.

WHAT IS THIS PUGILISM?

Shades of William Muldoon, armed with a baseball bat, chasing shades of John L. Sullivan along a roadway still wet with morning dew! What kind of a fight is it Primo Carnera and Tommy Loughran are training for, anyway? And, how about this Maximilian Baer, is he a fighter or a fan dancer?

Which is to say that the pictures in the mail the last several mornings, showing the world's heavyweight champion and other alleged pugs in various dance hall and banquet poses, do not seem very pugilistic at all. And we have seen enough of Loughran, armed with a golf club, sitting on the beach or wearing a full dress suit faultlessly!

* * *

"PUT HER THERE, PRINCE!"

When John L. Sullivan visited England, they tried to make him put on a pair of white kid gloves for the occasion when he was presented to the Prince of Wales. Do you think he would?

The Prince of Pounders walked up to His Highness, stuck out a bare hand and spake, "How are you, Prince?" Was the flower of British aristocracy dumbfounded!

Now we have training pictures showing Baer and Carnera, each with a cute little beetle tucked under his wing, mincing his way around a waxed floor, clad in that abomination of abominations hanging out of ruffled cuffs!

Judging from the prints, a fighter trains for a championship battle by (1) lying in a hammock; (2) lying on the beach; (3) swimming; (4) banqueting; (5) dancing; (6) sitting; (7) reclining; (8) resting; (9) lolling; (10) relaxing.

* * *

THE DEMPSEY LEGEND

Not since Dempsey and Tunney have there been fighters who took training camp seriously as a place to train. Tex Rickard sent Benny Leonard to Dempsey's camp to keep him in boxing trim. Once he gave the Mauler Harry Greb, one of the toughest bombers in the business, to train on. It was Tex's idea to keep his champion in trim even if Dempsey did look bad once or twice against Greb and Leonard.

Tex surrounded Dempsey with men in whom fighting was a high and holy ritual. As a result, Dempsey, a few days before a fight, when he was near the peak of his physical perfection, became a sullen and savage animal, potentially a killer.

ATAVISM PAYS

Training played a great part not only in Dempsey's physical upbuilding, but created a legend in the annals of the sport. Deliberately his social and intellectual sides were played down. He was painted for the public as an abyssmal brute, a throwback to the Neanderthal ape-man. That was one of the ideas that made Tex Rickard a great promoter and helped to spin the turnstiles with the silver of the sustaining saps.

Carnera in a dance hall wearing a full dress suit, his huge hand wrapped around a fluffy bit of femininity? Tex would have the guy out in a leopard skin suit chasing rattlesnakes for breakfast.

And the house at Miami would be packed!

HONK! HONK!

Verily the time has come when the light of pitiless publicity must be turned upon Congress. With such trivial and simple problems to handle as gold, unemployment, etc., our representatives in Washington have postponed such a momentous matter as the conservation of wild ducks and geese. It looks like foul play.

A bill to provide a $1 stamp tax on all duck-hunting licenses has been seriously delayed. The $1,000,000 raised by such a measure would provide picnic grounds (rice fields and such) where the wild birds could eat, drink and multiply while migrating. Is there no consideration for the family life of geese?

TREASON!

With the necessity for something to be done at once for the hungry hordes of canvas-backs, Congress has been quibbling. The other day, for instance, Representative Gifford of Massachusetts undammed a flood of oratory on the subject. Thinking you might like to read some of the Honorable Gifford's remarks, we are passing them on:

"Some of you may be familiar with these slaughter pens where trained geese are set up to betray the wild ones (such chicanery) by encouraging them to come down to their own destruction. Such sportsmen are disappointed if one live goose escapes."

Honorable Gifford went on to say that his own people were not such wholesale assassins. They killed a couple of geese now and then for sustenance. His own people were called, and with scorn, "pot-hunters."

"In former years I have fought the wind and the tide," said he, "in pursuit of wild fowl, but in those days we felt exceedingly happy if we could get three or four birds. But I do not get the enjoyment out of killing wild life that I once did. Last year I paid for my license and never used it."

Certainly Honorable Gifford is for conservation. So am I. And when the representative sees something foreboding to his beloved constituency in the goose bill, am I one to blame him for sounding off? Nay!

Can you blame Honorable Gifford if his voice quavered just a little as he pictured to his colleagues a horde of professional sportsmen invading his neighborhood at the proper season and killing off all the wild geese? Well, I dont' either!

WHAT TO SHOOT?

And all the while his own constituents, who doted on shooting geese, one or two at a time, all season, would have no more geese to shoot.

Another thing you just can't forget about this whole situation, whether you are one who fought the wind and the tide to hunt wild fowl or not. Honorable Gifford personally bought a license, AND NEVER USED IT. Just try to laugh that off!

BILL COLE TO LEAD S. A. STARS

SCHMELING TO REMAIN ACTIVE IN FIGHT GAME

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(UP)—Ever since the day back at the turn of the century that Jim Corbett was knocked stiff by Jim Jeffries, heavyweight champions have unsuccessfully tried to disprove the theory that "they never come back."

Corbett, Fitzsimmons, Willard, Dempsey, Sharkey—all tried to regain their crowns. So it was with a muffled yawn that the boxing world today heard Max Schmeling proclaim that he will get back the title he lost to Jack Sharkey almost two years ago.

Preparing to sail Saturday for a bout with Paulino Uzcudun, at Barcelona April 8, the black-haired German voiced the opinion that his defeat the other night by Steve Hamas has served to make him more determined to get back the title.

Max, unlike many other former champions, is not returning to the ring wars because of financial reasons.

"I would have beaten Hamas if that fight had gone 15 rounds," Schmeling pointed out today. "I almost had him out in the twelfth and in three more I could have stopped him.

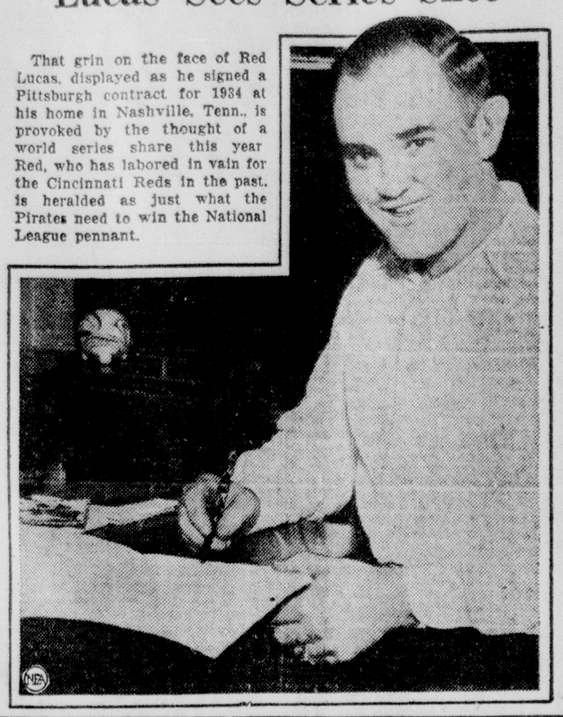

"It takes me about eight or nine rounds to get started. Max Baer caught me before I had gotten warmed up; Hamas was lucky our fight wasn't longer."

Sitting in his hotel room with his manager, Joe Jacobs, Schmeling used his only successful title defense, against the late William L. Stribling, as an example.

"I didn't get to Stribling until the closing rounds. But what happened when I got going? I battered him so much they had to halt the fight in the final session. That shows I need time to get going."

Schmeling's bout with Paulino, whom he has beaten before, is 15 rounds. Hence, he emphasized, he does not feel rash in predicting victory—a victory he hopes will again bring him back into a contender's position, and perhaps another shot at Hamas.

Lucas Sees Series Slice

That grin on the face of Red Lucas, displayed as he signed a Pittsburgh contract for 1934 at his home in Nashville, Tenn., is provoked by the thought of a world series share this year Red, who has labored in vain for the Cincinnati Reds in the past, is heralded as just what the Pirates need to win the National League pennant.

SPORT RENAISSANCE ON WAY

Garden Completely Sold Out For Mere Track Meet

CUNNINGHAM, BONTHRON RACE

BY HENRY M'LEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The New York customers, it seems, will pack Madison Square Garden for anything, just so it isn't boxing. They sell standing room for dog shows, electrical expositions, bicycle races, and hockey games. So it isn't unusual that on Saturday night the arena that "Tex" Rickard threw up as a shrine for la boxe, will be jammed to the rafters by a mob of track fans.

Hoping to see a mile race that will be a throwback to the days when Joie Ray and Paavo Nurmi were battling for supremacy, some 16,500 addicts have already signified that intention of attending the annual New York Athletic club games by snatching up all the available pasteboards.

The general admission section—usually not offered for sale until the day of the meet—was put on the market Tuesday and today tickets are as scarce as house flies in Little America.

Three of the greatest milers this country has ever seen at one time—Glenn Cunningham of Kansas U., Gene Venzke of Penn and Bill Bonthron of Princeton—are the reason why track meets will be added to the other sports that have smashed attendance marks in the place that is becoming known as the fightless-fight-club.

The race is a natural, and would jam an arena twice, yes, three times the size of the Garden. Venzke holds the indoor record of 4:10 set exactly two years ago in these same games. Cunningham came out of the west last year and ran Gene ragged in most of their races. Bonthorn is the lad who paced Jack Lovelock at Princeton in the latter's 4:07.6 mile outdoors, and who, incidentally, ran the second fastest mile in history as he trailed the New Zealander in 4:08.7.

As the experts who know about such things figure it, Saturday's race will develop into a two-man duel between Cunningham and Bonthron, neither of whom have faced the other indoors. Venzke, trimmed by almost 20 yards by Cunningham two weeks ago in the Millrose Games, is rated to act as nothing more than another entry, a pacesetter.

Between Cunningham and Bonthron there is little to choose. The Kansan has run under 4:14 consistently, without much competition. Bonthron has the ability to do better outdoors. Indoors, at the mile, he has yet to show his stuff.

With such a pair matching strides, predictions are being made freely that Venzke's record will be shattered. Lawson Robertson, the Pennsylvanian's coach, has other ideas.

"Cunningham and Bonthron expect Venzke to set the early pace," he says, "but Gene isn't going to run that kind of a race. Consequently, they'll be running against each other, not against time."

LAFFOON JOINS COUNTRY CLUB PRO ASPIRANTS

Ky Laffoon, brilliant Denver shot-maker, is among a group of 21 seeking the vacated golf professional's position at the Santa Ana Country club, it was learned today.

Laffoon is regarded as one of the country's outstanding young players. He finished eleventh in money winnings during the winter "golf gold trail," his earnings in coast competition aggregating $980. Laffoon finished fourth in the Agua Caliente Open, and was well up in practically all the other tournaments.

Directors of the country club met last night without taking any action toward replacing Dallas Jeffers, who is now affiliated with a Long Beach municipal course. President G. C. Ross was authorized to appoint a committee to investigate numerous applications on file.

While the final appointee is problematical, the "favorites" for the post are said to be Laffoon, Stanley Kertes of Pico fairways, Los Angeles; Hutt Martin, Los Angeles; Dick Linares, Long Beach; Harold Hiser, pro at the Santa Ana Willowick course; Oliver Sleppy, former Long Beach amateur; Joe Hunter, South Pasadena, and Burnette Lane, Santa Ana club caddymaster.

Other applicants are Warner Hoy, Griffith Park; Conley Foster, Long Beach; Chet Beer, Bakersfield; Lew Owens, Los Angeles; Floyd Finch, Los Angeles; Vic Owens, Westward Ho; Sam Gayer, Los Angeles; Willie Welsh, Long Beach; Archie Ritchie, West Hollywood; Charles Johnson, Los Angeles; Aaron Vice, Alhambra; William Brown, Los Angeles, and Ernie Booth, Lake Arrowhead.

JEFFERS PAYS $10 FINE FOR SPEEDING

For allegedly traveling 35 miles an hour through a 15-mile zone on South Main street, Dallas Jeffers, former Santa Ana Country club golf pro, today had paid $10 into the city's coffers. City Recorder J. G. Mitchell assessed Jeffers that amount when the golfer came in with a speeders' ticket signed by Ed Lentz, city motor officer. Jeffers gave his address as 2007 South Van Ness avenue.

Reveal Sloan's Estate May Reach $10,000

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—(UP)—To Sloan, once the world's premier jockey, who was thought to have been penniless when he died here last December, left an estate which may reach $10,000, it was disclosed today with the filing of his will for probate.

"All I can say now is that every man who reports will get an equal chance to make the ball club," Cole stated. "Past records won't mean as much as future performances. I do not anticipate a shakeup. I believe the club can win about as it stands. What action is necessary will be determined toward the end of our series of exhibition games."

The commission, composed of President Otto Jacobs, Horace Snow and John Wilcox, announced that Cole will be in complete control of the club on the field. He will be empowered to sign or release players at his own volition. This is a slight deviation of principle, as in past years the commission has maintained supervision of this detail.

DONS GO TWO EXTRA PERIODS TO BEAT STARS

Eight minutes of over-time play were necessary before Santa Ana junior college could gain a basketball victory over the Orange All-Stars in Andrews gymnasium last night, 27 to 25.

There were three climaxes to the interesting exhibition:

(1) Junior Hurley, freshman forward, caged a field goal near the foul line in the last three seconds to earn a 24-24 deadlock for Bill Cook's Dons after four 10-minute quarters;

(2) In an extra five-minute period to determine the winner, Harold Welty sank a foul shot, and the Orangemen led 25-24 until the final 20 seconds, when Hurley again came to the rescue with a free throw to tie the count at 25-25;

(3) The teams agreed on a three instead of a five-minute second period, and the major part of the session was over before Ed Bragg, Santa Ana's leading scorer in the Eastern conference, slipped in the deciding field goal from short range, 27-25. An avalanche of shots followed, but none pierced the ring.

Orange presented a team of well-known county athletes, including Toby Groenow and Everett Conkright at guard; "Whitey" Edwards, Pease and Blanchar at center; Welty, Richardson and Danielson at forward. Groenow and Richardson were the spark of the visiting attack with 14 points between them.

The highlight of the evening was the exceptional playing of Jimmie Lash, perhaps the best of the Don reserves. Lash displayed more offensive fire than any of the regulars, and shared high-scoring honors with Orange's Groenow. He stands an excellent chance to break into the starting lineup against Chaffey in Santa Ana's league game here Saturday night, either at guard or forward. The Dons will drill lightly today and tomorrow for the invasion of Coach "Muggs" Mitchell's Panthers, who still remain in the titular race with Riverside and San Bernardino.

The lineups:

Santa Ana (27)	Pos.	(25) Orange
Bragg (4)	F.	(3) Welty

HUSKIES NEED WIN TO CINCH DIVISION

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 15.—(UP)—University of Washington's basketball team must win only one of its four remaining conference games to capture the title in the Northern division, the records showed today. Two of the games will be played this weekend against Oregon State, 1933 coast champions. The other two will be against Washington State.

HARRIS OF GLENDALE LEADS PREP SCORERS

Mal Harris, Glendale center, led the Coast Preparatory league in point-making during the 1934 campaign just completed. He scored 82 points in 10 games for the conference champions, an average of approximately eight per game.

Another Glendale player, Jack Taylor, was second with 74 points. Joe Lunn, Long Beach, was third with 73. Fred Wiemer and Tom Lacy were the leading Santa Ana scorers. The records:

M'Neely Out To Build Up Sac Strength

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—(UP)—Earl McNeely, the player who delivered the winning blow in the 1924 world series, owned a baseball club today.

McNeeley

McNeely acquired the stock control of the Sacramento team of the Pacific Coast league after a bank here had foreclosed on Lou Moreing, former owner. It is understood the former major leaguer paid one-fourth of the purchase price of $135,000 and would seek financial assistance to pay the balance within three years.

The new club owner broke into Coast league ball as an outfielder with Sacramento in 1922. In 1924 he was sold to the Washington Senators and in the world series that year drove in the winning run of the final game against the New York Giants. Later he played with the St. Louis Browns, Milwaukee and Sacramento, becoming manager of the Coast league club in 1932.

The owner-president-field manager immediately announced that "Frenchy" Bordogary, his star outfielder, was on the market for the best offer obtainable. McNeely plans to acquire a catcher, a first baseman, an outfielder and two pitchers to strengthen the present personnel.

'Y' Volleyball Team Wins At Fullerton, 5-0

Santa Ana's Y. M. C. A. volleyball record stood at 14 victories out of 15 games today, following the match with Fullerton yesterday in which the Saints scored five successive wins, 15-4, 15-11, 15-12, 15-9 and 15-9.

The Santa Ana lineup consisted of Raitt, Peterson, McPhee, Ashmore, Gaebe and Hickey.

HOPPE DEFEATED IN 3-CUSHION TOURNEY

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(UP)—J. N. Bozeman jr., continued to hold undisputed possession of first place in the National three-cushion billiard championship tournament today.

Bozeman, with five victories and no defeats, was on top because Willie Hoppe of New York suffered his first defeat of the tournament last night, 50 to 44 in 60 innings. Otto Reiselt, of Philadelphia, was the victor.

The defeat dropped Hoppe back into a three-way tie for second place with Welker Cochran of San Francisco, the defending champion, and Johnny Layton of Sedalia, Mo. Each has won four games and lost one.

BARNEY ROSS DENIES L. A. MATCH OFFERS

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—(UP)—Barney Ross has no intentions of risking his lightweight crown in Los Angeles in the near future.

After winding up their Los Angeles visit, Ross and his party will go to San Francisco where the titleholder fights Frankie Klick March 5.

MRS. GREEN BEATEN IN BIG GOLF UPSET

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—(UP)—Mrs. Mark Steele faced an acid test in her quest for the women's mid-winter invitation golf championship today when she met Elizabeth Abbott in the semi-finals.

Mrs. Steele, who won medalist honors, moved up from the quarter-final rounds by eliminating Mrs. Willie Hunter of Los Angeles, 2 and 1. Miss Abbott played a sparkling game to defeat Miss Marion McDougall of Portland, Oregon woman's champion, by the same score.

Outstanding upset of the tournament to date was scored by Miss Margaret Bushard of Los Angeles in vanquishing Mrs. Mildred Green of the California Country club, 3 and 2. Mrs. Green had been established in pre-tourney reckoning as the player Miss Abbott would have to defeat to win the title.

L. A. HOLDOUT LIST IS REDUCED TO TWO

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—(UP)—Only two members of the Los Angeles baseball club roster remained on the advance holdout list today with the receipt of a signed contract from Shortstop Carl Dittmar. Pitchers Roy Henshaw, recently obtained from the Chicago Cubs, and Emile Meola, acquired from Jersey City, have yet to be heard from.

Baer To Get In Shape For Two Possible Bouts

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—(UP)—Ancil Hoffman, manager of Max Baer, outstanding heavyweight, announced plans today for getting the Livermore "butcher boy" into condition immediately for a fight with either Steve Hamas or Primo Carnera, the champion. Hoffman admitted that no new offers for Baer's services had been received.

BAER'S MANAGERIAL SUIT DELAYED AGAIN

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 15.—(UP)—Efforts to straighten out the tangled managerial and financial affairs of Max Baer, heavyweight boxer, were delayed again today following decision of Superior Judge Malcom Glenn postponing until March 20 the hearing of several court actions on file here.

Judge Glenn granted the continuance when attorneys for the litigants agreed the additional time was needed in order to prepare affidavits which would reduce the length of testimony to be presented. The suits involved are one by Baer seeking release from claims of J. Ham Lorimer, his former manager; another by Lorimer against Baer for allegedly breaking a contract, and a third action by Lorimer against Ancil Hoffman, Baer's present manager, for assertedly failing to pay the full price agreed on for the fighter's contract.

Predictions were freely made today that the First Methodists, champions of the first and second rounds, will be forced to enter a playoff for the 1934 championship of the Community Church Basketball league, following an evening of upsets at the Y. M. C. A. last night in which the Methodists received their second setback of the third and final round.

The defeat of the champions was administered by the powerful Mormons, 49-25, who climbed into undisputed first place with four victories, although the First Christians remained undefeated after three games. Costa Mesa Federated scored a surprise victory over the Methodists last week.

The inability of Asa Herren, high-scoring forward, to make a single point against the Mormons proved the downfall of the Methodist team. Fletcher Johnson, new center from Washington, earned 17 points for the losers, but received little aid from his teammates. Lanky Ted Cook of the Mormons garnered 21 points, with al the winners registering at least a field goal. Wetzel was second high with 19.

Weakened by the absence of Eric Twist, all-time scoring champion of the "Y" league with 44 points in a single game, the Orange Avenue Christians had a difficult time defeating St. Peter's Lutheran team, 22-21. An early lead was all that saved the winners, who were hopelessly outclassed by their cellar opponent in the final half.

DRIVER DIES AFTER RACE TRACK CRASH

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—(UP) A threatened pilot's strike and the death of one driver inserted a jarring note today in the qualifying trials of a 250-mile stock-car road race at Los Angeles Municipal airport Sunday.

Kenny Wellens, 27-year-old Glendale pilot, was fatally injured when his car spun in the dirt track and overturned on a curve. He died an hour later in a hospital. Wellens was making his first bid for major racing honors.

The threatened strike raged over the right of drivers to use a truck tie rod to offset the roughness of the track. Art Pillsbury, official Coast A. A. A. representative, said a truck rod would be permitted only if Detroit manufacturers made it optional equipment on standard passenger cars.

Unless the controversy was peaceably settled, Al Gordon, coast champion; Fred Frame, National stock-car champion, and several others were expected to withdraw from the race.

In view of the dispute, only three drivers were clocked officially yesterday. Rex Mays, young Riverside pilot, reeled off the best test run, averaging 72 miles an hour on one lap of two miles.

Business Block, 15 Cottages For Huntington Beach

CONSTRUCTION WORK SLATED TO BEGIN SOON

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 15.—W. J. Ebert is planning to start construction at once on 15 new cottages for the Sea Breeze camp ground at First and Ocean. Ebert already has 40 modern camp cottages at Sea Breeze court, which is one of the largest auto camps in the state. The additional 15 cottages will occupy the ground formerly enclosed in the old baseball park which is being moved to Palm avenue near the golf course.

The Bowen buildings at Main and Walnut are being demolished by S. R. Bowen preparatory to installing a modern business block at that corner. Bowen recently completed a beautiful modern court, Spanish type, at the corner of Walnut and Fifth. Mr. and Mrs. Bowen are occupying the front suite or apartment for their home.

H. L. J. Smith, who occupied the barber shop in the Bowen building at Walnut and Main, has moved four doors south on Main street and installed his barber shop in new quarters. The Gleaves Photo and Gift shop is moving to the Collins building at 112 Main street. Dr. H. M. Carlson has moved his office to the first floor at 108 Main street.

The Patton Realty company and the Hadley Chili parlor and cafe which are located in the Bowen buildings at Main and Walnut, are also looking for new quarters as it is the plan of Bowen to wreck all the frame business or store rooms at the corner of Walnut and Main to make room for one of the finest new business blocks in the city.

SORORITY GROUP IN BRIDGE PARTY

LA HABRA, Feb. 15.—A color scheme of red, white and blue was used by Miss Marguerite Williams in keeping with Lincoln's birthday anniversary when she entertained the members of the Beta Chi sorority at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Williams, of East Whittier boulevard.

A special feature of the dessert bridge party was a baby picture guessing contest and the prize in this game was won by Julia Jewett. Dorothy Pickup was winner of the travelling prize which was circulated during the bridge games, which followed the serving of the refreshments. Prizes in the bridge games were won by Martha Iverson and Phyllis Emry. Ethel Sanford was the birthday honoree for this meeting and received a present from the sorority.

Geneva Spray, secretary of the sorority, announced that the bridge tournament grand prize was won by Irene Burgess; grand consolation by Mabel Snyder.

Those present were Naomi Granger, Martha Iverson and Geneva Spray of La Habra; Julia Jewett and Mabel Snyder, Long Beach; Dorothy Pickup, of Santa Fe Springs; Phyllis Emry, Irene Burgess, and Ethel Sanford, of Whittier, and Virginia Jewett and Dorothy Little, of Fullerton.

BREA MAYOR ADVOCATES CITY OWNERSHIP OF UTILITIES AND CITES SUCCESS OF WATER PLANT

BREA, Feb. 15.—The mid-week forum at the Congregational church Wednesday night was conducted by Mayor L. A. Hogue who, assigned to speak on the topic, "Municipal Ownership of Public Utilities," stated that he should like to change it to "How I Became Interested in Municipal Ownership of Public Utilities."

Hogue said that his interest in the subject was aroused when he became a member of the city council of Brea and realized that every item pertinent to the city's management was one of expense with the bare exception of the municipally owned water system. Proceeds from this department, he said, had always been used generously for the maintenance of various departments of the city's program.

Hogue cited Riverside, Pasadena, Long Beach, Glendale and other municipalities where city managed and owned plants and in some instances generative plants, have proved a source of handsome profits and assisted in ridding the city of excessive taxes.

He advocated the ownership of power and light distributing lines for Brea first, since that is the heaviest expense to the city. He estimated that they could be purchased for approximately $60,000 for which amount bonds would have to be voted. He stated that such bonds would be purchased by the Public Works administration at about 4 per cent and that the first year's gross income from this ownership should be approximately $36,000. These bonds could be retired at the end of the seventh year at which time the income should have reached $40,000 a year, he said. Surplus funds from the system could also be used for the retirement of other bond issues, he said ,thus relieving the citizens of the burden of taxes which yearly appears to grow heavier. His dream, he declared, was that of a tax free city.

The mayor admitted that many obstacles stand in the way of this achievement and that an educative program would have to be launched and pursued by citizens entirely removed from politics. Only a few years ago, Hogue said, the idea of municipally owned water plants was decried but for several years now it has been the custom for each community to own its own water system and in all cases they have proved a source of income.

Questioned, Hogue stated that not one city in the United States that has undertaken ownership of any public utility has ever lost money by it. Hogue stated that he had no fight with any of the public utility companies but that it was simply a matter of dollars and cents for the citizens of Brea. He saw no reason, he declared, why such a change should work to the detriment of the utility companies.

The forum followed the fellowship dinner in the church where more than 60 attended. The mid-week meeting opened with A. O. Andrew presiding in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. Donald F. Gaylord.

DOG ATTACKS CHILD

BARBER CITY, Feb. 15.—Kenneth Laden, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Laden of Barber City, is convalescing at his home from the bite of a dog. The child was attempting to take a bone away from the animal when the dog turned on him. Taken to the Community hospital at Long Beach three stitches were found necessary to close the wound. The child is convalescing satisfactorily.

HITLER, JEWS DISCUSSED IN GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 15.—Dr. E. E. Helms, former pastor of the First Methodist church in Los Angeles, was the speaker at the meeting of the Men's brotherhood held in the Methodist Episcopal church Tuesday evening. His subject was "Hitler and the Jews in Germany."

Dr. Helms stated that out of the total population of 62,000,000 only a little over one-half million are Jews, but that since the war the Jews had taken leadership in all activities of the country. One example given was that in a Berlin hospital, out of 3000 doctors, 98 per cent were Jews. When the Hitler regime started, definite efforts were made to eliminate the race. Membership of the Jews in clubs, libraries, stock exchanges and other organizations were all cancelled and one result of this was that the exports of Germany fell off 35 per cent in one month, he said. That policy alone, Dr. Helm stated, if continued would wreck Hitler and his regime.

In conclusion, Dr. Helm stated that he considered Hitler the most dangerous man in the world today. The speaker was in Germany during some of these happenings.

Ralph Chaffee, president of the organization, appointed the following nominating committee to report at the next meeting: H. D. Adams, chairman; A. A. Schnitger and J. O. Arkley.

The Young People's orchestra of the Methodist church furnished music. The group later adjourned to hear Dr. Helm preach at the regular services being held at the church all of this week.

Brea Lions Club In "Hobo" Party

BREA, Feb. 15.—Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Curtis, Dr. and Mrs. John Holland and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wharton made up the host group Tuesday night when Lions, their wives and friends were entertained in Legion hall.

All had been asked to attend a "hobo" party and both the men and women came attired in this garb. The evening was devoted to games, music, cards and dancing, with a paper bag lunch, which each guest provided, being enjoyed at the "hobo" camp in the dining room.

Willows confined the camp to the circle around the imitation camp fire where coffee brewed and was served with the lunches with only the dim glow from tin can tapers lighting the scene. A photograph operating at a distance reproduced the sounds of trains, lending a genuine "hobo" air to the camp.

ASSEMBLYMAN TELLS C. OF C. OF NEW BILLS

PLACENTIA, Feb. 15.—Much legislation that will be up at Sacramento at the next session will be open for contest, according to Ted Craig, assemblyman from this district, who talked briefly at the Placentia chamber of commerce meeting Tuesday. Craig said he anticipates the navel bill will work a hardship, and will be contested. On the earthquake bill, Assemblyman Craig said he anticipates changes, since the bill provides for drastic earthquake changes in schools. Schools in territories that are not subject to quake are not eliminated, he said.

The bill providing for serving of liquors in public places and another providing for tidelands royalties are expected to meet opposition, he said.

Members of the chamber, after George Kellogg had reported that Yorba Linda chamber of commerce had approved the turning of certain acreage of the Sunny Hills ranch to county, and school and city tax bodies for delinquent taxes, brought a varied opinion on the subject. A resolution presented to the legislative committee for perusal.

H. H. Hale, president, said he questioned the legality of the project. Stuart Strathman, secretary, said those in Valencia High school district who are interested in the formation of the district that is now in litigation, have asked him to urge opposition to the plan, since if the legality of withdrawal from the Fullerton Union High school district of the Valencia district is not approved by the court, Placentia Union Grammar school district, the Valencia High school district, will be taxed for junior college buildings on the new site, if the Placentia district re-enters the Fullerton High school district.

Warren Bradford said he thought it was a dangerous precedent to set, the paying of taxes with land, but that if it is set, he has some worthless river bottom land he will offer for flood control as payment of his taxes.

FARM DEBT IS DISCUSSED AT CENTER MEET

PLACENTIA, Feb. 15.—R. D. Flaherty, of the Orange County Production Credit association, talked on the problem of farm debt at the Placentia Farm center Tuesday night, explaining how the income of ranches in 1932 had not totalled the debt on those ranches, taken as a whole throughout the country.

In the new set-up of crop loan, he said the Orange county bank has received 77 applications, amounting to a request for $147,550. Thirty-three requests have been approved in the county and have been sent to Berkeley; 45 in all have been approved in the county, and nine are up to the local board this week for approval.

W. F. Coulter presided. Gene Harris of Anaheim sang a group of Negro numbers and played "Lazy Bones" as a piano solo. Charles Knowlton and Dan Halladay talked on the walnut institute. A plan has been submitted for placing a small but complete plant for sewage reclamation as a project for CWA work, at a cost of about $4000, according to Ralph McFadden. This test plant, to reclaim about one miner's inch of water, has the approval of the board of supervisors, he said.

Warren Bradford discussed the paying of taxes with land, as proposed by the Sunny Hills ranch of Fullerton, and said he has some river bottom land he will offer for taxes, land the county may use for flood control.

Louis Jacobsen was appointed to fill the vacancy on the citrus committee, made by resignation of Harold Lang.

W. B. Corey announced a trip to Boulder dam for February 26-28, and an avocado meeting at Placentia union grammar school March 16. The citrus institute is announced for Orange union high school March 26.

DRILL PIPE THREADS BROKEN AS DEEP H. B. WELL BLOWS OUT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 15.—The W. E. McCaslin well at Twenty-first and Olive blew out again yesterday afternoon. The drill crew which is cleaning out a bridge in the well has broken the first bridge at about 6500 feet and had closed the valves to make slight repairs to the boiler. Gas accumulated in the well and the force stripped the threads on one of the six-inch pipes connected with the Christmas tree, blowing the pipe apart with a loud roar.

The welding crew was sent for and the damage repaired. The sand which the McCaslin is trying to produce from is 8300 feet deep and at times a tremendous gas pressure accumulates. The presence of a deep sand with a heavy gas pressure and oil that tests as high as 43 gravity has been proven in the well. McCaslin and Trester are making every effort to remove debris from the well and make a producer out of it. The well was recently shot with 450 quarts of nitroglycerine.

The Dr. Engles well on Seventeenth street between Walnut and Olive is being swabbed today and a good well is expected. Bottom of the hole is around 5000 feet. The well has been drilling since early in November and has experienced many delays and setbacks, but appears to be about ready to be turned into a producer.

The Bruce Brothers Oil company well between Fifteenth and Sixteenth is on the pump but plans are being made to install a compressor to bring back the production. The well is a good pumper, capable of producing 600 barrels a day on the pump but when the flow stopped the allowable was cut down to 50 barrels a day. If the compressor is a success the company will get an increase in the allowable.

The Gray Eagle well is flowing steadily, producing an allowable of 175 barrels a day. This is the well recently brought in on Seventeenth street in the second block from the ocean.

Married Flirts

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Gypsy Morell and Tom Weaver are married on the same day as Lila Hotaling and Derek Bliss, but while Lila lives in luxury Gypsy has to struggle to keep expenses within Tom's income.

After Gypsy's son is born her days become a dreary round of caring for him and caring for the home. Tom is frequently away from home evenings and Gypsy suspects he is interested in Vera Gray, who works in the same office.

Lila confesses to Gypsy that she intends to divorce Derek and marry Marko Broughton, richer and older.

Gypsy's father is seriously injured in a motor accident, but recovers. Gypsy is so relieved she resolves to forget her jealousy of Vera. However Vera continues to pursue Tom, though he does not encourage her.

Lila divorces Derek.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXXVII

Tom didn't understand the change that had come over Gypsy but he was grateful for the new peace and gayety in the house. Although Vera's name was never mentioned, her presence in the city—in the office, in fact—appeared no longer to trouble young Mrs. Weaver. Tom had heard of letting sleeping dogs lie and believed in the axiom. Vera was still pretty anxious to know why she and "Tommy" couldn't be better friends. She pretended to believe she had done something to offend him. In a thousand small ways she contrived to be near him, and yet so innocently were the encounters managed that he could never be certain they had been engineered. If it had not been for Gypsy's earlier suspicions he would have put himself down as a fatuous fool for even considering the matter.

But there were no two ways about it, he couldn't ever bring Vera and Gypsy together. They didn't like each other and never would. Vera was a good business woman. There were plenty of things he would have liked to discuss with her outside the office. Her mind was keen. She had a feline shrewdness. And so it was that he fell again and again into small traps of her making. He would be lunching at the sandwich bar and she would appear beside him with a plate of cold cuts and a salad. Tom would listen, talk, smile while the lovely woman at his side, her gilt hair just showing under the demure small hat, would murmur, encourage, applaud.

"You handled Whitman exactly right, Tommy."

"Think so?" Even a clever man likes flattery. Tom Weaver was not stupid and he enjoyed appreciation.

"Do I think so? I know it, you blessed idiot." Vera's flashing smile belied the words.

"Bert's having the ng at his place Monday night. I wish you could get up there. The Manners people are coming. They'd be useful." Vera would say th a speculative look.

Tom would flush, stammer, get out of it. Of course, Vera understood. Of course, he was busy. It was quite all right.

"Darn it all," Tom would mutter to himself later. "I'd better run out on that girl. This will come to no good."

Later at home, he would talk to Gypsy about the Whitman matter. "I got that soap account I told you about," he would with becoming modesty at dinner.

"Oh, really, dear? Now where did I put that carving knife? Or where did Elsa put it? She's getting so careless...." Gypsy would put down the platter with the steak. 'Sit down while everything's hot, darling. What was it you were saying about something?"

* * *

Tom might sigh a little. It wasn't that Gypsy lacked interest. She had plenty of it but she was just wrapped up in other affairs. She might notice he looked a bit downcast.

"Tell me more about it, darling," she might urge. "You know I'm thrilled to hear."

And Tom might go on but the first rosy glow of his enthusiasm would be dimmed. He would harbor the suspicion that Gypsy was more concerned about the sauce for the cauliflower than anything else.

Hunt Gibson had fallen into the habit of "dropping around" in the evening. These were the first warm nights of summer and in the city the spell was evident. Gypsy, in thin, many-times-washed organdies from last season, would sit sewing under the amber lamp.

"Come in," she would say welcomingly, "I thought you'd be out at the Lido Club tonight. Ronney said you were all going."

Tom would go out into the kitchen to stir up a cool drink and Hunt would explain lightly that he had changed his plans at the last minute; something had come up.

Occasionally he brought Sue with him—Sue, looking unusually pretty and extremely wraith-like these days. But oftener than not he came alone.

One night after Tom had closed the door after their guest he came back into the living room and stood, thoughtful and silent, for a moment. His quiet, listening attitude gave Gypsy pause.

"What's up, darling?"

He stared down at her. "I've just come on something. That chap's in love with you.'

She burst into a peal of laughter. "Where did you get that idea?'

He didn't smile. "Happens to be true.

Gypsy was annoyed. "Tommy, you never talk that way. It's—it's not a bit nice of you, really We don't go in for this sort of thing, do we?"

"Sorry, darling. Forget it. Maybe I'm just imagining things."

They dropped the subject then and there but neither of them forgot it entirely. Gypsy had always said she despised young married women who carried on flirtations—either openly or behind their husbands backs. It all seemed pretty cheap, somehow. But she found the thought of Hunt's liking her wasn't entirely unpleasant. Why, when she had been jealous of Tom, angry at him because he had been seeing Vera Gray, she had even entertained the thought of irritating him with an admirer of her own. Of course that was as far as she had gone—merely thinking of it. All wives, she reminded herself, do that at moments; the spirit of retaliation is neither a noble nor a beautiful one and she was ashamed now of her sentiments.

Just the same, it gave her a small, secret satisfaction to think that Hunt admired her.

Sue telephoned her one day and asked her to come to tea at the Vanderbilt, their old meeting place.

"I'd love to," Gypsy said. "How does it happen you're on the loose today?"

But Sue was vague. She would explain, she said, when they met.

It was warm, clear and bright. Gypsy wore her new printed silk, black with a scattering of field flowers, and her wide shallow-crowned hat. She felt cool, well dressed and happy, a delightful combination. Her steps fairly danced along the crowded pavements and when she came into the deep, high-ceiled hotel lobby with its furniture already gay in summer slip covers it was with an almost overpowered sense of well being.

Sue, in this dim light light, was pale. Her forget-me-not eyes were enormous and the few faint golden freckles on the bridge of her small nose made her white skin look almost translucent. Gypsy felt a pang of concern. Why, Sue was ill, really ill, and not one of them had noticed it!

They sat over their tea, two well dressed young women with pleasant voices, and no one noticed them particularly. One was dark, the other red-haired, and they behaved, the casual onlooker would have said, like old friends.

But the first words Sue said to Gypsy were scarcely what the casual onlooker would have guessed them to be. She said, "I wanted to see you before I went away. I'm terribly ill. I may not be in New York again."

"May not be....why, Sue, dear! This is dreadful. What is it and why didn't you let me know before?"

The hand stirring the cup of tea trembled and Sue's under lip trembled, too. "It's nerves," she said. "I'm all shot to pieces. I'm going out west, to Wyoming, to Aunt Henry's. I shall stay there—oh, forever, perhaps!"

* * *

Her eyes shone with unshed tears and her voice shook. Gypsy watched her, troubled. Sue who had always been so happy-go-lucky, so utterly care-free—what on earth had brought her to this state?

"You've been working too hard," she said. "And playing too hard in the bargain. Why, only the other day Hunt said...."

Sue interrupted her, eyes glittering. "Hunt said what?"

"Don't be so fierce, Sue," Gypsy said gently. "He said you were burning the candle at both ends.."

"Hunt said that!" Sue linked her white fingers and stared out of the window at the armory opposite. "Ha! That's really funny."

"Well, I don't know," pursued Gypsy. "He said you were partying every night until the small hours and that you'd lost weight and your mother was scolding. But I didn't pay much attention to that. I know how she always worries...."

"I don't know what on earth Hunt Gibson has to do with me," Sue said hotly and proudly. "It's none of his business what I do or where I go...."

"Of course, of course it isn't," Gypsy said quickly. "He was only being kind. He's so fond of you.."

"Fond! Indeed!"

"Well, isn't he your cousin, after all?"

"About a forty-seventh one," Sue said with emphasis.

"Well, then!" Gypsy dropped another lump into her tea. She told herself she didn't know what had got into Sue, she was so queer today.

The other girl's breath was coming more quickly now. She was fixing Gypsy with a glittering, feverish gaze.

"Will you tell Hunt to mind his own business if he speaks of me again?"

"Sue, dear, I don't know what this is all about," the other girl began placatingly. "I'm terribly sorry...."

"You ought to know," Sue said with a shrug. "You ought to be able to guess. He talks of nothing else. It's Gypsy..Gypsy..Gypsy.."

Tom's words came back to her and she flushed. What was Sue driving at and why did she look at her so accusingly?

Business Block, 15 Cottages For Huntington Beach

CONSTRUCTION WORK SLATED TO BEGIN SOON

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 15.—W. J. Ebert is planning to start construction at once on 15 new cottages for the Sea Breeze camp ground at First and Ocean. Ebert already has 40 modern camp cottages at Sea Breeze court, which is one of the largest auto camps in the state. The additional 15 cottages will occupy the ground formerly enclosed in the old baseball park which is being moved to Palm avenue near the golf course.

The Bowen buildings at Main and Walnut are being demolished by S. R. Bowen preparatory to installing a modern business block at that corner. Bowen recently completed a beautiful modern court, Spanish type, at the corner of Walnut and Fifth. Mr. and Mrs. Bowen are occupying the front suite or apartment for their home.

H. L. J. Smith, who occupied the barber shop in the Bowen building at Walnut and Main, has moved four doors south on Main street and installed his barber shop in new quarters. The Gleaves Photo and Gift shop is moving to the Collins building at 112 Main street. Dr. H. M. Carlson has moved his office to the first floor at 108 Main street.

The Patton Realty company and the Hadley Chili parlor and cafe which are located in the Bowen buildings at Main and Walnut, are also looking for new quarters as it is the plan of Bowen to wreck all the frame business or store rooms at the corner of Walnut and Main to make room for one of the finest new business blocks in the city.

BREA MAYOR ADVOCATES CITY OWNERSHIP OF UTILITIES AND CITES SUCCESS OF WATER PLANT

BREA, Feb. 15.—The mid-week forum at the Congregational church Wednesday night was conducted by Mayor L. A. Hogue who, assigned to speak on the topic, "Municipal Ownership of Public Utilities," stated that he should like to change it to "How I Became Interested in Municipal Ownership of Public Utilities."

Hogue said that his interest in the subject was aroused when he became a member of the city council of Brea and realized that every item pertinent to the city's management was one of expense with the bare exception of the municipally owned water system. Proceeds from this department, he said, had always been used generously for the maintenance of various departments of the city's program.

Hogue cited Riverside, Pasadena, Long Beach, Glendale and other municipalities where city managed and owned plants and in some instances generative plants, have proved a source of handsome profits and assisted in ridding the city of excessive taxes.

He advocated the ownership of power and light distributing lines for Brea first, since that is the heaviest expense to the city. He estimated that they could be purchased for approximately $60,000 for which amount bonds would have to be voted. He stated that such bonds would be purchased by the Public Works administration at about 4 per cent and that the first year's gross income from this ownership should be approximately $36,000. These bonds could be retired at the end of the seventh year at which time the income should have reached $40,000 a year, he said. Surplus funds from the system could also be used for the retirement of other bond issues, he said ,thus relieving the citizens of the burden of taxes which yearly appears to grow heavier. His dream, he declared, was that of a tax free city.

The mayor admitted that many obstacles stand in the way of this achievement and that an educative program would have to be launched and pursued by citizens entirely removed from politics. Only a few years ago, Hogue said, the idea of municipally owned water plants was decried but for several years now it has been the custom for each community to own its own water system and in all cases they have proved a source of income.

Questioned, Hogue stated that not one city in the United States that has undertaken ownership of any public utility has ever lost money by it. Hogue stated that he had no fight with any of the public utility companies but that it was simply a matter of dollars and cents for the citizens of Brea. He saw no reason, he declared, why such a change should work to the detriment of the utility companies.

The forum followed the fellowship dinner in the church where more than 60 attended. The mid-week meeting opened with A. O. Andrew presiding in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. Donald F. Gaylord.

DOG ATTACKS CHILD

BARBER CITY, Feb. 15.—Kenneth Laden, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Laden of Barber City, is convalescing at his home from the bite of a dog. The child was attempting to take a bone away from the animal when the dog turned on him. Taken to the Community hospital at Long Beach three stitches were found necessary to close the wound. The child is convalescing satisfactorily.

HITLER, JEWS DISCUSSED IN GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 15.—Dr. E. E. Helms, former pastor of the First Methodist church in Los Angeles, was the speaker at the meeting of the Men's brotherhood held in the Methodist Episcopal church Tuesday evening. His subject was "Hitler and the Jews in Germany."

Dr. Helms stated that out of the total population of 62,000,000 only a little over one-half million are Jews, but that since the war the Jews had taken leadership in all activities of the country. One example given was that in a Berlin hospital, out of 3000 doctors, 98 per cent were Jews. When the Hitler regime started, definite efforts were made to eliminate the race. Membership of the Jews in clubs, libraries, stock exchanges and other organizations were all cancelled and one result of this was that the exports of Germany fell off 35 per cent in one month, he said. That policy alone, Dr. Helm stated, if continued would wreck Hitler and his regime.

In conclusion, Dr. Helm stated that he considered Hitler the most dangerous man in the world today. The speaker was in Germany during some of these happenings.

Ralph Chaffee, president of the organization, appointed the following nominating committee to report at the next meeting: H. D. Adams, chairman; A. A. Schnitger and J. O. Arkley.

The Young People's orchestra of the Methodist church furnished music. The group later adjourned to hear Dr. Helm preach at the regular services being held at the church all of this week.

Brea Lions Club In "Hobo" Party

BREA, Feb. 15.—Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Curtis, Dr. and Mrs. John Holland and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wharton made up the host group Tuesday night when Lions, their wives and friends were entertained in Legion hall.

All had been asked to attend a "hobo" party and both the men and women came attired in this garb. The evening was devoted to games, music, cards and dancing, with a paper bag lunch, which each guest provided, being enjoyed at the "hobo" camp in the dining room.

Willows confined the camp to the circle around the imitation camp fire where coffee brewed and was served with the lunches with only the dim glow from tin can tapers lighting the scene. A photograph operating at a distance reproduced the sounds of trains, lending a genuine "hobo" air to the camp.

ASSEMBLYMAN TELLS C. OF C. OF NEW BILLS

PLACENTIA, Feb. 15.—Much legislation that will be up at Sacramento at the next session will be open for contest, according to Ted Craig, assemblyman from this district, who talked briefly at the Placentia chamber of commerce meeting Tuesday. Craig said he anticipates the navel bill will work a hardship, and will be contested. On the earthquake bill, Assemblyman Craig said he anticipates changes, since the bill provides for drastic earthquake changes in schools. Schools in territories that are not subject to quake are not eliminated, he said.

The bill providing for serving of liquors in public places and another providing for tidelands royalties are expected to meet opposition, he said.

Members of the chamber, after George Kellogg had reported that Yorba Linda chamber of commerce had approved the turning of certain acreage of the Sunny Hills ranch to county, and school and city tax bodies for delinquent taxes, brought a varied opinion on the subject. A resolution presented to the legislative committee for perusal.

H. H. Hale, president, said he questioned the legality of the project. Stuart Strathman, secretary, said those in Valencia High school district who are interested in the formation of the district that is now in litigation, have asked him to urge opposition to the plan, since if the legality of withdrawal from the Fullerton Union High school district of the Valencia district is not approved by the court, Placentia Union Grammar school district, the Valencia High school district, will be taxed for junior college buildings on the new site, if the Placentia district re-enters the Fullerton High school district.

Warren Bradford said he thought it was a dangerous precedent to set, the paying of taxes with land, but that if it is set, he has some worthless river bottom land he will offer for flood control as payment of his taxes.

Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Babcock, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hinesly, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Eastman, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. James Ogle, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Focht, Mr. and Mrs. Arden Long and Mr. and Mrs. Jay Beardsley. FARM DEBT IS DISCUSSED AT CENTER MEET

PLACENTIA, Feb. 15.—R. D. Flaherty, of the Orange County Production Credit association, talked on the problem of farm debt at the Placentia Farm center Tuesday night, explaining how the income of ranches in 1932 had not totalled the debt on those ranches, taken as a whole throughout the country.

In the new set-up of crop loan, he said the Orange county bank has received 77 applications, amounting to a request for $147,550. Thirty-three requests have been approved in the county and have been sent to Berkeley; 45 in all have been approved in the county, and nine are up to the local board this week for approval.

W. F. Coulter presided. Gene Harris of Anaheim sang a group of Negro numbers and played "Lazy Bones" as a piano solo. Charles Knowlton and Dan Halladay talked on the walnut institute. A plan has been submitted for placing a small but complete plant for sewage reclamation as a project for CWA work, at a cost of about $4000, according to Ralph McFadden. This test plant, to reclaim about one miner's inch of water, has the approval of the board of supervisors, he said.

Warren Bradford discussed the paying of taxes with land, as proposed by the Sunny Hills ranch of Fullerton, and said he has some river bottom land he will offer for taxes, land the county may use for flood control.

Louis Jacobsen was appointed to fill the vacancy on the citrus committee, made by resignation of Harold Lang.

W. B. Corey announced a trip to Boulder dam for February 26-28, and an avocado meeting at Placentia union grammar school March 16. The citrus institute as announced for Orange union high school March 26.

DRILL PIPE THREADS BROKEN AS DEEP H. B. WELL BLOWS OUT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 15.—The W. E. McCaslin well at Twenty-first and Olive blew out again yesterday afternoon. The drill crew which is cleaning out a bridge in the well has broken the first bridge at about 6500 feet and had closed the valves to make slight repairs to the boiler. Gas accumulated in the well and the force stripped the threads on one of the six-inch pipes connected with the Christmas tree, blowing the pipe apart with a loud roar.

The welding crew was sent for and the damage repaired. The sand which the McCaslin is trying to produce from is 8300 feet deep and at times a tremendous gas pressure accumulates. The presence of a deep sand with a heavy gas pressure and oil that tests as high as 43 gravity has been proven in the well. McCaslin and Trester are making every effort to remove debris from the well and make a producer out of it. The well was recently shot with 450 quarts of nitroglycerine.

The Dr. Engles well on Seventeenth street between Walnut and Olive is being swabbed today and a good well is expected. Bottom of the hole is around 5000 feet. The well has been drilling since early in November and has experienced many delays and setbacks, but appears to be about ready to be turned into a producer.

The Bruce Brothers Oil company well between Fifteenth and Sixteenth is on the pump but plans are being made to install a compressor to bring back the production. The well is a good pumper, capable of producing 600 barrels a day on the pump but when the flow stopped the allowable was cut down to 50 barrels a day. If the compressor is a success the company will get an increase in the allowable.

The Gray Eagle well is flowing steadily, producing an allowable of 175 barrels a day. This is the well recently brought in on Seventeenth street in the second block from the ocean.

The classes of Mrs. A. B. Bowie, Mrs. Arthur Laing and Charles Mosely met first at the home of the pastor, the Rev. A. E. Laing, where music and games and a valentine box were enjoyed. Later they went to the church annex where the boys of Mr. Mosely's class presented several comical stunts. Refreshments were served.

Those attending this party in addition to the teachers were Winnifred and Margaret Pendleton, Florence, Ruth and Ella Mae Mosely, Irene Stives, Opal Estes, Mary Ellen and Voyle Roberson, Ruth Barton, Glenna Hooton, Maurice Lainy, Earl Pendleton, Lloyd Warfield, Kenneth Wagoner, Gale Clossen, Howard Swope, Charles Maybew, Clark Calderwood, Carl Chansler, William Barton, Paul Woodard, Edwin Freeman, Marshall Anderson, LeRoy Laing and Vernon Smith.

Gypsy Morell and Tom Weaver are married on the same day as Lila Hotaling and Derek Bliss, but while Lila lives in luxury Gypsy has to struggle to keep expenses within Tom's income.

After Gypsy's son is born her days become a dreary round of caring for him and caring for the home. Tom is frequently away from home evenings and Gypsy suspects he is interested in Vera Gray, who works in the same office.

Lila confesses to Gypsy that she intends to divorce Derek and marry Marko Broughton, richer and older.

Gypsy's father is seriously injured in a motor accident, but recovers. Gypsy is so relieved she resolves to forget her jealousy of Vera. However Vera continues to pursue Tom, though he does not encourage her.

Lila divorces Derek.

CHAPTER XXXVII

Tom didn't understand the change that had come over Gypsy but he was grateful for the new peace and gayety in the house. Although Vera's name was never mentioned, her presence in the city—in the office, in fact—appeared no longer to trouble young Mrs. Weaver. Tom had heard of letting sleeping dogs lie and believed in the axiom. Vera was still pretty anxious to know why she and "Tommy" couldn't be better friends. She pretended to believe she had done something to offend him. In a thousand small ways she contrived to be near him, and yet so innocently were the encounters managed that he could never be certain they had been engineered. If it had not been for Gypsy's earlier suspicions he would have put himself down as a fatuous fool for even considering the matter.

But there were no two ways about it, he couldn't ever bring Vera and Gypsy together. They didn't like each other and never would. Vera was a good business woman. There were plenty of things he would have liked to discuss with her outside the office. Her mind was keen. She had a feline shrewdness. And so it was that he fell again and again into small traps of her making. He would be lunching at the sandwich bar and she would appear beside him with a plate of cold cuts and a salad. Tom would listen, talk, smile while the lovely woman at his side, her gilt hair just showing under the demure green hat, would murmur, encourage, applaud.

"You handled Whitman exactly right, Tommy."

"Think so?" Even a clever man likes flattery. Tom Weaver was not stupid and he enjoyed appreciation.

"Do I think so? I know it, you blessed idiot." Vera's flashing smile belied the words.

"Bert's having the thing at his place Monday night. I wish you could get up there. The Manners people are coming. They'd be useful." Vera would say with a speculative look.

Tom would flush, stammer, get out of it. Of course, Vera understood. Of course, he was busy. It was quite all right.

"Darn it all," Tom would mutter to himself later. "I'd better run out on that girl. This will come to no good."

Later at home, he would talk to Gypsy about the Whitman matter. "I got that soap account I told you about," he would say with becoming modesty at dinner.

"Oh, really, dear? Now where did I put that carving knife? Or where did Elsa put it? She's getting so careless...." Gypsy would put down the platter with the steak. 'Sit down while everything's hot, darling. What was it you were saying about something?"

* * *

Tom might sigh a little. It wasn't that Gypsy lacked interest. She had plenty of it but she was just wrapped up in other affairs. She might notice he looked a bit downcast.

"Tell me more about it, darling," she might urge. "You know I'm thrilled to hear."

And Tom might go on but the first rosy glow of his enthusiasm would be dimmed. He would harbor the suspicion that Gypsy was more concerned about the sauce for the cauliflower than anything else.

Hunt Gibson had fallen into the habit of "dropping around" in the evening. These were the first warm nights of summer and in the city the spell was evident. Gypsy, in thin, many-times-washed organdies from last season, would sit sewing under the amber lamp.

"Come in," she would say welcomingly, "I thought you'd be out at the Lido Club tonight. Ronney said you were all going."

Tom would go out into the kitchen to stir up a cool drink and Hunt would explain lightly that he had changed his plans at the last minute; something had come up.

Occasionally he brought Sue with him—Sue, looking unusually pretty and extremely wraith-like these days. But oftener than not he came alone.

One night after Tom had closed the door after their guest he came back into the living room and stood, thoughtful and silent, for a moment. His quiet, listening attitude gave Gypsy pause.

"What's up, darling?"

He stared down at her. "I've just come on something. That chap's in love with you.'

She burst into a peal of laughter. "Where did you get that idea?'

He didn't smile. "Happens to be true.

Gypsy was annoyed. "Tommy, you never talk that way. It's—it's not a bit nice of you, really We don't go in for this sort of thing, do we?"

They dropped the subject then and there but neither of them forgot it entirely. Gypsy had always said she despised young married women who carried on flirtations—either openly or behind their husbands backs. It all seemed pretty cheap, somehow. But she found the thought of Hunt's liking her wasn't entirely unpleasant. Why, when she had been jealous of Tom, angry at him because he had been seeing Vera Gray, she had even entertained the thought of irritating him with an admirer of her own. Of course that was as far as she had gone—merely thinking of it. All wives, she reminded herself, do that at moments; the spirit of retaliation is neither a noble nor a beautiful one and she was ashamed now of her sentiments.

Just the same, it gave her a small, secret satisfaction to think that Hunt admired her.

Sue telephoned her one day and asked her to come to tea at the Vanderbilt, their old meeting place.

"I'd love to," Gypsy said. "How does it happen you're on the loose today?"

But Sue was vague. She would explain, she said, when they met.

It was warm, clear and bright. Gypsy wore her new printed silk, black with a scattering of field flowers, and her wide shallow-crowned hat. She felt cool, well dressed and happy, a delightful combination. Her steps fairly danced along the crowded pavements and when she came into the deep, high-ceiled hotel lobby with its furniture already gay in summer slip covers it was with an almost overpowered sense of well being.

Sue, in this dim light light, was pale. Her forget-me-not eyes were enormous and the few faint golden freckles on the bridge of her small nose made her white skin look almost translucent. Gypsy felt a pang of concern. Why, Sue was ill, really ill, and not one of them had noticed it!

They sat over their tea, two well dressed young women with pleasant voices, and no one noticed them particularly. One was dark, the other red-haired, and they behaved, the casual onlooker would have said, like old friends.

But the first words Sue said to Gypsy were scarcely what the casual onlooker would have guessed them to be. She said, "I wanted to see you before I went away. I'm terribly ill. I may not be in New York again."

"May not be....why, Sue, dear! This is dreadful. What is it and why didn't you let me know before?"

The hand stirring the cup of tea trembled and Sue's under lip trembled, too. "It's nerves," she said. "I'm all shot to pieces. I'm going out west, to Wyoming, to Aunt Henry's. I shall stay there—oh, forever, perhaps!"

* * *

Her eyes shone with unshed tears and her voice shook. Gypsy watched her, troubled. Sue who had always been so happy-go-lucky, so utterly care-free—what on earth had brought her to this state?

"You've been working too hard," she said. "And playing too hard in the bargain. Why, only the other day Hunt said...."

Sue interrupted her, eyes glittering. "Hunt said what?"

"Don't be so fierce, Sue," Gypsy said gently. "He said you were burning the candle at both ends.."

"Hunt said that!" Sue linked her white fingers and stared out of the window at the armory opposite. "Ha! That's really funny."

"Well, I don't know," pursued Gypsy. "He said you were partying every night until the small hours and that you'd lost weight and your mother was scolding. But I didn't pay much attention to that. I know how she always worries...."

"I don't know what on earth Hunt Gibson has to do with me," Sue said hotly and proudly. "It's none of his business what I do or where I go...."

"Of course, of course it isn't," Gypsy said quickly. "He was only being kind. He's so fond of you.."

"Fond! Indeed!"

"Well, isn't he your cousin, after all?"

"About a forty-seventh one," Sue said with emphasis.

"Well, then!" Gypsy dropped another lump into her tea. She told herself she didn't know what had got into Sue, she was so queer today.

The other girl's breath was coming more quickly now. She was fixing Gypsy with a glittering, feverish gaze.

"Will you tell Hunt to mind his own business if he speaks of me again?"

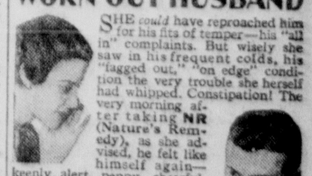

"Sue, dear, I don't know what this is all about," the other girl began placatingly. "I'm terribly sorry...."

"You ought to know," Sue said with a shrug. "You ought to be able to guess. He talks of nothing else. It's Gypsy..Gypsy..Gypsy.."

Tom's words came back to her and she flushed. What was Sue driving at and why did she look at her so accusingly?

What SHE TOLD WORN-OUT HUSBAND

An official and direct protest to the various governmental agencies engaged in spreading water and constructing spreading works on tributaries to the Santa Ana river was embodied in a resolution unanimously adopted by directors of the Orange County Water District at a monthly meeting yesterday afternoon in the Garden Grove Chamber of Commerce offices.

Intimation that the board plans to take direct action to attempt to prevent the exportation of water from the district for use on lands outside the district was made in a discussion concerning the alleged transportation of water by a water company the Bixby interests are interested in over the Peralta hills north of Olive onto land said to be outside of the district.

Chairman Willis Warner was authorized by the board to appoint a legal committee to work with Attorney A. W. Rutan, board attorney, to investigate the matter and report back at the next meeting.

Exempt Main Works

After a protest was made by Schumacher that the spreading works in the main channel of the upper Santa Ana river had been excluded from the protesting resolution, an addition to the resolution was made explaining why this was done.

The resolution, drafted by Attorney A. W. Rutan, resolved "that any operations now being carried on for spreading of water adjacent to the main river bed of the Santa Ana river be not included in this protest for reasons that any work heretofore done has not been in the main bed of the river and for the further reason that the board is informed that there are negotiations now in progress leading up to the settlement of all controversies regarding spreading operations on the debris cone of the Santa Ana river."

This part of the resolution indicated that a definite movement is on foot to settle controversies and to reach an agreement regarding the amount of water which should come down to Orange county from the main channel of the river. In this case, it was understood, it would be necessary to revise the so-called gentleman's agreemnt between Orange county officials and officials of upper counties, so that the measuring point would be changed from the Chapman street bridge to a point higher up on the river.

Injury Would Follow

The resolution adopted pointed out that the United States government, through its various agencies, is contemplating certain projects for spreading of water on upper river cones including San Antonio creek, Deer and Day creeks, Cucamonga, Lytle and Mill creeks.

"The Orange County Water District," the document declared, "is vitally interested in the result of the proposed projects by reason of the fact that spreading on the upper cones will greatly decrease the water supply to which the portion of Orange county in the Orange County Water District is entitled and cause great and irreparable injury to this section."

The resolution protested expenditure of moneys by the various agencies of the government on the spreading project until an agreement is reached as to the amount of water which the district and all Orange county is entitled and which should be permitted to pass to the county before spreading is commenced.

Protect Rightful Share

It was pointed out that it is not the desire of the directors to obstruct the carrying out of public works and the employment of labor, but the board insisted that the share of Orange county in the runoff from the Santa Ana river and its tributaries be protected by such means as are lawful and proper so that Orange county may receive its rightful share of the waters of the streams.

An official application for continuing the water spreading work in the river in Orange county, directed to CWA officials, was presented to Murray Thompson, flood control engineer and was approved and signed by members of the board. The amount to be spent was set at $3665.

Several directors announced their intention of going to the Montrose section with the Farm Bureau party tomorrow to inspect the damage done by the recent flood.

Director Mauerhan announced that the cost of the district election officially was $5757.39. He said there have been statements made that the election cost more than $20,000.

ATTORNEY FOR COUNTY WATER BOARD NAMED

A. W. Rutan, attorney for the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company, who was one of the drafters of the Orange County Water District bill, was employed as official attorney of the district by the board of directors at a monthly meeting held yesterday afternoon in the Garden Grove Chamber of Commerce offices.

A split vote was recorded by Secretary C. A. Palmer in balloting on the matter of hiring an attorney. Directors William Wallop and William Schumacher opposed the hiring of Rutan by voting no. Director Frank Champion moved for the adoption of a resolution hiring Rutan for a period "at the discretion of the board."

Director William Mauerhan seconded the motion, and favorable votes were cast by Directors Roy Browning, Champion, Mauerhan, Willis Warner and Palmer. Schumacher said he was not opposed to Rutan personally, but did not believe an attorney was needed at this time.

A letter setting out terms under which he would work from Rutan was adopted as part of the resolution. Rutan will draw a retaining fee of $100 a month, which includes attendance at all meetings of the board, drawing up all legal papers necessary, official consultations with members of the board.

For special matters under the power and provisions given under the water district bill such as negotiations and litigation leading to adjudication of water rights in the Santa Ana river, extra fees will be charged, which will be increased if the consultation is held outside the county. For all time spent actually in court in litigating matters, a charge of $50 a day and actual expenses when in court outside of Orange county will be charged.

Terms agreed on specified that no members of the board will be liable personally for expenses of the attorney's employment, and fees are to be paid only when the water district has on hands funds to pay the fees.

NATIONAL ORANGE SHOW OPENS TODAY

Declared by those who have had a preview of the settings to be the world's most beautiful exposition, the 24th annual National Orange Show opens for 10 days in San Bernardino today. GOVERNOR AND AIDES VISIT COUNTY; SUGGESTS BANKS APPROVE MORE LAND LOANS

Emphasizing that his visits to county seats in California are only a fulfilment of a pre-election promise to pay annual visits to each county, and sounding a note of optimism for the future, Governor James Rolph spoke to about 250 persons at a Kiwanis club luncheon yesterday.

Governor Rolph was accompanied by Phil Stanton, highway commissioner; Lotus Loudon, of the board of directors of Tehachapi prison; Joseph P. Smith, real estate commissioner; D. Eyman Huff, of the state fair board; S. V. Cortelyou, district state engineer; Eric Cullenward, of the department of public works; Earl Barrens, of the San Francisco Chronicle; E. Raymond Cato, head of the California highway patrol; Col. Carlos Huntington, director of vocational and professional standards; Edward W. Rainey, state bank superintendent; Roland A. Vandegrift, state finance director, and William C. McCarthy, the governor's executive secretary.

Governor Rolph, who was introduced by Mayor Paul Witmer, declared that there are definite evidences of better times and that the depression days are behind. He said farmers who raise wheat and barley have made profits, that hop growers have made fabulous profits, that citrus returns were good and nuts were bringing better prices.

"Going Ahead"

"When shipping, agriculture and manufacture are in good condition," he declared, "times are good. These times are upon us now and we are going ahead."

He expressed the hope that banks in Orange county would approve more loans on land in the future. Recognition of Soviet Russia will aid California manufacture, he said. Federal aid in the unemployed situation has helped, he declared, and coupled with projects such as the San Francisco bay bridge and the Central Valley Water Project, will aid in the recovery movement.

He spent considerable time lauding the heads of his departments which were present. "A man is known by the company he keeps," he said several times after terming the department heads honest, capable and trustworthy.

Vandegrift spoke briefly, declaring that the state has paid in cash all obligations for bond interest and redemption, and that California bonds bring the best price of any in the nation. He predicted that the budget of the state would be balanced by the end of the administration.

Rainey declared all banks in Orange county are in sound condition, and pointed to the reopening of the Southern Counties bank in Anaheim after being closed as evidence of this. California is leading the way to recovery, he declared.

Praises Patrolmen

Cato lauded the work of members of his organization in Orange county, calling attention to the fact that they have won the state chamber of commerce prize for the greatest reduction in deaths last year. He pointed out, however, that deaths this year have shown an increase of 1.1 per cent, although the accident rate has been reduced 15 per cent. He attributed the increase in deaths to excessive speed.

Theo. Winbigler, president of Kiwanis club, presided, while George A. Raymer, secretary of the chamber of commerce, acted as master of ceremonies. Invocation was given by the Rev. Albert Kelly.

An inspiring talk, although brief, on the life of Abraham Lincoln was given by the Rev. Harry Evan Owings, who declared that the three great principles of Lincoln which helped build an unified nation were: (1) an unshakable confidence in the people, (2) a keen appreciation of human rights which made him known as a humanitarian and as the emancipator, and, (3) the principle of standing by all things that were right, crowned with a spirit of magnaminity.

DOCTORS MAY BE PAID FOR RELIEF WORK

Committees appointed by the Orange County Medical association are studying various plans used in other counties where physicians receive some compensation for their services to the needy and unemployed individuals and families, it was learned today.

Members of the Orange County Medical association feel that something of this sort should be done sooner or later in Orange county, Dr. Harry G. Huffman, president of the society said. When a plan has been evolved, it will be presented to the membership for considerations.

Physicians have been, and are, donating their services to those of the thousands on the relief rolls and in the unemployed ranks who have been in need of medical attention, it is reported. Under the provisions of the federal relief organization doctors and nurses will be compensated with certain limited fees when called to care for those who are unable to pay for treatment or nursing.

This plan has been adopted in Los Angeles county, and is expected to be functioning this week. The Los Angeles County Medical association has been selected to administer the portion of the relief funds paid out in this manner.

An official and direct protest to the various governmental agencies engaged in spreading water and constructing spreading works on tributaries to the Santa Ana river was embodied in a resolution unanimously adopted by directors of the Orange County Water District at a monthly meeting yesterday afternoon in the Garden Grove Chamber of Commerce offices.

Intimation that the board plans to take direct action to attempt to prevent the exportation of water from the district for use on lands outside the district was made in a discussion concerning the alleged transportation of water by a water company the Bixby interests are interested in over the Peralta hills north of Olive onto land said to be outside of the district.

Chairman Willis Warner was authorized by the board to appoint a legal committee to work with Attorney A. W. Rutan, board attorney, to investigate the matter and report back at the next meeting.

Exempt Main Works

After a protest was made by Schumacher that the spreading works in the main channel of the upper Santa Ana river had been excluded from the protesting resolution, an addition to the resolution was made explaining why this was done.

The resolution, drafted by Attorney A. W. Rutan, resolved "that any operations now being carried on for spreading of water adjacent to the main river bed of the Santa Ana river be not included in this protest for reasons that any work heretofore done has not been in the main bed of the river and for the further reason that the board is informed that there are negotiations now in progress leading up to the settlement of all controversies regarding spreading operations on the debris cone of the Santa Ana river."

This part of the resolution indicated that a definite movement is on foot to settle controversies and to reach an agreement regarding the amount of water which should come down to Orange county from the main channel of the river. In this case, it was understood, it would be necessary to revise the so-called gentleman's agreemnt between Orange county officials and officials of upper counties, so that the measuring point would be changed from the Chapman street bridge to a point higher up on the river.

Injury Would Follow

The resolution adopted pointed out that the United States government, through its various agencies, is contemplating certain projects for spreading of water on upper river cones including San Antonio creek, Deer and Day creeks, Cucamonga, Lytle and Mill creeks.

"The Orange County Water District," the document declared, "is vitally interested in the result of the proposed projects by reason of the fact that spreading on the upper cones will greatly decrease the water supply to which the portion of Orange county in the Orange County Water District is entitled and cause great and irreparable injury to this section."

The resolution protested expenditure of moneys by the various agencies of the government on the spreading project until an agreement is reached as to the amount of water which the district and all Orange county is entitled and which should be permitted to pass to the county before spreading is commenced.

Protect Rightful Share

It was pointed out that it is not the desire of the directors to obstruct the carrying out of public works and the employment of labor, but the board insisted that the share of Orange county in the runoff from the Santa Ana river and its tributaries be protected by such means as are lawful and proper so that Orange county may receive its rightful share of the waters of the streams.

An official application for continuing the water spreading work in the river in Orange county, directed to CWA officials, was presented to Murray Thompson, flood control engineer and was approved and signed by members of the board. The amount to be spent was set at $3665.

Several directors announced their intention of going to the Montrose section with the Farm Bureau party tomorrow to inspect the damage done by the recent flood.

Director Mauerhan announced that the cost of the district election officially was $5757.39. He said there have been statements made that the election cost more than $20,000.

ATTORNEY FOR COUNTY WATER BOARD NAMED

A. W. Rutan, attorney for the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company, who was one of the drafters of the Orange County Water District bill, was employed as official attorney of the district by the board of directors at a monthly meeting held yesterday afternoon in the Garden Grove Chamber of Commerce offices.

A split vote was recorded by Secretary C. A. Palmer in balloting on the matter of hiring an attorney. Directors William Wallop and William Schumacher opposed the hiring of Rutan by voting no. Director Frank Champion moved for the adoption of a resolution hiring Rutan for a period "at the discretion of the board."

Director William Mauerhan seconded the motion, and favorable votes were cast by Directors Roy Browning, Champion, Mauerhan, Willis Warner and Palmer. Schumacher said he was not opposed to Rutan personally, but did not believe an attorney was needed at this time.

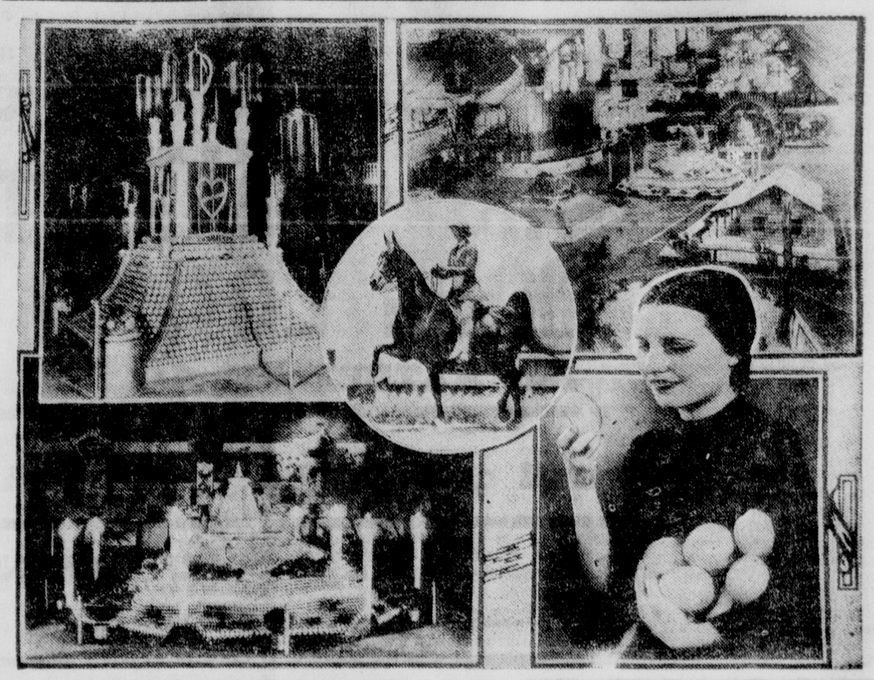

A letter setting out terms under which he would work from Rutan was adopted as part of the resolution. Rutan will draw a retaining fee of $100 a month, which includes attendance at all meetings of the board, drawing up all legal papers necessary, official consultations with members of the board.

For special matters under the power and provisions given under the water district bill such as negotiations and litigation leading to adjudication of water rights in the Santa Ana river, extra fees will be charged, which will be increased if the consultation is held outside the county. For all time spent actually in court in litigating matters, a charge of $50 a day and actual expenses when in court outside of Orange county will be charged.

Terms agreed on specified that no members of the board will be liable personally for expenses of the attorney's employment, and fees are to be paid only when the water district has on hands funds to pay the fees.

Valentine Day Offers Appropriate News of January Wedding

No more appropriate date for revealing a romance could be desired than St. Valentine's day, so that Miss Frances Vieira's revelation last night to her sorority sisters in Sigma Theta, that she had been Mrs. Roscoe Morris ever since Tuesday, January 16, seemed to place the finishing touch of romance to a delightful evening.

The announcement was a sequel to the usual short business session of the sorority group, whose members met in the home at 1104 South Van Ness avenue, of Mrs. Clifford Quisell, a sister of their hostess. Mrs. Joe Irwin, sorority president, was called to the door just at the close of the business interval and there handed a parcel.

She was plainly puzzled over this when she rejoined the group and even more so as she opened the package to reveal a large valentine heart. When this was examined, a small card bearing pictures of the supposed Miss Vieira and Mr. Morris, came into view, and beneath was inscribed the date, January 16.

The young couple had motored to Yuma, Ariz., on that date, and taken their wedding vows before Judge E. A. Freeman, Yuma's famous "marrying judge." Only members of their family circles were aware of the romantic nature of the day's outing, and last night's announcement was the first intimation received by their friends.

It was difficult for guests to turn their attention to the more prosaic plans for bridge, but tables were placed for the game, and scores were tallied on appropriate valentine cards. Pretty compacts given as prizes were secured by Miss Martha Wallingford and Miss Ruth Owens.

The new Mrs. Morris had the assistance of her mother, Mrs. W. C. Vieira, and of her two sisters and sister-in-law, Miss Mildred Vieira, Mrs. Clifford Quisell and Mrs. Harold Vieira, in all hospitable details of the evening. They had arranged appropriate decorations of flowers in valentine red and white, especially striking at the refreshment hour following bridge. Gay red hearts adorned covers and napkins used at the small tables, and vivid red sweet peas were used as centerpieces. Following the salad course were individual heart cakes the iced surface of each one bearing a single scarlet heart. These had been baked by Mrs. Vieira especially for her daughter.

Mr. Morris, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe A. Morris, of Havana, Cuba, and Los Angeles, has been connected with the city of Balboa since his graduation from Santa High school. His bride the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Vieira, 324 East Bishop street, completed both Santa Ana High school and Junior college, and for the past three and a half years has been in the circulation department of the Register.

Sigma Theta sorority members to whom the news was told last night were the Misses Betty Wiswall, Helen Spangler, Loretta Spangler, Frances Bowman, Harriet Gretner, Berenice Summers, Wilma Silver, Eleanor Rairdon, Betty Hewitt, Doris Rohrbacher, Martha Wallingford, Georgina Irwin, Katherine Cornwall, Ruth Owens, Barbara Rurup, Louise Rurup, Corinne Lecrevain, Dorothy Lewis, Mesdames Joe Irwin, William Jerome jr., with a guest, Mrs. Wayne Gross of Balboa, and the assisting hostesses, Mrs. W. C. Vieira, Mrs. Harold Vieira, Mrs. Clifford Quisell and Miss Mildred Vieira.

Valentine Day Offers Appropriate News of January Wedding

No more appropriate date for revealing a romance could be desired than St. Valentine's day, so that Miss Frances Vieira's revelation last night to her sorority sisters in Sigma Theta, that she had been Mrs. Roscoe Morris ever since Tuesday, January 16, seemed to place the finishing touch of romance to a delightful evening.

The announcement was a sequel to the usual short business session of the sorority group, whose members met in the home at 1104 South Van Ness avenue, of Mrs. Clifford Quisell, a sister of their hostess. Mrs. Joe Irwin, sorority president, was called to the door just at the close of the business interval and there handed a parcel.

She was plainly puzzled over this when she rejoined the group and even more so as she opened the package to reveal a large valentine heart. When this was examined, a small card bearing pictures of the supposed Miss Vieira and Mr. Morris, came into view, and beneath was inscribed the date, January 16.

The young couple had motored to Yuma, Ariz., on that date, and taken their wedding vows before Judge E. A. Freeman, Yuma's famous "marrying judge." Only members of their family circles were aware of the romantic nature of the day's outing, and last night's announcement was the first intimation received by their friends.

It was difficult for guests to turn their attention to the more prosaic plans for bridge, but tables were placed for the game, and scores were tallied on appropriate valentine cards. Pretty compacts given as prizes were secured by Miss Martha Wallingford and Miss Ruth Owens.

The new Mrs. Morris had the assistance of her mother, Mrs. W. C. Vieira, and of her two sisters and sister-in-law, Miss Mildred Vieira, Mrs. Clifford Quisell and Mrs. Harold Vieira, in all hospitable details of the evening. They had arranged appropriate decorations of flowers in valentine red and white, especially striking at the refreshment hour following bridge. Gay red hearts adorned covers and napkins used at the small tables, and vivid red sweet peas were used as centerpieces. Following the salad course were individual heart cakes the iced surface of each one bearing a single scarlet heart. These had been baked by Mrs. Vieira especially for her daughter.

Mr. Morris, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe A. Morris, of Havana, Cuba, and Los Angeles, has been connected with the city of Balboa since his graduation from Santa High school. His bride the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Vieira, 324 East Bishop street, completed both Santa Ana High school and Junior college, and for the past three and a half years has been in the circulation department of the Register.

Sigma Theta sorority members to whom the news was told last night were the Misses Betty Wiswall, Helen Spangler, Loretta Spangler, Frances Bowman, Harriet Gretner, Berenice Summers, Wilma Silver, Eleanor Rairdon, Betty Hewitt, Doris Rohrbacher, Martha Wallingford, Georgina Irwin, Katherine Cornwall, Ruth Owens, Barbara Rurup, Louise Rurup, Corinne Lecrevain, Dorothy Lewis, Mesdames Joe Irwin, William Jerome jr., with a guest, Mrs. Wayne Gross of Balboa, and the assisting hostesses, Mrs. W. C. Vieira, Mrs. Harold Vieira, Mrs. Clifford Quisell and Miss Mildred Vieira.

One Man Exhibit Will Present Work of Jean Goodwin

Attracting interested attention here in the home city of Miss Jean Goodwin, is the announcement of an exhibit of Miss Goodwin's latest pictures, to be in progress throughout the remainder of February at the photographic salon of Milan B. Miller, 1509 North Main street.

Miss Goodwin will have, for the inspection of her friends and admirers, a collection of her recent studies in pastels as well as many of her finest prints. On Sunday afternoon, February 18, Mr. and Mrs. Miller are complimenting the artist at an informal reception from 3 to 6 o'clock to which all of Miss Goodwin's friends and those interested in her work, are invited. While Milan B. Miller's photographic art studies will be available for those wishing to see them, they are given no prominence during this exhibit, which is essentially one of Miss Goodwin's work.

As a member of the teaching staff at Citrus Junior college on the Foothill boulevard near Monrovia, Miss Goodwin is enabled to come to Santa Ana to spend her week ends with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Goodwin, 606 East Santa Clara avenue.

NEW MEMBERS ARE ADDED BY ORANGE UNION

ORANGE, Feb. 15.—Following a program outlined by the national organization, members of the W. C. T. U. met Tuesday in the Friendly Hand class room of the First Presbyterian church, where the topic of the day was "Our National Recovery Act." The discussion centered around ways of recovering lost members of the organization. It was reported that three new members had been secured at a class meeting of the First Christian church and three at the Mennonite church, through talks made at these places by Mrs. Necia Buck, national lecturer.

Mrs. Minnie Neville presided and responses to roll call included items of varied interest regarding temperance work. Mrs. Mary Gross asked for contributions of magazines and colored pictures for L. T. L. work. The organization will meet at her home Monday afternoon, she stated. Mrs. Margaret McClelland, well known as a W. C. T. U. worker in Orange county, who moved to Orange recently from Santa Ana, made a brief talk.

Mrs. Pearl Kendall Hess made a talk based on a report from a press bureau concerning facts of post repeal. The slogan, "Things are different now," will be stressed by this department the coming year, Mrs. Hess said. In her talk the speaker brought out that a modern bartender had said that the old saloon is not coming back as women will not stand for it. "Look at the swell break we have now," the speaker quoted. "Women come in here just like they were going to a tea room."

Mrs. Neville urged all women to attend the Day of Prayer to be held at the Mennonite church Friday. She asked that all bring table services for the covered dish luncheon at noon. Mrs. Clara Sumner conducted the devotional service.

A letter was read from Sam Collins, United States congressman, who stated that he was glad to learn the attitude taken by the Orange group on the Patman motion picture bill, which seeks to regulate pictures.

Attention was called to billboards erected by the county union which bear the words, "Liquor and gasoline don't mix."

PRISCILLA GROUP IN SEWING MEETING

VILLA PARK, Feb. 15.—The Priscilla club met at the home of Mrs. Louis DeLong on Serrano road Wednesday afternoon. Double nasturtiums in yellow shades, the gift of Mrs. Walter Adams, and yellow sweet peas and ranunculus were used in decorating.

A short business session was held at which Mrs. Albert E. Hughes presided. Mrs. John Allen told of her recent trip to Boulder dam. Fancy work and conversation were enjoyed and late in the afternoon the hostess served heart shaped sandwiches, fruit salad with whipped cream, cup cakes with cocoanut icing and candy hearts, tea and coffee on individual trays. The next meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Albert Hughes in Santa Ana canyon.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your headaches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Wee Scouty yelled to Buzz, the bee, "Oh, will you please explain to me just where you get the honey that you carry in your hod?"

The bee replied, "From flowers, my son. And gath'ring it is lots of fun. I'm very friendly with the flowers that spring up from the sod."

"And, where's your hive?" asked Goldy. "Gee, we'd like it very much if we could see it. Is it near at hand, and can we follow you?

"We'll promise no bad luck we'll bring, 'cause none of us will touch a thing. We're simply interested, Buzz, in seeing something new."

Ol' Buzz just smiled and said, "Why, sure! Come right along. I guess that you're nice girls and boys. Just follow on this path that I have worn."

They reached the hive and Buzz then cried, "I'll pour the honey right inside." Then Dotty said, "Your hive is shaped just like a big acorn."

Real shortly to a flower they went, and quite a little time was spent in getting honey from it. Then back to the hive they ran.

Soon Nick said, "Well, it seems to me you've seen all that there is to see around this place. We'll find another new sight, if we can."

They roamed 'round through the woods a while and then Nick shouted with a smile, "Why, I see my friend Spinny Spider sitting over there.

"She'll interest you all, I know. Let's just go up and say hello. She's working at her spinning wheel. A web is in the air."

Historic Breaks For Freedom

How Cellini Escaped from the Castle of Sant' Angelo

Benvenuto Cellini, famous artist and adventurer of the sixteenth century, whose autobiography is said to be one of the best ever written.

Attaching his improvised rope to the projection of a battlement, Cellini began his dangerous descent.

By Alfred Sorenson

THE most thrilling episode in the career of Benvenuto Cellini, famous sculptor and adventurer, was his escape from the prison of Sant' Angelo castle in Rome, where he had been confined by order of the pope, Paul III. It was a bold exploit in which he overcame seemingly insurmountable obstacles and proved himself a man of resource and nerve.

Benvenuto Cellini was born in 1500 in Florence, where he learned sculpture, engraving and goldsmithing. After a quarrel with his father he left home and wandered to Rome, where his artistic skill quickly won the admiration and patronage of the nobility and the wealthy.

In the war between Charles V and Francis I, when Rome was pillaged, Cellini had charge of the artillery in the castle of Sant' Angelo. Later, he became stampmaster in the mint for Pope Clement, designing and stamping the pope's coins and jewels.

When Clement died, his successor, Paul III, sent for Cellini to strike his coins. Paul was informed Cellini was in hiding for the murder of Pompeo, a Milanese jeweler. The pope replied Cellini had great provocation for the act and pardoned him.

Soon after Cellini was arrested on the false charge of having stolen some of the Pope's church jewels. Cellini denied the accusation and referred the authorities to the records in which track of the church jewels was kept.

"AND yet you have murdered two men," said the governor of Sant' Angelo. Such was the fact. Besides murdering Pompeo, he had killed a soldier who had slain Cellini's brother, Cecchio.

Examination of the records showed that no jewels were missing. Nevertheless Cellini was sent back to his cell in the castle of Sant' Angelo. He was 37. He had been in Rome for 20 years and had won a high reputation as an artistic designer and workman.

He had made many warm friends and admirers, but he had also made numerous enemies who now "set about to contrive his death," as he says in his autobiography. He was allowed to do odd jobs of jewelrywork with gold, silver and wax to relieve the monotony of his imprisonment. As time passed he made up his mind to escape.

Having completed his plan, Cellini cut his bedsheets into strips and wove them into a rope. With a pair of pincers, which he had stolen from a guard who did odd jobs of carpentering in the castle, he pulled out the nails of the hinges of his cell door.

With his wax—colored in imitation of iron—he filled the places of the missing nails. He left enough nails in the hinges to support the door. In the night previous to a feast day he resolved to make the break.

OPENING his cell door, after great effort, Cellini came out on the side of the tower, carrying his bundle of rope and with a poinard stuck in the garter of his breeches. Scaling the wall, he securely fastened his rope and descended hand over hand.

On reaching the ground he found a high wall before him. Discovering a long pole beneath a pile of straw, he tied a piece of his rope to one end and placed it against the wall. He climbed up and hurried on to the last rampart.

On the way, with his poinard in hand, he met two sentinels on their rounds. One gave him a wide berth, while the other did not seem to notice him.

Attaching his improvised rope to the projection of a battlement, Cellini began his dangerous descent. Part way down his hands became so sore and tired that he lost his grip and fell to the ground. He landed on his head and lay stunned for more than an hour.

The day was just breaking when he regained consciousness. When he attempted to rise he discovered his right leg had been broken just above the ankle.

BINDING his leg with a piece of rope, he crawled to the city gate. It was locked. He withdrew a stone from beneath the door and crept into the city.

Struggling along a short distance, he was attacked by several fierce mastiffs and was severely bitten. Drawing his poinard, he wounded one of his assailants and put the pack to flight.

Cellini, well nigh exhausted, proceeded as best he could, until he met a water carrier, whom he induced to carry him a few rods. He crawled to the steps of a palace occupied by a noble woman, who was numbered among his warm friends. She was the wife of the Duke of Ottavia and daughter of the emperor.

A servant of Cardinal Conaro, who happened to be in the palace, recognized the crippled Cellini and informed his master. The cardinal gave orders to have the fugitive carried up to his own room, and when the unfortunate man was brought in he was assured he had found a safe retreat.

A surgeon was summoned, the broken leg was set and Cellini was assigned to a secret chamber.

THE city of Rome was all upset by the escape of Cellini when the facts of his wonderful exploit became fully known. It was the principal subject of conversation in all circles of society. Cardinal Conaro called on the pope, and related all the circumstances of the flight and made a strong appeal for leniency.

The pope was deeply impressed and expressed sorrow for Cellini, to whom he sent a message advising him "to mind his health," and assured him that amends would be made for all his troubles.

Meanwhile Cellini was visited by a large number of prominent men and women who looked upon him as a hero. The pope regarded his escape as wonderful and said to the governor of the castle: "Cellini is a brave fellow and his exploit is something marvelous; all the same, when I was a young man I also descended from the fortress at that very spot."

This was true, but in his descent he had assistance and did not meet with the obstacles that had confronted Cellini. It seems that Paul III had been imprisoned in Sant' Angelo for forging a document at the time he was an abbreviator in the Collegium di Marco Marjori.

Pope Alexander confined him for quite a time and resolved to put him to death. The date of the execution, however, was postponed until after Corpus Domini. On that very day Farnese—as Pope Paul III was then known—bribed some of the officials and was let down in a basket attached to a rope.

He got away without any difficulty whatever as there were no outer walls around the castle at that time.

ALL seemed to be moving smoothly while Cellini was recovering. Then the pope took offense over a pert reply to a request he had made for the polishing of a ring. As a result of his pertness Cellini was strapped to his chair and taken to the worst criminal prison in Rome, where he was placed in a condemned cell. Believing that his throat was to be cut, he spent much of his time in prayer, calling upon God to save him.

Cellini would probably have been executed had it not been for the earnest pleading of a few influential friends. He was immediately returned to Sant' Angelo and put in a gloomy dungeon below the level of the garden, flooded with water, and swarming with spiders and worms.

His bed was a rotten mattress; he was deprived of all conveniences; and he was treated cruelly. It is no wonder that he contemplated suicide, and, as he says in his autobiography, if he had been possessed of a knife he would very likely have ended his wretched existence. He claimed that an attempt was made to poison him by mixing diamond dust in his food.

But a favorable turn of the tide came at last in the affairs of Cellini. The king of France had asked the pope for the extradition of the famous prisoner for whom His Majesty had great admiration on account of his works of art.

CARDINAL FERRARA called on the pope and in the course of the social visit, which was enlivened by the drinking of much wine, suggested that His Holiness grant the request of the French king. The pope, who was in a very jolly mood, replied: "On the spot, this instant, you shall take him to your house."

Cellini, accordingly was set free and was conducted to the residence of the cardinal, where he was received with marked kindness and was tenderly cared for. The cardinal informed him that if he had not obtained his freedom that very evening he would never have been liberated.

It was really the mellowing influence of wine that had temporarily changed the attitude of the pope, who, after he had regained sobriety, expressed his regret for having turned Cellini loose. He would not, however, rescind his order even upon sober second thought.

Cellini remained for some time in Cardinal Ferrara's palace, and when fully recovered resumed his vocation.

But he soon became as restless as ever and took to traveling. In the course of his wanderings while located temporarily here and there, he produced many exquisite works of art, at the same time meeting with all sorts of adventures and difficulties even up to the day of his death.

THE fame of Cellini is perpetuated in his works of art and in his autobiography. An eminent authority declares that the story of his life is one of the four best autobiographies ever written. In this critic's words, the book is a "production of the utmost energy, directness and racy animation."

It tells of his pursuits, animosities, passions, delights, his love of art, his extravagances, deeds of violence, his amours and all sorts of adventures.

A distinguished critic has pronounced his autobiography "one of the most fascinating books ever written."

"He was vain," says this critic of Cellini, "egotistical, self-assertive, a seeker of applause, a ready fighter, a courtier, a companion of princes, a restless traveler, a many-sided genius, whose career throughout was marked by trouble and turbulence."

THE description is not an exaggeration. As a fighter he had little heed for his own safety. During the pillage of Rome, he wounded the Prince of Orange by the discharge of a musket, and he himself claimed that he killed the Constable de Bourbon with a shot from an arquebus, a different type of musket.

It was then that he had the opportunity to serve Pope Clement as stampmaster. Here again his genius cropped out in his indifference to the commands even of the pope.

He had been asked to design and make a chalice for Pope Clement. But he was so slow in doing the work that the pope became impatient and angry. He directed Cellini to deliver the chalice in its unfinished condition so that someone else might finish it.

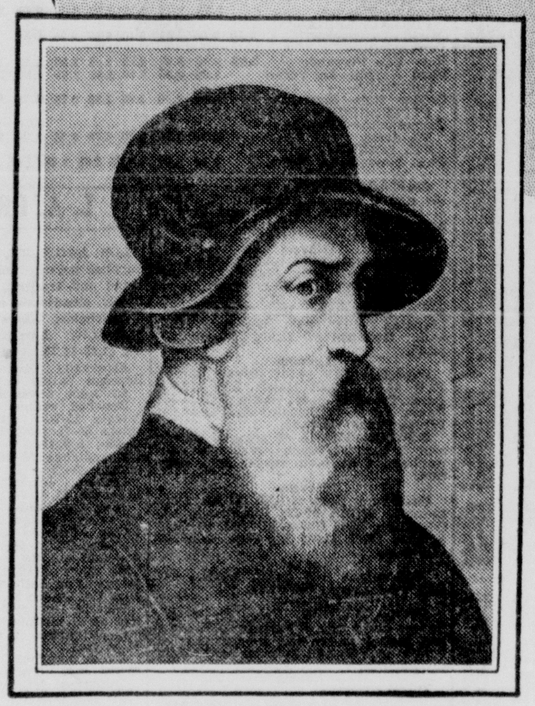

Cellini refused to comply with the demand, as he objected to seeing the work completed by another artist. He was therefore arrested and deposed from his position in the mint. Upon surrendering the chalice, he was released.

Here was a rare case of discretion on the part of a highly temperamental artist, a daring adventurer and a ready fighter.

How Cellini Escaped from the Castle of Sant' Angelo

Benvenuto Cellini, famous artist and adventurer of the sixteenth century, whose autobiography is said to be one of the best ever written.

Attaching his improvised rope to the projection of a battlement, Cellini began his dangerous descent.

By Alfred Sorenson

THE most thrilling episode in the career of Benvenuto Cellini, famous sculptor and adventurer, was his escape from the prison of Sant' Angelo castle in Rome, where he had been confined by order of the pope, Paul III. It was a bold exploit in which he overcame seemingly insurmountable obstacles and proved himself a man of resource and nerve.

Benvenuto Cellini was born in 1500 in Florence, where he learned sculpture, engraving and goldsmithing. After a quarrel with his father he left home and wandered to Rome, where his artistic skill quickly won the admiration and patronage of the nobility and the wealthy.

In the war between Charles V and Francis I, when Rome was pillaged, Cellini had charge of the artillery in the castle of Sant' Angelo. Later, he became stampmaster in the mint for Pope Clement, designing and stamping the pope's coins and jewels.

When Clement died, his successor, Paul III, sent for Cellini to strike his coins. Paul was informed Cellini was in hiding for the murder of Pompeo, a Milanese jeweler. The pope replied Cellini had great provocation for the act and pardoned him.

Soon after Cellini was arrested on the false charge of having stolen some of the Pope's church jewels. Cellini denied the accusation and referred the authorities to the records in which track of the church jewels was kept.

"AND yet you have murdered two men," said the governor of Sant' Angelo. Such was the fact. Besides murdering Pompeo, he had killed a soldier who had slain Cellini's brother, Cecchio.

Examination of the records showed that no jewels were missing. Nevertheless Cellini was sent back to his cell in the castle of Sant' Angelo. He was 37. He had been in Rome for 20 years and had won a high reputation as an artistic designer and workman.

He had made many warm friends and admirers, but he had also made numerous enemies who now "set about to contrive his death," as he says in his autobiography. He was allowed to do odd jobs of jewelrywork with gold, silver and wax to relieve the monotony of his imprisonment. As time passed he made up his mind to escape.

Having completed his plan, Cellini cut his bedsheets into strips and wove them into a rope. With a pair of pincers, which he had stolen from a guard who did odd jobs of carpentering in the castle, he pulled out the nails of the hinges of his cell door.

With his wax—colored in imitation of iron—he filled the places of the missing nails. He left enough nails in the hinges to support the door. In the night previous to a feast day he resolved to make the break.

OPENING his cell door, after great effort, Cellini crept out on the slate of the tower, carrying his bundle of rope and with a poinard stuck in the garter of his breeches. Scaling the wall, he securely fastened his rope and descended hand over hand.

On reaching the ground he found a high wall before him. Discovering a long pole beneath a pile of straw, he tied a piece of his rope to one end and placed it against the wall. He climbed up and hurried on to the last rampart.

On the way, with his poinard in hand, he met two sentinels on their rounds. One gave him a wide berth, while the other did not seem to notice him.

Attaching his improvised rope to the projection of a battlement, Cellini began his dangerous descent. Part way down his hands became so sore and tired that he lost his grip and fell to the ground. He landed on his head and lay stunned for more than an hour.

The day was just breaking when he regained consciousness. When he attempted to rise he discovered his right leg had been broken just above the ankle.

BINDING his leg with a piece of rope, he crawled to the city gate. It was locked. He withdrew a stone from beneath the door and crept into the city.

Struggling along a short distance, he was attacked by several fierce mastiffs and was severely bitten. Drawing his poinard, he wounded one of his assailants and put the pack to flight.

Cellini, well nigh exhausted, proceeded as best he could, until he met a water carrier, whom he induced to carry him a few rods. He crawled to the steps of a palace occupied by a noble woman, who was numbered among his warm friends. She was the wife of the Duke of Ottavia and daughter of the emperor.

A servant of Cardinal Conaro, who happened to be in the palace, recognized the crippled Cellini and informed his master. The cardinal gave orders to have the fugitive carried up to his own room, and when the unfortunate man was brought in he was assured he had found a safe retreat.

A surgeon was summoned, the broken leg was set and Cellini was assigned to a secret chamber.

THE city of Rome was all upset by the escape of Cellini when the facts of his wonderful exploit became fully known. It was the principal subject of conversation in all circles of society. Cardinal Conaro called on the pope, and related all the circumstances of the flight and made a strong appeal for leniency.

The pope was deeply impressed and expressed sorrow for Cellini, to whom he sent a message advising him "to mind his health," and assured him that amends would be made for all his troubles.

Meanwhile Cellini was visited by a large number of prominent men and women who looked upon him as a hero. The pope regarded his escape as wonderful and said to the governor of the castle: "Cellini is a brave fellow and his exploit is something marvelous; all the same, when I was a young man I also descended from the fortress at that very spot."

This was true, but in his descent he had assistance and did not meet with the obstacles that had confronted Cellini. It seems that Paul III had been imprisoned in Sant' Angelo for forging a document at the time he was an abbreviator in the Collegium di Marco Marjori.

Pope Alexander confined him for quite a time and resolved to put him to death. The date of the execution, however, was postponed until after Corpus Domini. On that very day Farnese—as Pope Paul III was then known—bribed some of the officials and was let down in a basket attached to a rope.

He got away without any difficulty whatever as there were no outer walls around the castle at that time.

ALL seemed to be moving smoothly while Cellini was recovering. Then the pope took offense over a pert reply to a request he had made for the polishing of a ring. As a result of his pertness Cellini was strapped to his chair and taken to the worst criminal prison in Rome, where he was placed in a condemned cell. Believing that his throat was to be cut, he spent much of his time in prayer, calling upon God to save him.

Cellini would probably have been executed had it not been for the earnest pleading of a few influential friends. He was immediately returned to Sant' Angelo and put in a gloomy dungeon below the level of the garden, flooded with water, and swarming with spiders and worms.

His bed was a rotten mattress; he was deprived of all conveniences; and he was treated cruelly. It is no wonder that he contemplated suicide, and, as he says in his autobiography, if he had been possessed of a knife he would very likely have ended his wretched existence. He claimed that an attempt was made to poison him by mixing diamond dust in his food.

But a favorable turn of the tide came at last in the affairs of Cellini. The king of France had asked the pope for the extradition of the famous prisoner for whom His Majesty had great admiration on account of his works of art.

CARDINAL FERRARA called on the pope and in the course of the social visit, which was enlivened by the drinking of much wine, suggested that His Holiness grant the request of the French king. The pope, who was in a very jolly mood, replied: "On the spot, this instant, you shall take him to your house."

Cellini, accordingly was set free and was conducted to the residence of the cardinal, where he was received with marked kindness and was tenderly cared for. The cardinal informed him that if he had not obtained his freedom that very evening he would never have been liberated.

It was really the mellowing influence of wine that had temporarily changed the attitude of the pope, who, after he had regained sobriety, expressed his regret for having turned Cellini loose. He would not, however, rescind his order even upon sober second thought.

BAG IS STOLEN

MANY ANAHEIM PEOPLE ATTEND L. A. MARRIAGE

ANAHEIM, Feb. 15.—Many Anaheim friends witnessed the marriage ceremony yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Wee Kirk 'O the Heather at Glendale that united Miss Phyllis Browne, lovely blond daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Browne of 1415 South Andrews Place, Los Angeles, and George Candee, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Candee of Los Angeles. The ceremony was solemnized by Dean Arnold G. Bode, formerly of St. Michael's Episcopal church, but now of Sierra Madra.

With the late afternoon sun casting a radiance upon the palm-banked altar and to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march the bride entered the church upon the arm of her father. Wearing a regal gown of rose fashioned in sweeping lines that ended in a train and a halo hat in matching color the bride carried a bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Ruth Browne, as maid of honor who wore a formal afternoon frock of tourquoise blue satin, a picture hat o deep blue that was again emphasized in the velvet gloves and slippers. Her bouquet was of American Beauty roses and violets.

Betty Browne, younger sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, becomingly frocked in peach taffeta made along Colonial lines with a bonnet of the same color.

The best man was Ray Candee, brother of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony the bridal party received the 100 guests in the courtyard of the church. Later a small reception for relatives and intimate friends was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. Browne was smartly gowned in beige chiffon and turban and wore a corsage of claudius pernet roses as did Mrs. Candee, mother of the bridegroom, who wore blue velvet with black accessories.

After a two weeks' honeymoon, the destination of which has remained a secret, the couple will return to Los Angeles where they will establish their future home and where Mr. Candee is engaged in business.

The bride formerly attended the Anaheim Union High school where she made many friends. Later she attended Polytechnic high school in Los Angeles and the Los Angeles Junior college. Mr. Candee attended the same schools.

MRS. NEWKIRK AND DAUGHTER HOSTS

ANAHEIM, Feb. 15.—Mrs. H. D. Newkirk and her charming daughter, Sally, who is at home this week on a mid year vacation for the University of California at Los Angele were hostesses to more than 50 of their friends at a 5 o'clock tea held at their home, 1018 West Center street yesterday afternoon.

Decorations of the long room, where the hostesses were aided in receiving by Miss Mary Easton and Miss Jane Deming, centered in the tea table that emphasized valentine's day with small candy hearts, cakes and other sweets. The table was centered with a bowl of deep pink almond blossoms, the same effect being repeated in other bouquets in the drawing room.

Mrs. Newkirk was becomingly frocked in a wine red afternoon dress with which she wore claudius pernet roses while Miss Newkirk wore a formal afternoon gown of purple satin and a yellow corsage.

BIBLE CLASS OPENS NINTH ANNUAL MEET

ANAHEIM, Feb. 15.—The ninth annual Men's Bible class, sponsored by the Y. M. C. A., was opened yesterday, Ash Wednesday, with 52 members in attendance. The luncheon meetings are held at the Y. M. C. A.

The Rev. S. E. Schraeder of the Salem Evangelical church delivered the talk on "Jesus' Power to Help" in which he referred to the numerous healing powers of Jesus and his great ability to give relief. He then outlined the activities of the ministerhood and said that it was God's power that gives a minister the much needed power to carry on his duties.

Walter Taylor acted as song leader with Mrs. Marian Ross at the piano. Dr. H. A. Johnston presided over the meeting.

MAGNOLIA CLUB IN POT LUCK SUPPER

ANAHEIM, Feb. 15.—Members of the Magnolia 4-H club enjoyed a pot luck supper and valentine's party last evening when they met at the home of the advisor, Mrs. G. S. Davis of Ball road. Covers were laid for 11 guests at the daintily set table that carried out the seasonal motif of hearts.

After the supper valentines were exchanged and games were played, prizes being awarded to Marjorie Fellbaum and Ruth Schrott.

The group will next meet on the afternoon of February 28 at the home of Mrs. Davis.

The musical menu to be offered by the "Trio Populaire" on KREG this evening, for the half-hour starting at 5:45, will be replete with favorite selections, program officials stated.

The program: Brahms "Hungarian Dances, Nos. 5 and 9;" "Serenade," Deppen; "Bon Vivant" (by special request) and "A Dutch Windmill," Zamecnic, by the trio. The ballet music from "Orpheus" will be played as a 'cello solo.

This will be the third broadcast by the trio from the local station. Previous broadcasts have brought forth encouraging response from listeners.

The personnel of the trio includes Grace Hansen Buell, violin; Mrs. Hilda Johnston, piano, and W. G. Axworthy, 'cello.

KREG NOTES

Because of the numerous requests received, Jerry Hall, "The Musical Merchant," will continue his program of all original compositions tonight during his broadcast from KREG at 7:15 it was announced.

He has written many songs which have had popular appeal. His broadcast last week comprised these songs exclusively as will tonight's.

Jerry Hall is featured each Thursday on the local station.

"The Twilight Serenaders," sometimes titled "The Ambassadors of Harmony from Wilmington," will sing "When It's Prayer Meetin' Time," "The Lonesome Road," "At the End of the Lane," and "Sleepy Time Sweetheart," the latter their own composition, tonight at 7:30 on KREG.

This vocal quartet makes the trek from the harbor city each Thursday as guest-artists of KREG to sing for its audience.

"The Use and Value of Controlling Accounts" will be discussed by Charles L. Webber, instructor of bookkeeping, during the Adult Education Broadcast, Santa Ana City Schools, from KREG at 5:30 this evening.

BAG IS STOLEN

MANY ANAHEIM PEOPLE ATTEND L. A. MARRIAGE

ANAHEIM, Feb. 15.—Many Anaheim friends witnessed the marriage ceremony yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Wee Kirk 'O the Heather at Glendale that united Miss Phyllis Browne, lovely blond daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Browne of 1415 South Andrews Place, Los Angeles, and George Candee, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Candee of Los Angeles. The ceremony was solemnized by Dean Arnold G. Bode, formerly of St. Michael's Episcopal church, but now of Sierra Madra.

With the late afternoon sun casting a radiance upon the palm-banked altar and to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march the bride entered the church upon the arm of her father. Wearing a regal gown of rose fashioned in sweeping lines that ended in a train and a halo hat in matching color the bride carried a bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Ruth Browne, as maid of honor who wore a formal afternoon frock of tourquoise blue satin, a picture hat o deep blue that was again emphasized in the velvet gloves and slippers. Her bouquet was of American Beauty roses and violets.

Betty Browne, younger sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, becomingly frocked in peach taffeta made along Colonial lines with a bonnet of the same color.

The best man was Ray Candee, brother of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony the bridal party received the 100 guests in the courtyard of the church. Later a small reception for relatives and intimate friends was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. Browne was smartly gowned in beige chiffon and turban and wore a corsage of claudius pernet roses as did Mrs. Candee, mother of the bridegroom, who wore blue velvet with black accessories.

After a two weeks' honeymoon, the destination of which has remained a secret, the couple will return to Los Angeles where they will establish their future home and where Mr. Candee is engaged in business.

The bride formerly attended the Anaheim Union High school where she made many friends. Later she attended Polytechnic high school in Los Angeles and the Los Angeles Junior college. Mr. Candee attended the same schools.

MRS. NEWKIRK AND DAUGHTER HOSTS

ANAHEIM, Feb. 15.—Mrs. H. D. Newkirk and her charming daughter, Sally, who is at home this week on a mid year vacation for the University of California at Los Angele were hostesses to more than 50 of their friends at a 5 o'clock tea held at their home, 1018 West Center street yesterday afternoon.

Decorations of the long room, where the hostesses were aided in receiving by Miss Mary Easton and Miss Jane Deming, centered in the tea table that emphasized valentine's day with small candy hearts, cakes and other sweets. The table was centered with a bowl of deep pink almond blossoms, the same effect being repeated in other bouquets in the drawing room.

Mrs. Newkirk was becomingly frocked in a wine red afternoon dress with which she wore claudius pernet roses while Miss Newkirk wore a formal afternoon gown of purple satin and a yellow corsage.

FARLEY GIVES REASONS FOR CANCELLATION OF AIRMAIL CONTRACTS

Postmaster-General James A. Farley comes out with a full and complete statement of the reasons why the government acted in the cancellation of the air mail contracts.

If the facts even approach what he states them to be, there was abundant justification for what the government did, in fact, if the postmaster-general and the president had not acted as they did, they would have been recreant to their trust.

The method by which the companies eliminated competition, and then by agreement and connivance, divided up the territory, in order to get additional money from the government, is told in considerable detail in this letter by Mr. Farley. These actions were the result of many meetings by representatives of these various companies.

Some of these meetings were actually held in the post-office department and were attended by Postmaster-General Brown and Second Assistant W. Irving Glover. The chairman of these meetings was William P. MacCracken, jr., of the Transcontinental Air Transport, now a part of the North American Aviation corporation. He listed in his minutes those who were present.

If Colonel Lindbergh is independently free in his mind, the reading of this letter by Mr. Farley may open his eyes very seriously to the heinousness of the work that has been done by the aviation people.

There has been more than $78,000,000 paid to airmail carriers since these contracts were entered into in 1930 by the government. And this is the significant statement—the airmail carriers collectively have been given contracts upon the basis of more than twice as much space as was actually needed or used. This was done, in many instances, through a change of the terms actually advertised. If they had been paying for the service actually rendered, there would have been only 40 per cent of this amount, so that the government has overpaid these people $46,800,000. These companies will have to resist suits by the government initiated for the return of this money.

CHILDS SUGGESTS CCC AND CWA BE CONTROLLED BY ARMY

Mr. Richard W. Childs, former ambassador to Italy, urges the government to turn the unemployed in the Civil Conservation Corps and the Civil Works Administration over to the army. He suggests, for "control," for the army to act as educators and trainers of organized citizenship. He says that the unemployed, conscious of their political force as voters, are becoming a great mobilized force of misfortune, and that the government has practically organized human beings into regiments of discontent.

"Turn them over to the army," he says. "And turn them from civil leadership over to army leaders. Thereby," he says, "you turn them from the leadership of politicians to patriots." How contented the unemployed would be to have them turned over to the tender mercies of the army! The army knows exactly how to get men and to keep them contented, and what a wonderful education these men would have!

Mr. Childs says they need a "leadership of discipline and of patriotism." Some way or other, we cannot help believing that our public schools are about as good an educational medium as is our army. And it does seem to us that through the adult system of education and the extension work of our colleges and universities, the educational work is being looked after pretty well for advanced people.

We believe that the last place that we would want to send any one we thought anything of, for educational purposes, would be the army. The army is supported by the citizens. The men in the army are paid out of the taxpayers' money, just as the unemployed are. They are paid higher amounts, from top to bottom, but we do not believe they are any more patriotic than the unemployed themselves are, or the citizens who have charge of the unemployed.

The greatest way to insure strength to our institutions is to deal justly with all men. Childs' suggestion would not be worth calling attention to, were it not featured in the paper of a chain that has been spending much time, in recent months, in stirring up a program looking toward war.

WHAT THE PROTESTANT MINISTERS OF CHICAGO BELIEVE

The School of Education of Northwestern University has been sending out a questionnaire to the ministers of Chicago seeking to learn how they feel about children's religious beliefs. Questions as to whether they believed that God keeps a record of individual sins, whether he spent millions of years making the world, whether God sends storms, earthquakes, and other natural calamities, and many other questions of similar import were sent to all the ministers around the Chicago district.

The answers are revealing. They reveal that similar views cut across all denominational lines, and that there is still much crass reasoning on religious questions. On the question whether God keeps a record of every one's misdeeds in a big book, 10 per cent of those answering answered "yes" and 7 per cent were not certain. Whether God spent millions of years making the world, 15 per cent answered "no" and 11 per cent were uncertain. Ninety-eight per cent agreed that children should be taught that God still runs the world and speaks through good men and women today. To the question, "Are we all sons of God as well as Jesus?" the answers were about even, 42 per cent, yes, 44 per cent, no; the rest uncertain. Forty-nine per cent agreed that there was a heaven for the saved, 20 per cent would teach that there is a hell of fire and brimstone, 69 per cent did not believe in a hell at all. Twenty-seven per cent believed that the Bible was written directly by God; 71 per cent disagreed with them. Forty-six per cent still hold to the existence of a personal devil, while 60 per cent believed in angels.

These answers indicate that the old beliefs are by no means dead. But they just as strongly indicate that there have been radical changes in these beliefs the last 30 or 40 years. The one thought that strikes us in noting these answers is that there is so much confusion among religious leaders as to what should be taught to children, and how little these questions have to do with the religion that the author of Christianity taught. While there is no question that Jesus held to the general theological beliefs of his day, his emphasis was almost entirely upon the life men should live on earth. The fact is, his break with the religious leaders of his day was over the different religious emphases. They held to certain theological beliefs. Jesus held to the great ethical ideals and to the high doctrines of God's fatherhood and man's brotherhood.

Perhaps there would be much less confusion in the religious world if all held to the things which the author of the Christian faith made most important in the religious life.

A CLOSE-UP OF THE PRESIDENT

Drew Pearson, whose journalistic pursuits have given him much of the inside of things in the political world, has written an article in the February Harpers' on "The Men Around the President." It is a series of thumb-nail sketches of the men who are constantly in the news, but of whom few of us are given a close-up.

The article will very much repay the reader who is looking for some light on the men who are helping to make history these days. Through it all the reader is able to get a good idea of the workings of the president's mind and the objective he has before him. He seeks advice wherever he can get it, and then he makes up his own mind. In the last throw, the policies pursued by this administration are the policies of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Referring specifically to this last statement, Drew Pearson states that a man of less agility and greater impulsiveness facing such complexities would find himself in bedlam. "But not Franklin Roosevelt," he says. "Behind his smile, his quick wit, his winning friendliness are two factors never to be overlooked in his evaluation. First, Roosevelt is a Dutch gentleman, reared in the manner, the environment, and the tradition of landed aristocracy. Second, one of the most terrible diseases has subjected his character to a crucible of suffering through which few people have ever passed. To the first he owes social poise that knows no superiority, to the second a subconscious objectiveness that views men and events with an unhurried and tolerant detachment."

We know not what the future has in store for our president, but up to date he appears to be the man of the hour, followed by the masses as no president, not excepting the older Roosevelt, has been followed. This, we are certain, is his confidence and his strength in these days.

Tin Can Joins the Elite

Christian Science Monitor

The door of opportunity, that elusive entrance to fame and fortune, has not escaped the keen eye of the tin can. Once a rather nondescript habitant of the back pantry, with a traveling radius that seldom reached beyond the junk heap in the rear of the house, the tin can now bids fair to establish an aristocracy comparable to that of the dining-room silver.

The tin can has a number of schemes through which it proposes to become something more than the mere container for an ever-increasing number of food products. As a first step, dissatisfied with old plated material which illegitimately bore the name of tin, it has donned an aluminum suit. But this is only one move in its advance from the kitchen into the dining room and possibly to the front parlor. It proposes to make itself so useful that it has contracted to appear in various attractive forms in order that tasty jellies may rest in its embrace and draw exclamations of delight when separation displays the beauties of its contour upon the concoction within. As a molder of dining-table delicacies it is bound to attain a level at least as high as the tablecloth and vie with pewter for social supremacy.

Meanwhile the tin can is displaying an insight into things which only the introduction of glass into its architectural design could bring about. It has adopted a practice of doffing its top-piece without the intermediation of one of those ancient "roughnecks"—the can opener. In fact, its new versatility may forecast that antique hunters of the future will regard a good example of Twentieth Century Tin Can as an expensive and desirable ornament for the "Period Parlor."

Gold In Them Thar Sierras

San Francisco Chronicle

State Mineralogist Walter M. Bradley says that for the time being the gold miner is riding on the crest of the wave, due to the temporary relative advantage over material and labor costs in the prices of the yellow metal. He expects this favorable ratio to continue for at least six months and it may last a year or two.

The revival of gold mining has been a strong factor toward the return of prosperity, both directly and indirectly through the stimulation of other industries.

And in the opinion of the State Mineralogist gold production in this tate is due to increase markedly. While the United States has been outstripped by Canada, California holds its premier place as the gold producing state. Many vein locations have been made at shallow depths, and Bradley points out several instances of rich veins being encountered by going deeper. It is his belief that the California hills will yield in the years to come as much gold as has been mined to date, estimated at $2,000,000,000. There is still gold in them thar hills.

Introducing a New Kind of Wall Street Pool

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE OLD ROAD

I do not need an almanac
To tell the season of the year.
Before the earliest birds come back,
Before the new green leaves appear
While still a patch of shining snow
May loiter in the quiet glen,
My thoughts turn back to long ago;
I know it's marble time again.

Before the blossoms star the boughs
And forth across the lawn I look
Where bees have just begun to browse
Among the blossoms by the brook,
When through the elm trees overhead
The wind arises to a roar,
Though still I linger in my bed
I know that kite time's here once more.

When ice has melted from the stream
And, where it widens to a pond,
Great flecks of foam, like clotted cream
Sail swirling toward the falls beyond,
Again my lazy pulses glow,
My eyes across the fields I cast
With ancient longing for I know
That swimming time is here at last.

But though the seasons still come back,
As in the long years that have sped
I do not follow forth the track
Where once my rambling footsteps led.
But I can hear the robins trill,
And flickers called across the streams.
Time's flight is swift, and yet I still
Can live life over in my dreams.

Little Benny's Note Book by Lee Pape

Last nite I woke up on account of heering voices, and it was pop and ma coming home from the movies, ma saying, I declare Willyum that was the creepiest picture I ever saw, it gave me the cold shudders and I'm not over them yet, how I'm going to sleep a wink tonite is a mystery to me.

The phenomenom of sleep is a grate mystery anyway, the greatest fizzicians have been baffled by it, pop said, and ma said, O deer I know I'll have gassly visions of merders and robbers and all kinds of dreadful things, did you bolt the front door, Willyum? Did you lock the downstairs windows?

Absilutely, pop said, and ma said, I hope you're sure, do you positively remember pushing the bolt of the door and snapping the window latches?

THE SOCIALIZATION OF BANKING

A relentless socialization of banking seems destined to go steadily forward. There will be little resemblance between the banking of ten years from now and the banking of ten years ago. We are in the midst of a banking revolution. It is, however, a revolution that is induced by events rather than one inspired by theories of financial reformers.

Here are some of the events and evolutions that have made and are making inroads on laissez faire individualism in banking:

(1) The adsence of a dominant, aggressive, self-confident and confidence-inspiring leadership in the ranks of the bankers themselves. The banking fraternity has suffered shell shock. At no point in our economic order is there more urgent need for the emergence of a statesmanlike, socially minded and socially responsible leadership than in the banking field.

(2) As a result of the paralyzing timidity—much of it justified by normal banking considerations—that has fallen upon the mine run of bankers, the privately owned banks have steadily withdrawn from fields in which credit facilities are socially imperative. Government has had no choice but to step into these deserted fields and to play banker to such needs as those of agricultural and urban land credit, to say nothing of such industrial areas as railroading.

(3) The extensive financing of its elaborate emergency expenditures by the government has already led the privately owned banks into putting more and more of their resources into government securities. This policy will grow instead of diminish. It is good business politics for the banks to do this, or so it must seem to the rank and file of bankers. Most bankers are attracted by the greater security of such investment against the uncertainty of commercial loans. With an increasing draft by the government for investment of banking resources in government securities, the banks will, however, further restrict their activities in the commercial credit field. Demand will grow in that field and if the banks are not on the job to meet the demand, there will be an increasing pressure for governmentally provided credit accommodations.

(4) It has always been felt that the foundation of a solid and dependable banking system spread throughout the country to serve local as well as national needs was plenty of short-term self-liquidating commercial paper. But even before the banking collapse of last year—in fact before the economic chill of 1929—such paper was markedly on the decline. Our business evolution was moving rapidly in the direction of vast mergers and gigantic corporations which pulled their financing out of the country generally to the Atlantic seaboard where vast resources that formerly stayed in local banks in the form of commercial paper and liquid business went into the treasuries of these great aggregations. The banking business was thus drying up as a result of the way our business was organizing itself.

The point I am trying to make is that the socialization of banking is on its way, not because either President Roosevelt or Jesse Jones is a financial bolshevik, but as a by-product of the sort of developments I have listed. And this is why bankers must be more than money lenders. They must rise to the stature of business statesmen if they are to direct the destiny of the banking system. Otherwise they will be chips on the waves of surgings they do not influence.

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

HOW CAN I MAKE HIM?

The question, "How can I make my child do this?" is asked more often than almost any other. When children fail to do what parents and teachers want them to do the first question asked is this one. It would be better to ask another one first? What have we done to make him do what he is doing? Or, why is he doing what he is doing?

It is always better to see what a child is actually doing than to center on what he is not doing. Say he is not attending to his work in school. Instead of centering thought on his failure center it on what he is doing instead of working. It is useless to say that a child is not paying attention, is not concentrating. If he is normal minded enough to attend school you can make up your mind that he is attending, that he is concentrating on something. It is not his lack of power to attend and to concentrate so much as it is his lack of something else. What that is we must find out. When we discover what a child is doing we can direct him, or help him, perhaps, to do better.

Why doesn't an adolescent boy or girl study harder? Usually because their growth consumes so much of their energy that they have little left to use for study. Usually, too, because their chief interest lies in another direction. They are entering on the first phases of their sex life. This means endless disturbances. Their emotions, their longings, their whole mental life is colored by this disturbance. They don't understand what it is all about and we cannot tell them. Words are very ineffective. But we can help a little.

We can give the children as much information as they can use to help in adjusting themselves. We can call in the expert physician to administer to them not only in terms of medical help but in terms of friendliness, understanding and counsel. Adolescence is a crisis in the life and the medical expert is needed oftener than he is called.

Children's behavior makes their elders panicky. A child tells lies, steals, plays truant, robs a vacant building, runs away from home, does any of the thousand and one things that threaten the peace of home and community and immediately somebody asks, What can we do to make him behave himself?

First study what he is doing. Then look for the reason he does it. He won't know. He cannot tell you. You have to search his mind, his body, and his immediate environment for the root of the trouble. Next you redirect his thinking by changing the scene a little. In making a fresh start this is always the first step. Change the conditions that the old habit knew. New habits require new conditions.

Drop the idea that you can force a child to anything. You cannot. If you force him it is yourself that is acting and the moment you leave off he will act for himself again. It is his thinking, his self, that must be redirected. Medical attention, school advice, home help are all needed to bring a new purpose into being. A child won't change any until he wants to with the same powerful wanting that led him to do the other thing. Wants are born of the spirit. Search for them there.

FARLEY GIVES REASONS FOR CANCELLATION OF AIRMAIL CONTRACTS

Postmaster-General James A. Farley comes out with a full and complete statement of the reasons why the government acted in the cancellation of the air mail contracts.

If the facts even approach what he states them to be, there was abundant justification for what the government did, in fact, if the postmaster-general and the president had not acted as they did, they would have been recreant to their trust.

The method by which the companies eliminated competition, and then by agreement and connivance, divided up the territory, in order to get additional money from the government, is told in considerable detail in this letter by Mr. Farley. These actions were the result of many meetings by representatives of these various companies.

Some of these meetings were actually held in the post-office department and were attended by Postmaster-General Brown and Second Assistant W. Irving Glover. The chairman of these meetings was William P. MacCracken, jr., of the Transcontinental Air Transport, now a part of the North American Aviation corporation. He listed in his minutes those who were present.

If Colonel Lindbergh is independently free in his mind, the reading of this letter by Mr. Farley may open his eyes very seriously to the heinousness of the work that has been done by the aviation people.

There has been more than $78,000,000 paid to airmail carriers since these contracts were entered into in 1930 by the government. And this is the significant statement—the airmail carriers collectively have been given contracts upon the basis of more than twice as much space as was actually needed or used. This was done, in many instances, through a change of the terms actually advertised. If they had been paying for the service actually rendered, there would have been only 40 per cent of this amount, so that the government has overpaid these people $46,800,000. These companies will have to resist suits by the government initiated for the return of this money.

CHILDS SUGGESTS CCC AND CWA BE CONTROLLED BY ARMY

Mr. Richard W. Childs, former ambassador to Italy, urges the government to turn the unemployed in the Civil Conservation Corps and the Civil Works Administration over to the army. He suggests, for "control," for the army to act as educators and trainers of organized citizenship. He says that the unemployed, conscious of their political force as voters, are becoming a great mobilized force of misfortune, and that the government has practically organized human beings into regiments of discontent.

"Turn them over to the army," he says. "And turn them from civil leadership over to army leaders. Thereby," he says, "you turn them from the leadership of politicians to patriots." How contented the unemployed would be to have them turned over to the tender mercies of the army! The army knows exactly how to get men and to keep them contented, and what a wonderful education these men would have!

Mr. Childs says they need a "leadership of discipline and of patriotism." Some way or other, we cannot help believing that our public schools are about as good an educational medium as is our army. And it does seem to us that through the adult system of education and the extension work of our colleges and universities, the educational work is being looked after pretty well for advanced people.

We believe that the last place that we would want to send any one we thought anything of, for educational purposes, would be the army. The army is supported by the citizens. The men in the army are paid out of the taxpayers' money, just as the unemployed are. They are paid higher amounts, from top to bottom, but we do not believe they are any more patriotic than the unemployed themselves are, or the citizens who have charge of the unemployed.

The greatest way to insure strength to our institutions is to deal justly with all men. Childs' suggestion would not be worth calling attention to, were it not featured in the paper of a chain that has been spending much time, in recent months, in stirring up a program looking toward war.

WHAT THE PROTESTANT MINISTERS OF CHICAGO BELIEVE

The School of Education of Northwestern University has been sending out a questionnaire to the ministers of Chicago seeking to learn how they feel about children's religious beliefs. Questions as to whether they believed that God keeps a record of individual sins, whether he spent millions of years making the world, whether God sends storms, earthquakes, and other natural calamities, and many other questions of similar import were sent to all the ministers around the Chicago district.

The answers are revealing. They reveal that similar views cut across all denominational lines, and that there is still much crass reasoning on religious questions. On the question whether God keeps a record of every one's misdeeds in a big book, 10 per cent of those answering answered "yes" and 7 per cent were not certain. Whether God spent millions of years making the world, 15 per cent answered "no" and 11 per cent were uncertain. Ninety-eight per cent agreed that children should be taught that God still runs the world and speaks through good men and women today. To the question, "Are we all sons of God as well as Jesus?" the answers were about even, 42 per cent, yes, 44 per cent, no; the rest uncertain. Forty-nine per cent agreed that there was a heaven for the saved, 20 per cent would teach that there is a hell of fire and brimstone, 69 per cent did not believe in a hell at all. Twenty-seven per cent believed that the Bible was written directly by God; 71 per cent disagreed with them. Forty-six per cent still hold to the existence of a personal devil, while 60 per cent believed in angels.

These answers indicate that the old beliefs are by no means dead. But they just as strongly indicate that there have been radical changes in these beliefs the last 30 or 40 years. The one thought that strikes us in noting these answers is that there is so much confusion among religious leaders as to what should be taught to children, and how little these questions have to do with the religion that the author of Christianity taught. While there is no question that Jesus held to the general theological beliefs of his day, his emphasis was almost entirely upon the life men should live on earth. The fact is, his break with the religious leaders of his day was over the different religious emphases. They held to certain theological beliefs. Jesus held to the great ethical ideals and to the high doctrines of God's fatherhood and man's brotherhood.

Perhaps there would be much less confusion in the religious world if all held to the things which the author of the Christian faith made most important in the religious life.

A CLOSE-UP OF THE PRESIDENT

Drew Pearson, whose journalistic pursuits have given him much of the inside of things in the political world, has written an article in the February Harpers' on "The Men Around the President." It is a series of thumb-nail sketches of the men who are constantly in the news, but of whom few of us are given a close-up.

The article will very much repay the reader who is looking for some light on the men who are helping to make history these days. Through it all the reader is able to get a good idea of the workings of the president's mind and the objective he has before him. He seeks advice wherever he can get it, and then he makes up his own mind. In the last throw, the policies pursued by this administration are the policies of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Referring specifically to this last statement, Drew Pearson states that a man of less agility and greater impulsiveness facing such complexities would find himself in bedlam. "But not Franklin Roosevelt," he says. "Behind his smile, his quick wit, his winning friendliness are two factors never to be overlooked in his evaluation. First, Roosevelt is a Dutch gentleman, reared in the manner, the environment, and the tradition of landed aristocracy. Second, one of the most terrible diseases has subjected his character to a crucible of suffering through which few people have ever passed. To the first he owes social poise that knows no superiority, to the second a subconscious objectiveness that views men and events with an unhurried and tolerant detachment."

We know not what the future has in store for our president, but up to date he appears to be the man of the hour, followed by the masses as no president, not excepting the older Roosevelt, has been followed. This, we are certain, is his confidence and his strength in these days.

Tin Can Joins the Elite

Christian Science Monitor

The door of opportunity, that elusive entrance to fame and fortune, has not escaped the keen eye of the tin can. Once a rather nondescript habitant of the back pantry, with a traveling radius that seldom reached beyond the junk heap in the rear of the house, the tin can now bids fair to establish an aristocracy comparable to that of the dining-room silver.

The tin can has a number of schemes through which it proposes to become something more than the mere container for an ever-increasing number of food products. As a first step, dissatisfied with old plated material which illegitimately bore the name of tin, it has donned an aluminum suit. But this is only one move in its advance from the kitchen into the dining room and possibly to the front parlor. It proposes to make itself so useful that it has contracted to appear in various attractive forms in order that tasty jellies may rest in its embrace and draw exclamations of delight when separation displays the beauties of its contour upon the concoction within. As a molder of dining-table delicacies it is bound to attain a level at least as high as the tablecloth and vie with pewter for social supremacy.

Meanwhile the tin can is displaying an insight into things which only the introduction of glass into its architectural design could bring about. It has adopted a practice of doffing its top-piece without the intermediation of one of those ancient "roughnecks"—the can opener. In fact, its new versatility may forecast that antique hunters of the future will regard a good example of Twentieth Century Tin Can as an expensive and desirable ornament for the "Period Parlor."

Gold In Them Thar Sierras

San Francisco Chronicle

State Mineralogist Walter M. Bradley says that for the time being the gold miner is riding on the crest of the wave, due to the temporary relative advantage over material and labor costs in the prices of the yellow metal. He expects this favorable ratio to continue for at least six months and it may last a year or two.

The revival of gold mining has been a strong factor toward the return of prosperity, both directly and indirectly through the stimulation of other industries.

And in the opinion of the State Mineralogist gold production in this tate is due to increase markedly. While the United States has been outstripped by Canada, California holds its premier place as the gold producing state. Many vein locations have been made at shallow depths, and Bradley points out several instances of rich veins being encountered by going deeper. It is his belief that the California hills will yield in the years to come as much gold as has been mined to date, estimated at $2,000,000,000. There is still gold in them thar hills.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE OLD ROAD

I do not need an almanac
To tell the season of the year.
Before the earliest birds come back,
Before the new green leaves appear
While still a patch of shining snow
May loiter in the quiet glen,
My thoughts turn back to long ago;
I know it's marble time again.

Before the blossoms star the boughs
And forth across the lawn I look
Where bees have just begun to browse
Among the blossoms by the brook,
When through the elm trees overhead
The wind arises to a roar,
Though still I linger in my bed
I know that kite time's here once more.

When ice has melted from the stream
And, where it widens to a pond,
Great flecks of foam, like clotted cream
Sail swirling toward the falls beyond,
Again my lazy pulses glow,
My eyes across the fields I cast
With ancient longing for I know
That swimming time is here at last.

But though the seasons still come back,
As in the long years that have sped
I do not follow forth the track
Where once my rambling footsteps led.
But I can hear the robins trill,
And flickers called across the streams.
Time's flight is swift, and yet I still
Can live life over in my dreams.
